STRANDAL

(I see Hill)

In Hungary, The Socialists Return, but Which Ones?

By David B. Ottaway

Washington Past Service
BUDAPEST — The three slightly sheepish
Socialist Party officials sat at a table in the local office here sipping coffee and discussing with a reporter the strange turn of events in their land — the return of socialists to power in the midst of a national drive to create a free-enterprise

"It's a great problem," said Gyula Horvath, a self-employed handyman. "Workers are not members of the party any longer. It seems it is the task of the Socialist Party that we have to create capitalists now."

A colleague, Josef Kalapacs, the party's local campaign chief, is one prime example. A former highly skilled worker in the now defunct Csepel steel and iron works complex here, Mr. Kala-pacs is now a shareholder in a struggling pipemaking enterprise spun off from the old parent state company.

"We have reached the stage where people are forced to become entrepreneurs," he said. "There are now more entrepreneurs employing one or two people in the party than workers." Since the fall of the old Communist regime in 1990, the sprawling Csepel complex, once Budapest's biggest industrial state enterprise, with 36,000 workers, has been cannibalized by foreign investors and local entrepreneurs who have created 97 small enterprises providing jobs to only 6,000 people. Tamas Huszar, another former Csepel employee, is another new Hungarian entrepreneur. He has set up his own construction company building school sports halls around Budapest. He has also switched allegiance from the old-style Communist Workers Party to the reformed Socialists.

His greatest hope and expectation of the party is that it will improve the difficult lot of small entrepreneurs by making it easier to obtain bank loans and reducing the 53 percent health insurance tax he must pay for each

"I want a stable economy, more credits for entrepreneurs, lower interest rates on loans, and tax relief," he said, explaining all the finan-cial problems facing his company that employs 15 full-time people.

It is difficult to imagine what Karl Marx, the 19th-century ideological grandmaster of socialism, would say if he were alive today listening to these three "socialists" talking about their complaints and their capitalist aspirations. All three readily agreed, for example, that the state "should get out of the economy," although they had different views as to just how fast this should happen and what residual role it should

Their views reflect one of the many strange paradoxes of modern-day Eastern Europe, namely that an important and growing constitneacy of the former Communist parties is a budding entreprenential class whose interests are far from those of the once beloved proletan-

The Hungarian Socialist Party, which is about to form Hungary's next government, consists of a veritable hodgepodge of conflicting interest groups. There are unreformed old Communist apparatchiks, labor union leaders, reformed social democrats, struggling small entrepreneurs and the new class of big capitalist red barons" born of the old party elite.

But leading the flood of roughly 1.5 million new voters for the Socialist Party on Sunday, according to Robert Manchin of the Hungarian Gallup polling company, are Hungarians from

See HUNGARY, Page 8

Kiosk

JERUSALEM (NYT) - An Israeli

may have been shot accidentally by anoth-

The army also began releasing several hundred Palestinian prisoners as part of the agreement between Israel and the Palestine Liberation Organization on self-rule in Gaza and the West Bank town of Jenof control for the Palestinian police force, which has taken over responsibility for security in much of the the Gaza Strip since an Israeli pullback there two weeks

Related article, Page 5

Ezra Taft Benson Dies SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Ezra Taft

Benson, 94, a former U.S. agriculture sec-retary who became identified with the John Birch Society and other rightist political groups, died Monday. He had also been president of the Mormon Church.

Newsstand Prices

Comeroon 1.400 CFA Qatar 8.00 Ridis Egypt E.P. 5000 Réunion 11.20 FF France 9.00 FF Saudi Arabia 9.00 R. Gabon 960 CFA Senegal 960 CFA Greece 300 Dr. Spain 200 PTAS Italy 2,600 Lire Tunisja 1.000 Din Ivory Coast 1.120 CFA Turkey T.L. 35,000 Jordan JD U.A.E. 8.50 Dirh Lebanon US$ 1.50 U.S. Mil. (Eur.) $1.10

Book Review

Crossword

Chess

Page 7.

Page 7.

Page 16.

The shooting incident was the latest test

Israeli Reservist

Killed in Clash

er soldier, the army said Monday.

C. 50 (1)

A hungry family of Tutsi refugees waiting for food to be distributed at Kabgayi camp, as thousands of displaced people continued to swarm in the area near the border with Burundi.

How Serbs Have Managed to Beat the Embargo

By Roger Cohen New York Times Service

BELGRADE - With hyperinflation overcome, new boutiques overflowing with Italian shoes and American jeans, food abundant and industry showing a modest recovery, Serbia today suggests that a long trade embargo stimulates ever more sophisticated ruses to circumvent it.

At a time when the United Nations has tightened sanctions on Haiti in an attempt to dislodge its military rulers, President Slobodan Milosevic of Serbia appears stronger than ever two years after the imposition of draconian trade sanctions.

Mr. Milosevic, who is widely seen as the orchestrator of the militant Serbian nationalism that has unfurled across Bosnia, was never explicitly targeted by the sanctions imposed on May 30, 1992. But U.S. officials have made little secret of the fact that they would not have rued his fall.

The embargo has cost the rump Yugoslav state of Serbia and Montenegro tens of billions of dollars. Since it was imposed, economic output has dropped by half and the suicide rate has increased by 22 percent. Moreover, it induced a monthly inflation rate of over 300 million percent by last December, plunging the nation into economic chaos. But it now seems more an irritant than a threat.

The 74-year-old economist responsible for this shift and the soaring popularity of Mr. Milosevic may be found every evening at 6:15 in the aperitif bar of the central Hotel Moskva. The economist, Dragoslav Avramovic, who worked 24 years at the World Bank in Washington, is now such a hero that the currency he introduced in January is widely known as the

In fact, the currency is the new dinar and its exchange rate of par with the German mark has held steady since its appearance on Jan. 24, resulting in great affection for it amone people whose former salaries of millions, even billions, of old dinars had become virtually worthless.

Since January, inflation has been close to zero. Goods have reappeared in stores. State television now dwells on businesses rather than war, and the mood, while scarcely euphoric, has inched away from the dazed but defiant despair of December. "We have turned the corner," Mr. Avramovic, now the governor of the National Bank of Yugoslavia, said with a gleam in his eye. "The currency is steady, we have achieved agricultural independence, and industrial production is up 40 percent since the end of last year. We hope sanctions will be lifted, because all they do is create enemies. But our program is sustainable whatever happens." on appears questionable. With no access to foreign loans or finance, and business in foreign markets confined to illicit if expanding transactions, there may be a limit to how long Mr. Avramovic can prevent the government from paying its bills by printing money and so igniting inflation.

"Hard-currency reserves are not sufficient, production cannot achieve sustained expansion under an embargo, and so the budget deficit must grow by the end of the year, leading to

See BELGRADE, Page 4

Forget the Idea of Women Priests, Pope Tells Catholics

By Alan Cowell New York Times Service

ROME -- Pope John Paul II told the world's Roman Catholics on Monday to abandon any thought of the ordination of women as priests, saying that the issue was not open to debate and that his views must be "definitively held by all the church's faithful."

Although the Pope's words fell just short of a formal statement of infallible doctrine, his particularly severe and authoritative tones in a letter to bishops suggested that he was seeking

Coming only three days after the Vatican unveiled the English translation of its new universal catechism with gender-inclusive language excised, moreover, the statement seemed certain to reinforce the impression of a profoundly conservative papacy wary of any femi-

"Although the teaching that priestly ordination is to be reserved to men alone has been preserved by the constant and universal tradi-to remove the idea of women priests from the Catholic agenda for decades to come.

Coming only three days after the Vatican unveiled the English translation of its new uni
tion of the church and firmly taught by the magisterium in its more recent documents," the letter said, "at the present time in some places it is nonetheless considered still open to debate.

tion of the church and firmly taught by the magisterium in its more recent documents," the letter said, "at the present time in some places it is nonetheless considered still open to debate. is nonetheless considered still open to debate. or the church's judgment that women are not to be admitted to ordination is considered to have a merely disciplinary force." "Wherefore, in order that all doubt may be removed regarding a matter of great importance, a matter which pertains to the church's divine constitution itself," it said, "in virtue of my ministry of confirming the brethren I de-

The apostolic letter was entitled "On Reserving Priestly Ordination to Men Alone."

The Vatican says the priesthood should be reserved for men on the scriptural grounds that Jesus chose only men as his apostles.

"The church has always acknowledged as a perennial norm her Lord's way of acting in

See POPE, Page 8

NORMANDY REHEARSAL - U.S. soldiers practicing the flag-folding ceremony in advance of D-Day celebrations. England, meanwhile, is on a nostalgia kick. Page 2.

France Wants Core of Members To Pursue Selected EU Goals

By Tom Buerkle ional Herald Tribune

BRUSSELS - France reopened a debate over the future of the European Union on Monday by calling for a "new founding con-tract" that would allow a hard core among the 12 member countries to pursue a single currency and common defense and immigration policies without hindrance from skeptical nations like Britain.

The initiative by Alain Lamassoure, France's minister for European affairs, came as French leaders sat down with their German counterparts in Mulhouse, France, to forge a common agenda for the year beginning July 1, when first Bonn and then Paris will hold the rotating presidency.

Mr. Lamassoure's appeal assured that efforts to maintain the Union's cohesiveness as the bloc expands to the north and east will dominate the confederation in the coming year, despite the preference of many states after the painful ratification of the Maastricht treaty late last year to avoid such divisive issues until an intergovernmental conference in 1996.

French officials fear that the planned entry of Sweden, Finland, Norway and Austria next year will reinforce the efforts of Britain and Denmark to limit the Union to little more than

Germany has worked closely with France on institutional reform in recent months but has tended to stress matters of operational efficiency, such as voting weights among the 12. Such reforms would enable the Union to continue to act effectively as it takes on new members in Eastern Europe, which is Bonn's fundamental

In contrast, Mr. Lamassoure's proposal, made in an article in Le Monde Monday, would make the future membership of Poland, Hungary and other East Europe countries condi-

See EUROPE, Page 8

Army Holds Truce Talks With Rebels In Rwanda

Agreement in Principle On Cease-Fire, but Issue Of Massacres Remains

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches KIGALI, Rwanda - Rebel and government army representatives met for the first time on Monday for talks on a United Nations truce proposal to halt violence in Rwanda in which hundreds of thousands of people have been

The two sides agreed to the principle of a cease-fire, but the rebels said they wanted to discuss issues relating to mass killings at another meeting this week, participants at the talks

The main goal of the talks is to arrive at a cease-fire to improve conditions for the Rwan-dan people and allow aid to reach them," said Brigadier General Marcel Gatsinzi, who is heading the government side.

"I have no option but to believe in the good-will of the RPF," he added, referring to the Rwanda Patriotic Front insurgents.

The rebel delegation said it wanted the government army to say at further talks on Thursday what it would do about massacres, mainly of Tutsis, widely blamed on the army and Hutu

The United Nations, meanwhile, said Monday that it was checking reports from aid agencies that 500 people had been massacred two days ago at a refugee camp south of Kigali.

I am alarmed by reports just received that massacres occurred in Kabgayi two days ago, 500 people were murdered," a UN official said. "We are trying to verify these reports."

Abdul Kabia, executive director of the UN Assistance Mission, said, "If they are true, we condemn these atrocities and call on both parties to protect refugees behind their lines."

UN officers warned earlier on Monday that they feared government troops and militiamen fleeing Kigali would massacre civilians. Aid officials estimate that 500,000 people have been killed since the violence began. More than 1.5 million are homeless.

Most of the dead were minority Tutsis and Hutu opponents of the government. They were slaughtered by the Hutu presidential some military units and civilian gangs.

Rebel negotiators are also demanding a reply to their demand for the closure of the extremis Hutu radio RTLM, which has incited the mass killings and which again on Monday urged people to take up traditional arms against the smaller Tutsi tribe.

These issues and details of a draft cease-fire proposed by the UN Assistance Mission, discussed at UN headquarters in Kigali, could then be worked out, rebels said.

As the representatives of rebel and government armies met, gunfire echoed through Kigaii, where the guerrillas have gained the upper hand. The rebels were reported Monday to have cut off the army's last avenue of retreat from the capital. Most of the fighting was concentrated around Gadhafi Corner, a key intersection on the west side of Kigali that controls the access to the highway to Gitarama, seat of the interim government

The advance by the Tutsi-dominated rebels has sent about 500,000 Hutus fleeing the city in fear. They are now out off near Gitarama, the International Committee of the Red Cross said on Monday.

"It's become extremely serious," Tony Burgener, a Red Cross spokesman, said in Geneva. It's very difficult for aid agencies to cope with this sort of situation. They have little food or water and the medical situation is very serious." Gitarama, 40 kilometers (25 miles) south of the capital, was the town to which the selfappointed interim government fled as rebels closed in on Kigali. Rebel troops are also advancing on Gitarama, and many members of the government moved on again Saturday to the western town of Kibuye, on the shores of Lake Kivu facing On Monday, rebel radio said the guerrillas had captured Nyanza camp close to Gitarama. The fall of Gitarama would bring the rebels closer to their goal of a victory and would mark a major defeat for the Hutu militants.

The talks in Kigali started at 10.30 A.M., with Colonel Frank Mugambage leading the Rwanda Patriotic Front side. The rebels say. they will talk with the military but not the government, which the RPF does not recognize.

UN sources said that after three hours, the two sides agreed to resume evacuation of civilians trapped behind front lines in the capital a day after the operation was suspended because of security problems.

"The evacuations have resumed and hundreds of civilians have already been ferried across the front lines," a UN source said. (Reuters, AP, WP)

Return of Nazi Documents to Germany: A Milestone (and Doubts)

By Rick Atkinson Washington Post Service

BERLIN - More than 100 times a minute, 50,000 times a day, a camera shutter clicks in a windowless basement in southwest Berlin, capturing on each frame a fragment of

Germany's grim past. Thirteen camera operators labor throughout the day on what some here say may be the most ambitious microfilming project ever undertaken: the duplication of 75 million pages of Nazi personnel documents stored in a former Gestapo eavesdropping post now known as the Berlin Document

The microfilmers work swiftly because on July 1 the U.S. State Department intends to relinquish custody of the original documents to the German government. The duplicates—8 million feet of film on 38,000 rolls—will be flown to Washington this summer and deposited in the National Archives. The Justice Department keeps the right to intre-stricted access to the original files. The pages passing beneath the camera lens range from the prosaic to the sinister: Heinrich Himmler's expense accounts; Nazi Party membership card No. 899,895, belonging to Adolf Eichmann; Josef Mengele's dental records and membership sheet in the Nazi Physicians Professional Association, and Hermann Göring's suicide notes, scribbled before he swallowed cyanide in 1946.

Among the old files with contemporary relevance is that of Erich Priebke, a former SS captain now awaiting extradition in Argentina on charges of helping to murder 335 Italians in Rome's Adreaune Caves in 1944.

Returning the original documents to German custody is another milestone in the restoration of German sovereignty after a half-century of Allied occupation. But the proposed transfer has met resistance. Historians, Jewish groups and Nazi hunters have bitterly objected to the State Department's plan. They complain that restrictive German privacy laws will hamper access to the original documents, that the National Archives duplicates will not be available for at least two years and that surrendering the files is morally fix it." said Elan Steinberg, executive director of the World again." Jewish Congress, in a phone interview from New York. "The Berlin Document Center ain't broke right now, and I don't know why we're trying to fix it." Representative Tom Lantos, Democrat of California, who led hearings on the document center last month, has threatened a full debate in Congress "on Germany's Nazi past" unless Bonn and the State Department resolve the contro-

Chancellor Helmut Kohl and Foreign Minister Klaus Kinkel recently promised Jewish leaders that rules governing access to the original documents would remain in line with U.S. regulations until the National Archives duplicates are ready for viewing. U.S. Embassy officials in Bonn are trying to hammer out the details.

"This is something that has been negotiated over quite a long period of time and has been reviewed from every angle that I can imagine," said Dan Hamilton, policy adviser to Richard Holbrooke, the U.S. ambassador to Germany.

"I'm reminded of the old saying that if it ain't broke, don't "When concerns have been raised, they've been reviewed

Donald Kobletz, the State Department's lawyer in Berlin in the 1980s and now a private attorney here, said: "Can you tell a sovereign government, one of your closest allies, that 50 years after the war you don't really trust them to keep their own records? After getting microfilm copies, paid for by the German government? I would consider it a gratuitous irritation to our relationship that really isn't warranted."

Many of the files were seized by Allied troops driving across Germany - such as some 10.7 million Nazi Party membership cards impounded by American soldiers at a Bavarian paper mill as the SS prepared to reduce them to pulp. The cards provided useful evidence for prosecutors at the German War Crimes tribunal in Nuremburg.

Since then, the archives have proved invaluable for historians scrutinizing the Third Reich, for German officials sorting out immigration requests and for Nazi-hunters look-

See ARCHIVES, Page 8

By Michael R. Gordon and Eric Schmitt New York Times Service

WASHINGTON - American intelligence officials have concluded that a United States-led invasion to restore the Reverend Jean-Bertrand Aristide to power in Haiti would succeed easily.

But they warn that it would not bring a quick end to the turnoil and violence that have swept the country, and that an international force to maintain order could be needed there for years.

The view, which represents a broad consensus among intelligence agencies and some of Father Aristide's staunchest supporters, comes as the Clinton administration is struggling to develop a plan both to return the deposed president and to create conditions so he can govern peacefully.

While President Bill Clinton is relying on economic sanctions to persuade Haiti's military leaders to leave, he has pointedly refused to rule out military force. Pentagon officials are confident that with neofascist roots.

cations minister, Giuseppe Tatarella, one of five members of the neofascist-led National Alliance in

In a statement to other telecommunications ministers at the start of the meeting, Mr. di Rupo said it was the first time in the history of

2 Hurt in Attacks

In Hamburg on

Turkish Targets

Reuters

HAMBURG - Two people were hurt in arson attacks against Turkish targets in Hamburg, the anniversary of a neo-Nazi firebombing in which five Turks died.

two Turkish cultural centers shortly after midnight.

the new Italian government.

Haiti's minimally equipped 7,500-man tary and keep order through 1995, the end armed forces could easily be swept aside. A of Father Aristide's term. force of 650 Marines — the kind of force officials said might serve as an invasion vanguard --- was sent for training to Guantánamo Bay last week.

Whether Mr. Clinton uses diplomacy or force to return the Haitian president to power, he faces the difficult task of trying to rebuild Haiti's military and political institutions while avoiding an open-ended commitment of troops.

Determined not to reneat the mistakes of Somalia, administration officials say Washington will not launch any military operation in Haiti without a firm plan for

So far, the administration's plan for keeping the peace in Haiti after Father Aristide's return is sketchy.

Senior administration officials said Washington saw a need for a peacekeeping force of several thousand to help protect Father Aristide, retrain the Haitian mili-

But the United States and its allies have not yet agreed on the exact size and duties of the peacekeeping force, on the extent of the U.S. role or how long the force would

Since allies are being told that the peace-keeping force would be sent in after a diplomatic solution, it is unclear which countries, if any, would be willing to send troops if Father Aristide were returned through military action.

No military operation in Haiti without a plan for disengagement, officials say.

In addition, the United States and its allies are struggling to define some of the

In interviews and speeches in recent weeks, Mr. Clinton and his top aides have its border with Haiti. described the situation in Haiti as a serious threat to American security, implying that Father Aristide, who was elected in Deof months. Mr. Clinton has cited the threat of a we've got to bring economic growth and surge in refugees trying to come to the the prospect of hope. All three have to be United States, and has said Haiti is a stag-ing area for drug shipments.

Strobe Talbott, the deputy secretary of state, said in an interview: "It is our intention to send a very clear signal to the military and police leadership in Port-au-Prince that this situation is urgent, and at the end of the day, they'e going to be gone, and that the end of the day is not that far To that end, the administration has pushed for tougher and more rigorously enforced economic sanctions.

William H. Gray 3d, the administration's new special envoy for Haiti, said it moved.

fundamental tasks they would face after was far 100 soon to conclude that sanctions Father Aristide's return. would not be effective. The United States is pressing the Dominican Republic to seal

المرابعة الرابعة المستحد من مستقدم منذ إلى ومياه المستحدة المستحد

"The sanctions are at a level totally different than in the past." Mr. Gray said.
"What we've really got to do is restore comber 1990 with two-thirds of the vote, needed to be restored to power in a matter ensure that the military and police are compatible with democratic values. And

But some analysts contend that the economic sanctions will backfire by raising the general level of misery in Haiti, the poorest new flood of refugees and putting pressure on the administration to take military ac-

Even some administration officials are skeptical that sanctions will work in the months that Washington seems to have allotted for the military rulers to be re-

Rightist Fires Shot Near Hosokawa

TOKYO (WP) — A rightist nationalist fired a single gunsho: near former Prime Minister Morihiro Hosokawa in a hotel lobby Monday, but Mr. Handhard Hosokawa in a hotel lobby Monday, but

The police and members of the "SP," Japan's equivalent of the Secret Mr. Hosokawa was unhurt. Service, immediately arrested the assailant. Press reports said the man told the police that he was angry over Mr. Hosokawa's apologies last year for Japan's aggression in World War II, and over Mr. Hosokawa's inability to and Japan's aggression in World War II, and over Mr. Hosokawa's inability to and Japan's aggression in World War II.

inability to end Japan's long-running recession.

The assailant was identified as Masakatsu Nozoe, 52 said to be 2 member of a nationalist fringe group which maintains that Japan was in the right when it invaded East Asian countries and attacked the United States. Such organizations were furious last year when Mr. Hosokand declared Japan "the aggressor" in the war and apologized to the victims of Japan and apologized to the victims of Japanese attacks and conquest.

Russia Confirms Missile Retargeting

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia and the United States are no longer aiming nuclear missiles at each other's territory, a leader in the Russian Parliament affirmed Monday during a meeting with members of the U.S. Senate

The declaration by Sergei Yushenkov, who heads the Defense Committee of the State Duma, the lower house, was later amplified in a Foreign

The U.S.-Russian agreement to stop aiming long-range nuclear missies at each other was reached during President Bill Clinton's visit to Moscow in January. It was later joined by Britain.

Mandela to Continue Amnesty Talks

PRETORIA (AP) — President Nelson Mandela stepped up efforts to reassure whites about their future in black-led South Africa on Monday.

mnouncing negotiations with two conservative parties. Despite recent warnings that he was being too generous in forgiving political violence, Mr. Mandela said talks would continue on whether whites account in Mandela said talks would continue on whether whites accused in a pre-election terrorist bombing spree that killed 21 people might be granted amnesty.

Speaking to reporters after a meeting with the Conservative Party leader Ferdi Hartzenberg, Mr. Mandela said his government, the Conservative Party and the Freedom Front would meet soon to discuss demands. by some whites for a homeland within South Africa. Mr. Hartzenberg boycotted the first South African elections to include blacks, but last week for the first time endorsed further talks and seemed to give up his original goal of a completely independent white territory.

Hong Kong Defends Ban on 2 Exiles

HONG KONG (AP) — Governor Chris Patten on Monday defended the government's decision to bar two exiled Chinese scholars living in the United States from attending a democracy seminar in Hong Kong. Without naming the scholars, Mr. Patten told reporters that at "sensitive moments" the government should not allow people to use the colony to criticize what is happening elsewhere.

The two scholars, Ruan Ming and Li Binyan, told seminar organizers last week that British consular officials in New York informed them that their visa applications had been rejected. Last week, the Hong Kong government warned exiled Chinese dissidents not to use the colony as a base for subversion against" China.

UN Warns on Spread of Şmoking

GENEVA (Reuters) - The World Health Organization warned on Monday that 10 million people would die annually from smoking within three decades unless its spread in developing countries and among young women were stopped.

In a report marking its annual May 31 "World No Tobacco Day," the United Nations body urged governments, particularly in Asia and Latin America, to follow the example of some industrialized states and ban cigarette advertising and tobacco industry sponsorship of sports and cultural events.

At present, 3 million people, 30 percent of them in poorer countries, died yearly from diseases caused by smoking. But unless there is a significant fall in current trends of tobacco consumption, this figure is expected to rise to 10 million a year in the 2020s or 2030s, 7 million of them in developing countries," the report said.

Shelling Interrupts a Lull in Yemen

ADEN, Yemen (AFP) — Sporadic artillery duels on Monday broke an uneasy calm along the front lines in Yemen's four-week civil war, military Fighting has died down since Sunday along an arc west, north, and east of the southern stronghold of Aden, they said. Forces loyal to Ali Salem Baid fired two Scud missiles earlier Sunday at the north in retaliation for what they charged was a northern missile attack, officials said.

It was not clear if the hill was linked to preparations for a possible new the conflict, which broke out on May 5.

Correction

A sentence in a D-Day article by Frank Schirrmacher in the Monday "Hollywood Hegemony at Issue as Germans Again Debate Identity," should have read: "A powerful current in traditional German culture, which went along with the concept of 'Sonderwege,' or 'special half of this ways,' that exposed Germans to so many excesses in the first half of this century, has survived the postwar decades as if it had been in hiberna-

TRAVEL UPDATE

Emirates Ease Visa Requirements

DUBAI (Renters) — The United Arab Emirates will give visa-free entry to Gulf-based businessmen and high-earning professionals for up to a month, according to rules that come into effect on June 1, the official Emirates News Agency said Monday.

The rule applies to nationals of major Western countries and Japan who have lived in one of the six Gulf Cooperation Council states for more than a year. It also covers all foreign businessmen, accountants, doctors and engineers and their families who have lived for more than 12 months in United Arab Emirates, Sandi Arabia, Bahrain, Oman, Kuwait and Qatar. The rule was promoted by Dubai, which wants to ease entry rules to help boost trade, tourism and regional exhibitions and conferences.

The no-visa rule applies to all citizens of the United States, the European Union, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Japan and British passport holders from Hong Kong regardless of whether they belong to one of the professions listed.

The French Transport Ministry confirmed Monday that the government will allow British airlines to offer four flights daily between London and Paris's Orly airport starting June 13. (Related article, Page 11) (AP) Slovahia has opened a new passenger railroad spur at its border with Poland, cutting travel time, it was announced Monday in Bratislava. The 22-kilometer (13.6-mile) link on a direct north-south route will cut the travel distance by about 70 kilometers (43 miles).

(Reuters)

New Delhi recorded its highest temperature in 50 years on Monday as the mercury bit 46 degrees Centigrade (115 degrees Fahrenheit), the Press Trust of India (PTI) reported.

Unions claiming to represent more than half of the pilots and mechanics of Air Inter, the French domestic airline, scheduled a 24-hour strike is to protest the planned deregulation of Europe's airways, which they

United Kingdom(CC)

To call the U.S. using BT

U.S. Virgin Islands(CC)

Venezuela-

To call the U.S. using MERICLIRY

To call anywhere other than the USONO Still Sout

0800-80-0222

0500-890-222

-800-888-8000

000-412

172-1022

500-1111+4

Italian Neofascist Snubbed in Brussels BRUSSELS - A Belgian represent to Brussels a minister with political roots in the Italian fascism entative complained angrily on Monday about the presence of a member of Italy's National Alli"This reality is too im

"This reality is too important to be trivialized," said Mr. di Rupo, the son of an Italian immigrant to ance at a meeting of European Union telecommunications ministers and said he would have no European Union officials said contact with officials from a party Mr. Tatarella responded by reaf-The official, Elio di Rupo, Belfirming his party's commitment to liberty, democracy and respect for others without regard to nationalgium's deputy prime minister and telecommunications minister, said ity, religion or sex. He also said he he would avoid all personal, bilatrespected the right of Mr. di Rupo eral contact with the Italian deputy to have doubts. prime minister and telecommuni-

Mr. Tatarella said his party represented a democratic movement on the right of the political spectrum, not a counter movement to those values. "Judge us on our behavior and on the policies that we follow," a diplomat quoted Mr. Tatarella as saving.

The National Alliance has no links with fascism," Mr. Tatarella said. "Its members belong to the political right, democratically formed. They are not fascists." Four National Alliance members in the coalition cabinet of Italy's new prime minister. Silvio Berlusconi. Mr. di Rupo said he was not worried that the party could hurt Italy, which he called a democratic country, but he said the example of rightist members in Italy's cabinet police said Monday, a day after the could have more dangerous consequences in less stable countries. In another development, the leader of the federalist Northern A Hamburg police spokesman said the attackers hurled firebombs League, Umberto Bossi, a member into a Turkish restaurant and into of the coalition, suggested on Monday that tough action should be taken to limit Mr. Berlusconi's media interests. The two injured people were in "Our next battle will be on antithe restaurant, and one of them was taken to hospital to be treated for trust legislation," Mr. Bossi said at a campaign rally for the June 12 burns. No one was burt in the other The spokesman said that police whether there is still someone who suspected that the incidents were can manipulate news in this counpart of a clash between "left-wing try as there is now." The prime and right-wing" Turks and that minister owns three national televithere was no indication of a racist

By James Brooke New York Times Service BOGOTA - Two moderates will face each other in a June 19 runoff election for the presidency of Colombia, after nearly complete returns were counted on Monday. In Colombia's most peaceful election in tions in 1990.

recent memory, voters on Sunday reduced a crowded field of 18 to Ernesto Samper Pizano, a Liberal, and Andres Pastrana Arango, a Conservative. With 97 percent of the vote in, Mr. Samper had won 45.2 percent to Mr. Pastrana's 44.9 percent. "This was much more tranquilo than we had expected," said Colombia's defense minister, Rafael Pardo Rueda. He had stationed troops at nearly all of the 47,000 polling

The elections marked a return to Colombia's century-old tradition of two-party politics and an eclipse of the M-19 Democratic

2 Moderates to Vie in Colombia Runoff

Backers of Mr. Pastrana in a peaceful demonstration Monday in Bogota. Troops were on alert, but there was no violence.

Antonio Navarro Wolff, the candidate of this former gnerrilla group, polled less than 4 percent of the vote, well below the 13 percent he won in Colombia's last presidential elec-

"What happened to Navarro is typical of Colombian politics," said Vicente Torrijos, an international studies professor here. "As a political outsider, he had a certain mystique. Then he started to run his movement along nondemocratic lines. As health minister, he fell into patronage politics."

The M-19 will retain a residual force for the next three weeks as Colombia's two presidential candidates compete for endorsements leading up to the runoff.

On issues pertaining to the United States, both Mr. Samper and Mr. Pastrana maintain essentially identical positions.

Both have vowed to negotiate Colombia's entry into the North American Free Trade Association by 1998, the end of the new president's term.

On Colombia's cocaine trade, both candidates have vowed to maintain the current policy of negotiating with cartel leaders to surrender in plea bargains. Neither supports changing Colombia's constitution to allow the extradition of suspected drug traffickers

Surveys showed that fighting the drug trade was not a priority for Colombian voters. Colombians will be looking at the candidates' capacity to reduce unemployment, poverty and violent crime and make peace with the guerrilias.

England Gets In the Mood' for D-Day Week

By William E. Schmidt

New York Times Service LONDON - Up on the stage, the orchestra swung into the old Glenn Miller tune "In the Mood," and the floor at The Royal Albert Hall began to fill with dancers, graying English men and women mostly, some wearing the carefully tailored brown tunics of World War II U.S. Army officers. others the dark blue kit of British naval

Above the arena, overage soldiers in the white helmets, brown boots and white outtees of U.S. Army MP's stood stiffly at the doors, playing their part to the tee, while women wearing pillbox hats circled the dance floor, carrying trays piled high with sugared doughnuts.

'As hard as times were, it was such a wonderful atmosphere in those days." said Violet Wright, a 68-year-old London wom-an, her toe tapping out the swing rhythm as she took in the scene, a staged reconstruction of a wartime London servicemen's canteen. She paused then, and added: "But thines were so different back then, too, weren't they? England used to be like a big international firm, and now, well, sometimes it seems as if the country has just gone into It's D-Day minus six, 50 years later, and as Britain prepares this week to celebrate and commemorate the anniversary of the landings, much of the nation seems as if it has fallen into a kind of misty time warp, swept has been lost and can never be regained.

"D-Day foreshadowed not simply the ut- both demeaning and trivial. ter defeat of Germany and the long march across a humiliated and occupied France," wrote The Guardian, a London newspaper, in an essay last week, "but also the humbling of British pretensions to remain a great and imperial power.

indeed, after bravely holding out alone against the Nazis, Britain was effectively occupied by a friendly American expeditionary force in the months before the D-Dav invasion. The wartime memories of most Britons even now are colored and shaped by those early contacts with the invading Yanks, and their imported appentes for everything from cold beer and hot dogs to hot

Inside the Royal Albert Hall. George West London and fan of 1940s dance music, remembered the Americans in London. They were wonderful, and we couldn't have done it without them," he said. "But while the invasion was a great Allied victory, it was also Britain's final moment of world importance. After the war, well, we lost our empire and, truth be told, we haven't adjusted too

As the anniversary of the D-Day landings has approached. Britain itself has appeared at times unable to decide exactly how it should go about marking the occasion. Last back a half-century on a title of nostalgia and month, for example, several British veterans melancholy, a strange journey colored by organizations railed at the government of

Colombia 💵 🔸

WIT

Costa Rica

memories of hard times and hard victories. Prime Minister John Major, attacking a gov-as well as recollections of an England that ernment-sponsored schedule of events that enough of the wartime." included Spam fritter cooking contests as

The government promised to put more emphasis on commemoration rather than celebration, although most of the British veterans, like the Americans who have crossed the ocean to join them, so far seem more interested in just getting together, find-ing their old mates and sharing memories.

In Southampton, the southern coastal port where the invading armada set out 50 years ago for the Normandy beaches, more than a thousand veterans assembled Friday, wearing their combat medals on their jackets and standing in the spring sunshine to be re-viewed by Prince Philip, the Duke of Edin-

The veterans passion for the past has Inside the Royal Albert Hall. George fueled a seemingly unquenchable demand Ward, a retired, 69-year-old teacher from for World War II nostalgia, and a booming cottage industry in books, videos, music, fashion and magazines devoted to the peri-

The program at the Royal Albert Hall on Sunday night was sponsored by Britain at War, a London World War II theme museum, and drew nearly 1,000 guests, who paid $37 apiece to dance to two 1940s-era bands, one of which was conducted by John Miller, the nephew of Glenn Miller.
"Busy? Have I been busy?" hollered Mr.

Miller, wearing a vintage U.S. officer's uniform, just like his Uncle Glenn, and yelling

For several weeks, towns across the south of England, the staging area for the huge invasion force, have been gearing up for the anniversary. Local radio stations have been giving over entire programs to interviews with veterans, to recall their memories of the invasion. Trees have been planted and plaques unveiled. In Dorset, the local museum is running an exhibition on civilian life during the war years. In Weymouth, the downtown theater is showing World War II

In Salisbury, there was a garden party Monday at Wilton House, where the Allies carried out the final planning for the invasion, and Sunday night there was a remembrance concert inside the Salisbury Cathedral, where hundreds gathered to sing Lili Marlene and watch former Prime Minister Edward Heath, war medals glinting on his chest, conduct the Royal Air Force Band. Outside the Royal Albert Hall, there were ceps draped with camouflage netting, and searchlights piercing the spring sky. They had been set up by Blitz, a suburban London

Inside the hall, Margaret Whiting, the singer, was on stage, singing "Moonlight in Vermont," and Betty Ilsley was in the audience, sitting with her husband thinking of times that used to be. "I wouldn't want to live through the war again," she said, "but at least then, England felt like it was one big to be heard over the band's music. "Two family where people looked after one anoth-days off since May 1, and that's only because er. We could use that spirit again."

Laxembourg

MexicoA

group that caters everything.

Teenager Seized Over Shooting of German Tourists

RIVERSIDE, California - The police have arrested a 17-year-old in connection with the murder of a German tourist and the wounding of her husband at a mountain lookout in southern California, officials said Monday.

The teenager, whose name was not made public because of his age, was captured Sunday in West Valley, Utah, a successful City, investigators said. Utah, a suburb of Salt Lake

"We do believe him to be the shooter in this case," the Riverside County sheriff, Cois Byrd, was quoted as saying. Two other suspects were arrested last week in the shooting death of Gisela Pfleger, 62, and the wound-ing of her husband, Klans Pfleger, road at a scenic lookout in the San Jacinto Mountains near Idyllwild. southeast of Los Angeles. The suspects arrested Wednes-

They were attacked May 16 after they pulled their rental car off a (168) (4)(4)(4) 00-42-000112 Argentina+ (0)[.5(0,1704[]]] 0(0.20320[2 Denrant CC+ 8001-0022 Dominican Republic 1.800-751-6624 Bahamastit $\partial \mathcal{G}(x,y)$ Êgypt.≎C • Belgium'00 ♦ 0820-10012 355-5770 Details of Carro, draft 02 first Israel C.C. 1777/523-3494 El Salvadore Boliviae 0 - 2-2-2222 Finland() C + 9900-102-80 Brazil France CC+ COM-2012 194-(4)-10 Kenya Caung Les 2448888-3000 00.1.00 Gambia Avadable from those major cares $1.47(1), \pm 24.10(2)$ Germany . C 0130-0012 Liechtenstein/CL* day, identified by investigators as Xou Yang, 19, and Khamchan Ket-souvannasane, 19, are being held on charges of murder, attempted murder and robbery.

177-150-2727

172-1022

030011

155-0222

1600-0113

19▼-00-19

95-800-671-7000

Military Bases:

PolandsCC

Portugal(CC)

Paerto Rico(CC)

San Marino(CC)+

South Africa(CC)

Slovak Republic(CC)

Paraguay + Peru (Outside of Luna, dial 190 first.)

2810-108

008-11-800

05-017-1234

00-42-000112:

.0000-99-0011

172-1022

1-800-888-8000

04-01-04-800-232

PROMOTE FOREIGN AFFAIRS

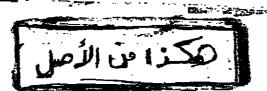

محرور والمستحصصين والمتعاورات

To call from country to country, or back to the U.S., dial the WorldPhone number of the country you're calling from. 06-022-91-22 900-99-9014 Haitt L.+ 001-800-444-1234 Netherlands Antilles (M1-800-950-1022 St. Lucia Hondons+ 001-800-674-7000 Nicatagua(CC) (Outside of Managua, dial 02 first.) Sweden (CC)+ 020-795-922 00Y-800-01411 Switzerland(CC)+ lecland# Trinidad & Tobago ISPECIAL PHONES ONLY) 900.002 NorwayiCEN 600-19912

310 (540M) Greece CC ◆ 00-800-1-11 10. 1-901-624-8721 tive your MCI Card," local telephone card or call collect, all at the same loss pairs the constraint and a color color, available. He are be wealthy colored in remained become if constr est of our appeal of Linear Establishing 🔻 Wan for second dul toget 🛦 Available from LAPATEI

WORLDPHONE Let It Take You Around the World.

Imprime par Offprint, 73 rue de l'Evangtle, 75018 Paris.

"Larred availability in casiem Germany)

per entre process of the state of the second three states of the second three states are second to the second three second three second three second to the seco

and the same and the same of t

THE AMERICAS / RELEASE EN CLA Spy's Memory Slips on a Crucial Date

By Walter Pincus Washington Post Service

of Near Hosokawa

nue Amnesty Talk

nd-Banon 2 Edg

ead of Smoking

n na hairin. Na hairin kaleb

15.7.12 1.33

te a Lull in Yemez

ing the second

WASHINGTON - Among the double WASHINGTON — Among the double agents that Aldrich Hazen Ames, the former CIA officer, has admitted exposing to Moscow was Oleg Gordievsky, the KGB's one-time top officer in London and the most continue top officer in London and the most continue top officer in London and the most continue to the most c important Soviet spy ever recruited by M15. Britain's security service.

Problem is, Mr. Ames cannot say exactly when he told Moscow about Mr. Gordievsky.

Minile Retargeting The Federal Bureau of Investigation had concluded it was on June 13, 1985, when Mr. Ames turned over to a Soviet Embassy employee in Washington an envelope containing a list of code-names or other identifying clues for all the Soviet citizens he knew were in the pay of the Central Intelligence Agency or allied governments.

The FBI fixed on that date using photographic, electronic and other surveillance re-cords that are supposed to have recorded all those who visited the Soviet Embassy. sources said.

But the FBI did not consult with Mr. Gordievsky or read the book that he wrote in 1990, the sources said. In the book, Mr. Gordievsky said he was mysteriously ordered back to Moscow from London on May 17, 1985, four weeks before the FBI has Mr. Ames turning over his list, Mr. Gordievsky also wrote that on May 27, 1985, he was drugged, interrogated by KGB officials in the Soviet Union and "directly accused of working for the British."

Mr. Ames has said he cannot remember don and Washington what one former high-the date he passed the envelope, but during ranking CIA official called "an amazing look" denied the charges and maintained his innoan interview last month placed it "some months" after March 1985. Neither MI5 nor the CIA wants it proven that Mr. Ames was not the one who informed on Mr. Gordievsky because that would suggest another, still undiscovered double agent inside either American or British intelligence agencies.

The FBI has been asked to review its finding. Mr. Gordievsky himself announced after Mr. Ames's arrest that he believed it was Mr. Ames who turned him in, "He has the blood of a dozen officers on his hands," Mr. Gordievsky wrote in an article in March. "He would have had my blood, too, had I not managed to escape before the KGB had any evidence, other than Ames's tip-off, against

Some British intelligence officials, although accepting the CIA's apology, have come to believe that Mr. Gordievsky was uncovered by the KGB's own counterintelligence work and that Mr. Ames's information only confirmed an existing suspicion.

Motivated by his realization that the Soviet Union was a stagnant, corrupt society, Mr. Gordievsky agreed to spy for British intelli-gence in 1974 while working as a KGB political intelligence officer in Copenhagen. He rose steadily in the KGB in Moscow and arrived in London in 1982. Three years later, he was named chief of the KGB's station in the British capital.

inside the Kremlin.

From London, Mr. Gordievsky would report on gossip he gathered and conversations he had with visiting Soviet officials and KGB officers. His reports covered China, Nicaragua, even the United States. The information he conveyed about the internal workings of the Kremlin "went way beyond any reporting we were getting," the former CIA official

Only a handful of top CIA officials knew the material was coming from a KGB source in London and from an individual senior enough to assume charge on occasion of the Soviet Embassy there, Mr. Ames, along with a handful of other officers in the CIA operations directorate, was able to determine that MI5's source came from the KGB station in London.

According to Mr. Gordievsky, he was un-expectedly recalled to Moscow in a cable he received May 17, 1985, saying that he would be formally appointed head of the KGB's London operation and that two Polithuro members wanted to talk to him. When he arrived in Moscow on May 19, he found his apartment had been searched.

For a week, nothing happened. Then he was taken to a KGB dacha outside Moscow for a lavish lunch that included large amounts of liquor. After the meal he felt

He was then subjected to sharp question-found the double agent they had always been ing for the rest of the day, including accusa-secking.

Mr. Gordievsky was released, but he was told he would not be allowed to serve outside the Soviet Union again. He was relieved of duties and told he had to report to KGB headquarters for a new assignment on Aug. 3, 1985. Mr. Gordievsky wrote in his book that he believed the Soviets were waiting to see if they could catch him secretly meeting with MIS agents.

On July 19, without giving notice to his family, Mr. Gordievsky and MI5 agents carried out a bold escape plan. He was picked up by agents on a street outside Moscow while jogging with a KGB guard just yards away. He was smuggled out of Russia through a route that remains secret. Mr. Ames said that after turning over his envelope with the agents' names in mid-1985, he heard nothing from the Soviets until September. As he recalled during an interview last month, a Soviet Embassy official "passed me a written message in which they expressed their gratitude and they said they had put aside $2 million for me."

"I was surprised and shocked at the magnitude of that," he said. One former intelligence official said Mr. Gordievsky's escape convinced the Soviets that he was working for the British and thus assured Moscow that in Mr. Ames they had Khalid Abdul Muhammad being helped by his aides after he was shot in Riverside, California.

POLITICAL NOTES

'Little More Time' on Health

WASHINGTON - The Clinton administration insists that Representative Dan Ros-tenkowski's legal troubles will not stop the "real momentum" toward passing a healthcare reform bill this year. But a ranking congressional Democrat acknowledged that "it will take a little more time."

Mr. Rostenkowski, Democrat of Illinois, who is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has until Tuesday to decide whether to accept a plea bargain agreement or risk indictment on federal corruption charges. Under Democratic caucus rules, if he is indicted he would have to step down as chairman of his committee.

He has denied any wrongdoing and is thought to be ready to fight the charges, which include taking illegal cash payments from the House post office and putting people on his office payroll who did not work.

"It is my understanding that they asked him to plead guilty to charges he's not even familiar with," said Representative Charles B. Rangel of New York, the senior Democrat on the committee.

Mr. Rangel told ABC News that he thought Mr. Rostenkowski was "going to go

If so, Mr. Rangel said, "it would take a up more of our weight" in order to get the health care bill passed.

"It could be that the president may have to get involved," he said. "But we'll move ahead. Will we need extra help? Will we need a little more time? I think so, but we're going to do

But a Republican member of the committee, Representative Rick Santonim of Pennsylvania, said that without Mr. Rostenkowski as chairman, "we may in fact get a bipartisan coalition put together."

"Without the chairman," he said, "there we have a great opportunity to make sure the American public gets the kind of health in-surance they want."

(AP)

Giving Back $9,000 Bonus

WASHINGTON - The No. 2 executive at the Social Security Administration has decided to return a $9,256 bonus he received after about three months on the job.

The Social Security principal deputy commissioner, Lawrence H. Thompson, "voluntarily decided" to return the money, the agency's commissioner, Shirley Chater, told a Senate subcommittee. Several House and Senate members had raised questions about Mr. Thompson's award and Social Security's decision to spend $32 million on employee bonuses last year. More than two-thirds of the agency's 65,000 employees received the bonuses. She told the Senate Appropriations subcommittee on human services that Mr. Thompson's award was based on his work at the nine months he served there before transferring agencies. Mr. Thompson's bonus, she emed an appropriate action at the But she said she and Mr. Thompson "both Social Security and his "exemplary performance" at the General Accounting Office for understand the sensitivity and concern that has been expressed regarding the fact the award was paid" by Social Security. (WP)

Christopher Saigon Visit?

WASHINGTON - Speculation is growing in Washington that Secretary of State Warren M. Christopher will make a ground-breaking visit to Vietnam this summer.

Mr. Christopher is scheduled to travel to Bangkok on July 26 for the annual meeting of the Association of Southeast Asian States. Nothing has been announced, but he may go to Hanoi before or after that meeting. The United States announced recently that it had finished arrangements to set up a liaison office in Hanoi.

Assistant Secretary of State Winston Lord is about to go to Vietnam, and there is speculation that among his responsibilities is to make preparations for a visit by Mr. Christopher. If Mr. Christopher does make the trip, he would be in position to open up the new liaison office himself.

Quote/Unquote

W. Anthony Lake, the national security adviser, on the president's trip to Europe to celebrate the 50th anniversary of D-Day: "Let me emphasize this: This should not be a victory over Germa: and over Italy. I think the president will be trying to make it clear that we are not celebrating the defeat of certain nations; we are celebrating the victory of an idea, a liberating idea, of

Away

From Politics

• Michael Fay, the American teenager whose caning for vandalism in Singapore sparked a protest by the U.S. government, spent his 19th birthday in prison Monday but could not receive visitors or presents, his mother said. Most high school graduates planning to go work are of-fered the same low wages. part-time hours and work as in the after-school jobs they held as students. In 1993, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports, nearly a quarter of high school graduates who did not go on to college were still unemployed in October, com-pared with 21 percent of each and 16 percent in the 1970s. A 16-year-old girl was sexually assaulted on the floor of a teen dance club by six young men as a crowd stood by and watched, the police in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, said.

year's graduates in the 1980s

• Los Angeles gang members have have pulled off a string of brazen robberies in Las Vegas casinos in the last three months - storming into casinos, rifling the cashier's cages and making off with tens of thousands of dollars in a matter of seconds. NYT. AP, AFP

Ex-Farrakhan Aide Wounded

Crowd Batters Black Attacker After California Speech

By Tom Gorman and Psyche Pascual

Las Angeles Times Service RIVERSIDE, California — An outspoken minister of the Nation of Islam, Khalid Abdul Muhammad, was shot by a man whom police described as a former member of the black Muslim group. Mr. Muhammad, 43, was struck in the left leg by at least one of five or six shots from a 9mm handgun, officials said. He was in satisfactory condition on Monday at Riverside Community Hospital, according to an associate.

Two Nation of Islam bodyguards were also wounded. Caliph Sadig, 33, was in satisfactory condition with a wound in the upper right back.

Another guard, Varnado Puckett, 34, was shot three times. He was in serious condition, undergoing surgery at Riverside General Hospital.

The gunman - wearing the dark suit, white shirt and bow tie "characteristic of what his security people were wearing," said a University of California, Riverside, spokesman --- stepped from a crowd of some 50 people outside the auditorium where Mr. Muhammad had just spoken Sunday and fired from 5 to 10 feet

The gunman was severely beaten by the crowd, some of whom reportedly shouted, "He works for the Jews." Mr. Muhammad was dismissed as an aide to the Nation of Islam leader, Louis Farrakhan, after

The police plucked the bloodied man from the angry crowd and put him in a police car until he could be taken away by ambulance. He was identified on Monday as James Edward Bess, 49, of Seattle, who was expelled from the Nation of Islam three years ago.

A Muhammad friend who was standing on the that someone had just asked him to compare the struggle of Latinos with those of African Americans.

"The last thing I remember him saying was, 'The same dog that bit you, bit me.'" said the friend.

auditorium steps next to him when he was shot said

"After that, just pop, pop, pop, pop, pop. It was so close," he said. "I just took my daughter and hit the ground. I heard a bullet echo in my ear, and I could smell gunpowder." In the chaos after the shooting, he said, several young black men attacked some white people who had rushed to the scene, but others who had been at the speech intervened. Members of the Fruit of Islam, the Nation of Islam's security contingent, carried the wounded Mr. Muhammad back through the building to a car and hurried him to the hospital. A photographer said angry supporters beat the gumman as the police tried to stop them.

"They were just kicking and stomping him in the head," he said. "That's where the pandemonium was. They dragged the shooter out by the nape of his neck, blood dripping. People were still trying to get their kicks in. The police were trying to protect him. And the people wouldn't let him get out." A student who attended the speech, saw the suspect later, "a bloodied head, and propped up" in the back Under intense security that included pat-downs and security and Fruit of Islam, nearly 450 people had entered the Student Recreation Center to hear Mr. Muhammad.

During the speech, about 70 protesters picketed silently outside, among them Jewish and Roman Cath-

NOW YOU CAN TURN ANY PHONE IN THE WORLD INTO A WORLDPHONE

Be it in a bazaar in Egypt... a hotel room in Buenos Aires... on a street corner in Hong Kong.:: or even in a friend's home in Greece, you can turn virtually any phone in the world into a WorldPhone.

All you need to know is the WorldPhone access number for the country you're in. Dial this access number, and you will get an operator who speaks your language, and economical rates from overseas. And if you're a member of MCI Friends & Family, you can save an additional 20% off on each call you make to other MCI customers in your Calling Circle® when you use your MCI Card®

Call from country to country, or back to the U.S., without intimidation or complications. No language barriers. No currency problems. No outrageous hotel surcharges.

To receive a WorldPhone calling guide, dial the WorldPhone number from the country you're in. See page 2 for the WorldPhone country list.

Two Sides Claim Power in Autonomy Fight

By Alessandra Stanley New York Times Service

SIMFEROPOL. Ukraine -Two men who both claim to be the chief of law enforcement of Crimea sit in the same government office building. They use separate entrances and act as if the other does not exist. A sign at the front door says the Crimean Interior Ministry. Last week, workers hastily erected a large plaque over the rear catrance declaring the building the Ukrainian Interior Ministry's department in Crimea.

It is perhaps the oddest episode in the war of nerves over how far Crimea will go to gain autonomy from Ukraine. Valeri Kuznetsov, the man appointed interior minister by the president of Crimea two months ago, controls the 15,000man police force. But two weeks ago, the president of Ukraine ordered Ivan Kolomytsev, the former head of the local KGB, to replace Mr. Kuznetsov. The 1,000 members of the department's security force answer to Mr. Kolomytsev.

Both men are waiting for politicians in Moscow, Simferopol, and Kiev to settle the stand-off. The vait is not always serene.

Chechens Blame Moscow for Blast

The Associated Press

MOSCOW - Authorities in the breakaway Caucasus province of Chechnya held Moscow responsihie on Monday for what was apparan attempt to assassinate their president, Dzhokhar Dudayev, news reports said.

Mr. Dudayev escaped injury when a roadside bomb exploded near the Chechen capital of Grozny on Friday as his motorcade was driving past. The blast killed Interior Minister Magomed Eldiyev, his deputy and their driver.

Mr. Dudayev's wife and 11-yearold son were wounded in the blast.

lt begins in Chicago.

l'continues abroad.

Beginning in December 1984, the program offers a case study approach to international marketing and finance in the global economy. Students are drawn from around the world and focus on sharing customs and cultures while working in a team environment to solve real world

WORLD CLASS FACILITIES

The technology-driven curriculum is complemented by the unrivaled business and comtitler resources of the next Deltail Center in downtown Chicago, Students are also provided with a laptop computer and all necessary software (included in cost of tuition).

business problems.

The University of Helsinki was founded in 1640. With

30,000 students,

2,000 teachers

and 8 faculties, it is one of the largest universities in the Nordic

the opportunity of a lifetime,

DePaul University's MBA

International Marketing and Finance student exchange.

R&D programmes; ISEP.

University of Gothenburg, Sweden International Summer Academy

Creative and Performing Arts Course Programme:

Creating the Modern Musical, July 30-Aug. 7 Modern Swedish Theatre & Orama, Aug. 1-13

International Organ Academy, Aug. 9-20 WOOD - experimental workshop, Aug. 14-34 Street Performance in Theory & Practice, August 15-27

Photography Workshop w/Mary Ellen Mark USA, Aug. 22-27

SWITZERLAND

activities, sports, etc.

The Healthy Voice, Aug. 7-13 Composition Course, Aug. 8-21

Northern Light (art history), Aug. 9-16

SWEDEN

Information and applications: University of Gothenburg, International Summer Academy, Gudrun Karlander, Project Administrator, Vasaparken, S-411 24 Gothenburg, Sweden. Tel.: +46-31-773 1104, Fax: +46-31-773 4000

INTENSIVE FRENCH AND I OR ENGLISH

June to end of September (min. 3 weeks) SUMMER COURSE

Minimum age: 13 years old Possible accomodations at our boarding

Ecole Lémania - 3, ch. de Préville - CH 1001 Leusann Tel _ 41/21 20 15 01 - Fax ... 41/21 312 57 00

Optional courses: German, cultural school, pensions or with families, etc.

melodramatically, "there could be

Crimea's showdown over independence has put politicians on edge. Crimea had been a part of Russia until Nikita S. Khrushchev gave it to Ukraine in 1954. Since the Soviet Union dissolved, and particularly since the Ukrainian economy began to collapse, most of Crimea's population, which is 70 percent Russian, has been clamoring to rejoin a Russia they feel they had never really left. Even some Cri-economically devastated republic. But pan-Slavic nationalism frightens the Crimean Tatars, Muslims who had dominated the region until the 18th century, when they were subdued by Russia and made subjects. They were brutally de-ported by Stalin 50 years ago. With help from the Ukrainian govern-ment, they have been returning and resettling and now make up more than 10 percent of the population. They campaigned against Yuri Meshkov, the Crimean president, and are now siding with Kiev in the means of Ukrainian descent say they want to shake loose from the dispute over Crimea's status. Russia wants to be heir to all the property of the former Soviet Union," said Mustafa Jemilev, the leader of the Crimean Tatars, who fears that Russian nationalists will trample Tatar rights. "But it doesn't want to accept responsibility for its moral debts." The stalemate began on May 20, when the Crimean Parliament restored a 1992 constitution that would in effect give the peninsula reater autonomy from Kiev. The Ukrainian president, Leonid I. Kravchuk, ordered Crimea to reverse itself or face dire though unspecified consequences. So far, Crimea's Parliament and Mr. Meshkov, elected on separatist platforms, have refused to turn

Fearing a show of force, a dele-

"If anything happens here," Mr. gation of Crimean deputies trav-Kuznetsov warned somewhat eled to Kiev this week. Ukrainian deputies are expected to continue those discussions in Crimea. Three There has been no shooting, but days of high-level talks in Moscow on dividing up the Black Sea fleet, based in Sevastopol, were also adjourned for further contemplation. For all the ado, many citizens say they are calm, even cheerful.

Tension can be detected only in the center of the capital, where Ukrainian national guardsmen are on patrol. As if to counter them, Crimean Cossacks, wearing traditional czarist army uniforms and carrying whips, stage a daily, symbolic vigil on the Parliament steps against Ukrainian attack. Some officers steel themselves for the task with early morning champagne. Clusters of old Russian pension ers, mostly retired low-level Soviet functionaries, have also been gathering every day in front of the Parliament building shouting pro-Russian slogans and muttering curses against Mr. Kravchuk.

To the dismay of the more fer-vent Crimean nationalists, President Boris N. Yeltsin has staved largely aloof from the current im-passe, saying it is a Ukrainian af-

Crimeans complain that the Ukrainian economy is dragging down their own, and in fact, Crimea's rising prices and low salaries echo those in Ukraine. But onefourth of the Crimean population lives on government pensions. The peninsula receives far more in subsidies from Kiev than it pays in Among Crimeans, it is an article of faith that Mr. Kravchuk is trying to provoke a confrontation as a pretext to cancel coming elections, which they say he is likely to lose. But domestic politics plays a part in Crimea's actions as well.

Mr. Meshkov had been counting on nationalist fervor to keep Parliament, which is composed mostly of nationalists and Communists, united even over his economic reform

IT WORKS - A Bosnian Serbian soldier testing a heavy machine gun in the town of Breko.

'Sarajevo' Candidate List Pulls Out Of European Parliament Elections

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches PARIS — Bernard-Henri Lévy announced Monday that he and other intellectuals were pulling out of the race for the European Parliament but would continue their crusade for the Bosnian gov-

The campaign had threatened the mainstream leftist Socialist Party with disarray.

The 87-member list of candidates titled "Europe Begins in Sarajevo," Mr. Levy said in a communique, "will not go to a vote" in the elections June 12. The withdrawal came just three days after the group filed its candidacy with great fanfare to press for a lifting of the arms embargo against the Muslim-led Bosnian government in its war with

The list was expected to draw votes from the Socialists, already reeling from their debacle in legislative elections last year and trying to gear up for presidential elections next spring.

After a meeting ending early Monday morning, the group's leaders decided that their effort in raising the Bosnia issue had "achieved the potential effect in the European election." The list was taken into a political game unworthy of the cause it is defending," the communique said, noting that the "intent was never to build a party or to substitute existing parties."

The group, however, remained neutral and did not throw its support behind any party after noting support from both the left and right to lift the arms

BELGRADE: What Embargo?

new hyperinflation," said Liubo-Madjar, an economist. Up to now, however, predictions that the Avramovic program would amount to no more than a tenuous conjuring trick have proved un-founded. Instead, two essential changes have taken place.

Farmers and industries that were hoarding inventory while inflation soared have now brought their goods to the market and resumed production. And people have been encouraged by interest rates to bring into circulation some of the untold millions of Deutsche marks stashed under mattresses during decades of intermittent inflation in Yugoslavia.

Randenko Vidakovic, a retired engineer in Novi Sad, north of Bel-grade, said he had 100,000 German marks saved in his home - a nest. egg that enabled him to survive when the value of his monthly pen-sion fell to about two marks by last December, scarcely enough to buy a liter of milk. "Of course life is still expensive," he added, "but our fidence has been restored."

Western diplomats say they have no idea how many German marks are hidden in homes or continue to be remitted by Yugoslav workers overseas, but it seems clear they are a decisive cushion against social

Mr. Milosevic seems to be ooz confidence. When he visited Novi Sad last week, he was rapturously received as he declared, "Maybe the cows around here are producing more milk out of spite at international trade sanctions.

The government's economic program has clearly been bolstered by gram has cacally occal observed by a severe fraying of the embargo. Everything from gasoline to L.A. Gear shoes is now available at a price, and businessmen say that countries including Ukraine, Russia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania and Greece are places where deals can be done.

Everyone understands money, said Vlastimir Grujic, whose recently opened clothes boutique is doing a thriving trade in Rifle jeans from America, Samoa sandais from Italy and other imports.

A Western diplomat here said A Western diplomat here said neighboring countries that had suffered from the embargo had simply tired of it. Tentening sanctions would be easy, he said. Give a billion dollars to Hungary, Romania and Rulgary, to component

nia and Bulgaria to compensate them for lost income and tell them to police the borders better. The crucial question is how tar a domestic market of 10 million can continue to sustain the recovery and whether borders will continue to become more porous, so even industrial goods like steel and cars can get out.

For without a more buoyant economy, and the higher tax re-ceipts and greater hard-currence. carnings it would bring, even Mr.

Avramovic might not be able to balance the budget.

At the very least, however, Mr. Milosevic has clearly bought time with the new economic program. and is not in a position where sanctions will compel him to seek peace in Bosnia. In this sense, the embargo appears to have fallen far short of its objectives.

Bosnia Coalition Keeps Pressure On Serbian Foes

The Associated Press SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovi na - Bosnia's allied Muslims and Croats put pressure on their Serbian foes on the froat lines on Monday and at a political gathering in Sarajevo called to cement their fed-eration by choosing its leaders.

The warring parties have been invited to Geneva by the United Nations on Thursday and Friday for talks on an overall cease-fire. But widespread, sporadic shelling and fighting were reported on Monday, particularly in central and northern Bosnia.

The result of the renewed Croat-Muslim alliance has been government offensives on several fronts, launched in the hope of taking back some Serb-held territory Muslims and Croats want as part of their federation.

INTERNATIONAL

SCHOOL OF

STOCKHOLM

A private international school

overs pre-school through 4th grade

Language of instruction - English

British-American type of curriculum

Accredited by European Council of and .

Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools.

Johannesgatan 18

S - 111 38 Stockholm

TeL: +46 8 24 97 15

Fax: +46 8 10 52-89

situated in central Stockholm

EDUCATION DIRECTORY

For real-world global business experience, non-U.S. students take part in an industry-specific project with a Chicago area multinational corporation: students from the U.S.

intern with a corporation abroad or take part in a tailored program at a

ONE-OF-A-KIND CREDENTIALS

The program represents the first and only MBA in International Marketing and Pinance (MBA/IMF) available

today, and as such offers unparalleled preparation for management in the

Ebarning Por Life S'DePaul University

University of Helsinki

Addr.: P.O. Box 3 (Hallituskatu 6 F), FIN-00014 University of Helsinki, Finland

Tel.: +358-0-1911 - Fax: +358-0-191 2176

The University of Helsinki is an international university with more than 1,000 foreign students. Some 30 courses are given in English (e.g. Finnish Society and Culture, Russian

The University of Helsinki has a large network of international cooperation and is one of Finland's leaders in

Member of ERASMUS, NORDPLUS, TEMPUS, COMETT, and Fast European studies, Law, Science and Forestry.)

partner university abroad.

coupon.

Mail to: DePaul University.

Kellstadt Graduate School of Business, MBA/IMF, 1 E. Jackson

Blvd., Chicago IL 60604, Facc (312)

363-6677. Internet: PCHADRAB

@WPPOST.DEPAUL.EDU.

HO'VE - WORK PRO'VE

August 1994

Sweden and Contemporary Society Course Programmissues in Technical and Vocational Education, Aug. 8-19

Gender & Education, Aug. 15-26 Social Work & Social Welfare in Sweden, Aug. 15-26

Agenda 21 at the Village Level Aug 14-26 Nutrition in Daily Life, August 15-19 Swedish Mass Media Between the State & the Market Aug 15-26

Intercultural Communication. Aug. 15-26 Environmental Management. The Swedish Example, Aug. 17-25

INTERNATIONAL

SCHOOL OF MONACO

newly-founded bilingual school

3 year old to grade ?) seeks qualified and experienced English and French mother tongge teachers, as well as a

Send résumé (C.V.) cover letter and educational philosophy to:

Dr.E. Stevelberg, headmaster

International School of Monaco

12, quai Antoine-I"

MC 98000 MONACO.

learning specialist and ESL teacher.

A NEW MBA FOR THE WORLD. Successful Graduates Are Our Business

Make success your business with a Rochester-Erasmus Executive MBA

Jhr. mr. drs. Onno Laman Trip Rochester-Erasmus'87 Chairman Board of Directors Mobil Oil B.V., Rotterdam

Information Sessions 18.00-20.00 hrs Monday 20 June Düsseldorf Tuesday 21 June Antwerpen Wednesday 22 June Rotterdam

Successful European managers know the Rochester-Erasmus Executive MBA Program combines the finest qualities of a top-ranked American MBA program with a uniquely European business perspective. Our 18-month curriculum leads to a fully-accredited degree from both the University of Rochester's Simon School and Erasmus Universiteit. At Rochester-Erasmus, you get all the academic benefits of a leading business school and a direct connection between education and on-the-job application.

For more information, please call: +31 (0)10 408 12 94 +31 (0)10 453 28 64 (fax)

ROCHESTER-ERASMUS

EXECUTIVE MBA Erasmus Universiteit Rotterdam Postbus 1738, 3000 DR Rotterdam

GREAT BRITAIN

THE AMERICAN INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY IN LONDON

· International Programme · Full-time and part-time courses Regular and fast track options

Company supported internships

Contact us now for your free brochure

MBA Programme Office, 16 Young St., London W8 5EH, UK. Telephone: 071 938 1804 Fax: 071 938 3037

SWITZERLAND

JOHN F. KENNEDY INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL Scanen-Gstaad - Founded 1949

A Unique International stripol for highest 1998. Sound preparation for English language accordary schools. Small classes, liamily atmosphere, superb alpine location, French, dayly plaing in wister, sports and excursions.

Summer camp July-Angayst
Write: W. Lovel, Director, 3752 Season, Switzerland, Tel. (41-30) 4 13 72, Faz (41-30) 4 89 82.

FRANCE

A CUSTOM-DESIGNED INTERNATIONAL B.B.A.

AMERICAN PROGRAM AND TEACHING APPROACH : ■ Outstanding faculty taking an individual interest in each student; all courses given in English. A CHOICE OF 3 MAJORS :

■ Management/Marketing, International Business, Economics/Finance.

■ Specialization in culture and languages of EEC, the Americas, Far-East

FLEXIBLE SCHEDULING: ■ Intensive program: 2 and 1/2 to 4 years.

■ Part-time program: at your own pace. THE INTERNATIONAL B.B.A. LEADS TO : ■ ISG's International MBA (French Government Accredited), enterprises.

ting or Accounting..

Tél.: (33-1) 53 70 82 22 - Mr. DEYMARIE - Fara: (33-1) 47 55 96 31

SWEDEN

Closer to the Real Business World

študy at Jönköping International Business School,

To provide international students with variety and choice,

11 courses taught in English are available, for example:

Entrepreneurship and Enterprise Formation, SME Manage ment and Business Development, Management Control

Systems, Strategic Management, and European Company a Bachelor's or Master's Degree in Entrepreneurship, Marke-

For further information and application forms:

Mr Johan Wiklund, E-Mali Johan Wiklund@ekon.hj.se, or Mr

JÖNKÖPING INTERNATIONAL

Johan Thor, E-Mall Johan. Thor@ekon.hj.se.

BUSINESS SCHOOL JÖNKÖPING UNIVERSITY

$551 11. JONKOPING, SWEDEN TELEPHONE: +46 36 15 77 00 TELEPAX: +46 36 16 50 69

FINLAND

Students who stay the full academic year can obtain free of charge. We offer students management studies at advanced undergraduate level with special emphasis on small and medium-sized

Tel. (33-1) 53 70 82 22 - Ma. DEYMARIE - Fazz.: (33-1) 47 55 96 31
OPEN HOUSE: July 6, 1994 - 2-6 p.m.

Swiss and US Diplomas 2 & 3 year Programm in English Transfer to European and US Universities (BA.

Swiss & US accreditation

PANCE Ecole Internationale de Français

S week French immersion programs in beauth?
Coastal Bellance.

Beginning: June 4, July 23 and Angust 13

HOMESTAY, NITEMANY COURSES,
EXCLASSION, SAND ALL MEAS INCLUDED

$1.153.95.11.7, Place on Manchalach
22300 Lampion - FRANCE

17:133.95.12.57.7 Face (23) 96.91.56.00

on Individual and Communication appoint.

VAASA

INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

As the Finnish pioneer in Engineering Education with English as the language of instruction, we offer programmes of BACHELOR'S DEGREE IN ENGINEERING With opportunities to specialize in

Automation and Control Engi

Electrical Power Engineering Industrial Economic

Information Technology

In addition, we provide programmes of BACHELOR'S DEGREE IN ARCHITECTURE

All the programmes provided without fees start at the end of August. They can be viewed as an expression of our aspiration to promote an international awareness. For further information, please contact the institute.

VAASA INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY Wolffintie 30, FIN-65200 VAASA-Tel.: +358-61-326 3111, Fax: +358-61-326 3112

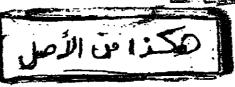

If you missed our Special Section on BUSINESS EDUCATION and would like to receive a copy, send this coupon to:

Brooke PILLEY International Herald Tribune 181, Avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France. Fax: (33-1) 46 37 93 70

Address:

Name:

Ex-Japan Minister Given Jail

Construction Unit Paid Him Bribes

TOKYO - A former minister in the Japanese cabinet was fined and sentenced on Monday to three years in jail for his part in a construction-industry scandal, a court

The official at the Tokyo district court said Fumio Abe, former di-rector-general of the Hokkaido and Okinawa Development Agency, received the prison sentence and a 90 million yen ($865,000) fine for tak-ing bribes from the steel frame maker Kyowa Co.

He said that the court found Mr. Abe was guilty of accepting cash bribes from the firm in 1989 and 1990 while he was a cabinet minister, in return for giving Kyowa favorable treatment in construction projects on his home island of Hok-kaido.

Bosnia Coalition

Keeps Pressure

On Serbian Fog

SWEDEN

INTERNATION

SCHOOLG;

STOCKHOUS

S 82 8 6

SWITZERLAND

BE SIVER

Mr. Abe, 71, who pleaded not guilty, is believed to have repaid to Kyowa 160 million yen of the 630 million yen in an apparent attempt to win a suspended sentence.

He is the first member of Parliament to receive an unsuspended prison sentence since former Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka was sentenced to four years in prison and fined 500 million yen for his part in the Lockheed bribery scandal in

Mr. Tanaka died before serving out his sentence.

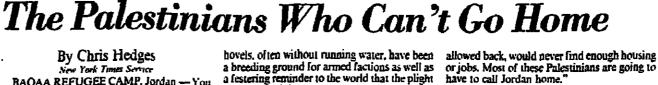

At Mr. Abe's trial, Judge Toshio Yanada said, "It was a grave crime that further spurred the Japanese people's growing distrust of poli-

The court found that Kyowa's vice-president: Goro Moriguchi, paid Mr. Abe for information in connection with the firm's resort development plans in Hokkaido and als for help in allowing Kyowa to join a stadium project in Sappo-

Arrested in early 1992, Mr. Abe admitted to having received the cash from Mr. Moriguchi, but he insisted the money was a political donation. He said he had never been asked for favors in return. A year ago Mr. Moriguchi was found guilty of fraud and of bribing Mr. Abe in connection with a number of bogus business transactions. He was sentenced to serve five and a half years.

News reports on Monday said Mr. Abe had appealed the verdict and was released on bail of 60 million year.

BAQAA REFUGEE CAMP. Jordan - You can still get a haircut and a shave at Hussein Ali

Ahmed's tiny barbershop, although he wishes you couldn't. You can still hear the Palestinian men sitting on his worn vinyl couches argue politics, although he is sick of their discussions. What you cannot do anymore, according to the 56-year-old barber, is dream. "This is the end for us," he said wistfully, as he churned shaving soap and water in a small metal bowl. "This deal Yasser Arafat cut with the Israelis means that people like me do not exist, that we will never go home. We have been sacrificed."

There are some 3 million Palestinians like Mr. Ahmed living in refugee districts in Syria. Lebanon and Jordan, Many of them left Palestinian villages in what is now Israel at the end of the 1948 war. For many of the refugees, the agreement that brought Palestinian rule to Gaza and Jericho and removed the Israeli soldiers is as welcome as the plague. "The Palestinian refugees are slowly awakening to the fact that neither the Palestine Liberation Organization nor the Israelis are anxious for them to return in large numbers." said a senior Western diplomat, "and for many of these refugees, who have been trapped in camps for decades, this is a painful realization." The failure of the self-rule agreement to address the late of the refugees is seen by many in this sprawling camp of 200,000 people as a betrayal by the Palestinian leadership. For decades, the PLO fought hard to keep the refugee camps from being dismantled. The a festering reminder to the world that the plight of the Palestinians remains unresolved.

But with the self-rule agreement, the political capital of the refugees has diminished. And many say they were the ones to pay the price for Mr. Aralat's deal with Israel.

"When I saw Yasser Arafat sign the agreement with the Israelis in Cairo, I felt the only solution left was his assassination," said Nidil Saadi, 29, a carpenter. "This agreement might be good for the Palestinians in the occupied territories, but we on the outside have been sold

The militant Islamic group Hamas, which opposes the self-rule accord, now has a wide following in the camp, where there are more pictures of Saddam Hussein, the Iraqi leader, in the shop windows than of the PLO chairman.

The status of the 1.5 million Palestinian refugees in Jordan, which is to be determined in future talks, is a principal concern of the Jordanian government.

Senior Jordanian officials say any peace agreement with Israel must include compensation from Israel for the cost of housing the refugees. Jordan currently allocates $300 million a year for the refugees, many of whom are cared for by the United Nations.

But there is a growing realization among many officials and diplomats that most Palestinians here will probably remain.
"The businessmen, who could go back, don't want to risk losing their investments because of the chaos within the Palestinian administration. so they keep their businesses here," a Western diplomat said. "The refugees, even if they were tion of Israel.

Warlords Are a No-Show at Peace Talks or jobs. Most of these Palestinians are going to

The inclusion of the refugees in Jordanian society will further tip the balance of the population in favor of the Palestinians. Of the 4 million people in Jordan, more than 60 percent are of Palestinian origin. The predominance o the Palestinians, especially with the army and most of the government controlled by Jordanians, has always been a source of tension within

The few families with members who have returned to Gaza or Jericho, usually as part of the new Palestinian police force, are often divided about the merits of the agreement.

"These people who want all of Palestine back have to accept the fact that this will never happen," said Halima Mahmoud Abu Shawar, whose son-in-law is in Gaza with the police force. "You just can't make a whole nation

But she was quickly criticized by other family nembers, seated on the floor in their home in the Nasr refugee camp in Amman.

"My brother went to Gaza hecause he is a policeman who was ordered to go," said Ahmed Abdel Rahman Abu Shawar, "He doesn't know about politics. This agreement fails to give us all our land and our rights."

Many refugees were recently encouraged by Mr. Arafat's call for a jihad, or holy war, to liberate Jerusalem. The PLO chief later insisted that the statement was taken out of context, but for his supporters here it was taken as a sign that he would continue to fight for the destruc-

Jewish Protesters Push Gays?

Ceremony Stirs Holocaust Debate

JERUSALEM - A handful of re Jewish protesters shouted and a depushed gay activists at Israel's Ho- y sole locaust Memorial on Monday as & Israel's the first ceremony was held there d for homosexual victims.

About 100 gay activists chanted n the Kaddish mourner's hymn and o k-te other Jewish prayers as the protest- y 11d ers shouted abuse and threw themselves on the floor, which is en-1, graved with the names of Nazi death camps.

The controversy surrounding the 5 ceremony by Israel's main gay 6 rights group touched off a debate 8 about whether the Holocaust about whether the Holocaust should be commemorated as an exclusively Jewish event.

"Quite frankly, I do not think they deserve a separate commemo- 1 ration," said Efraim Zuroff, chairman of the Simon Wiesenthal Center, which tracks Nazi war

A group of 19 rabbis placed a large advertisement in the Jerusalem Post describing such a ceremony as "an abomination "

Yad Vashem, the Holocaust Memorial, put out a statement on Monday that said: "The Department for Commemoration simply registers those who request a ceremony in the Hall of Remembrance. Anyone who wishes to identify with the memory of the Jewish people murdered in the Holocaust is free to do so."

Gay men wore shiny white Jewish kippas or hats with "Gay Pride in Israel 1994" written on them. Activists linked arms as protesters wearing the beards and white prayer shawls characteristic of Orthodox Jews screamed and pushed them. Two protesters said they were Holocaust survivors. "Jews aren't always the only victims," said Jack Gilbert, a Jewish gay activist. "Most of my mother's family was wiped out in the Holo-caust, but I don't feel it takes anything away from Jewish suffering to remember other people suffered Israel has liberal laws on homosexuality, including equal access to the army and anti-discrimination laws. But gay activists say they still meet opposition, particularly from religious sectors.

The Encyclopedia of the Holocaust estimates that about 10,000 were rounded up as homosexuals under Nazi rule and transported to camps, where most died.

Funio Abe entering the Tokyo court for sentencing on Monday.

lifespan of an ambitious mission of "nation-building" that has cost 'A Kind of Blackmail' by Indonesia

By Keith B. Richburg

Washington Post Service
NAIROBI - Somalia's peace talks were once again postponed

Monday after the country's main fending warlords failed to show up.

PARIS - The wife of President François Mitterrand of France accused Indonesian authorities on Monday of exerting "tyrannical pressure" to keep her from attending a conference on East Timor in Manila. Danielle Mitterrand, the president's wife, also described Indonesian behavior as "a kind of black-

Indonesia annexed the former Portuguese territory of East Timor in 1976, a move the United Nations has never recognized. As a result of Indonesian pressure, the Philippines has refused entry to foreign human rights advocates bound for the conference, which is to discuss human rights in

Organizers said they would attempt to conduct the meeting, starting Tuesday, with only local

Mrs. Mitterrand, who heads the human rights group France-Libertes, said at a press conference.

"I don't know what sparked it, but there was a tyrannical pressure on me, on the Philippine government, a kind of blackmail so that I would not go and so that the conference would not take place. Asked why she had decided to stay away, Mrs. Mitterrand answered: "I am not an agitator. I knew that if I went I would be fanning the flames and that is not my role." She has sent the text of a speech to be read in her absence at the conference. Mrs. Mitterrand and Mairead Maguire, the Irish winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, who was expelled when she arrived in Manila during the weekend to attend the conference, called for an end to Western arms sales to Jakarta.

Maria Barroso Soares, the wife of Portugal's president, also canceled plans to attend the Manila meeting.

Holding the Paris news conference with Mrs.
Mitterrand, she denounced Indonesian authorities for "conducting a genocide, a policy of recoloniza-on the eve of a UN Security Count the operation and before the Secu-situation in Somalia has been cil decision on the future of the rity Council voted to shorten the steadily deteriorating since the costly Somalia operation, appeared mandate of the UN mission to just United States and most other costly Somalia operation, appeared to increase the likelihood that the six more weeks. Clinton administration would pre-But Monday's planned talks more than $1.5 billion but which has yielded few results.

"Of course it looks had looks terrible," a senior UN diplo-mat said of delay. "It would have vail in its attempts to cut short the had a positive impact if they had met." he said. The talks, originally scheduled for April but postponed at least four times, were supposed to be preparatory discussions before a full-fledged national reconciliation conference that is supposed to choose a new Somali government and legislature. Somalia has been without any overnment since Mohammed Said Barre fell from power in January 1991 and the country descended into anarchy and rule by warlords and their militias competing for

Diplomats had called these talks the Somali faction leaders' last best chance to reach a compromise and set up a government before the world community finally tired of mandate of the UN mission to just were delayed again after Somalia's two main antagonists, Mohammed Ali Mahdi, the self-styled "interim president," and General Mohammed Farrah Aidid, the strongman of south Mogadishu, never showed

The talks were scheduled to be in Nairobi because the warlords were arguing over the venue for the discussions and the Kenyan capital is considered neutral territory.

On Monday, the UN's acting special representative for Somalia, Lansana Kouyate, left Nairobi and returned to Mogadishu when it became clear the major faction leaders would not be coming. UN officials said Mr. Kouyate would be meeting with Mr. Ali Mahdi and General Aidid to try to secure a new date for the talks, possibly later this week.

UN officials said about four faction leaders did turn up in Nairobi over the weekend. But they said holding the talks would be pointless without the key warlords. Secretary General Butros Butros Ghali

Western comuries withdrew their forces from the peacekeeping mission at the end of March. But Mr. Butros Ghali, in a report to the Security Council last week. said he was still recommending a six-month extension of the mission. at a cost of nearly $500 million more, because otherwise Somalia risked "sliding back into the abyss from which it was barely rescued less than two years ago." The Clinton administration has recommended a short, six-week extension, with the understanding that if the warlords are no closer to a peace accord by then, the operation would be wound down and the remaining 19,000 combat troops steadily withdrawn.

If no reconciliation or positive sign has occurred, the United States will veto all Somali resolutions and the UN will close down in three months, a UN military official from Mogadishu said.

UN military officials in Somalia said they had begun drafting a 133day withdrawal plan for the remaining UN forces, and they said the plan would begin after July 15. has acknowledged that the security

Armies Are Slimming Down

With the end of the Cold War, demobilization is on the march. Around the world troop levels are dropping, and so is military spending. This little-noticed trend, documented in data compiled by the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, offers hope that global military tensions may diminish and that scarce resources can be diverted to more urgent civilian needs. It also raises questions as to whether the United States is reshaping its own military as rapidly as it should to reflect the receding threat.

In 1991, the latest year for which figures are available, the number of troops worldwide totaled 26 million, a drop of 2.7 million. or 10 percent, from 1987. The proportion of the world's population under arms fell to 4.8 per 1,000 from 5.7 over the same period. And the troop levels are still dropping, arms experts believe. A few armies, like China's and India's, are buying more-modern military equipment at fire-sale prices from Russia. But others have put the brakes on military modernization and are making do with older weapons, as indicated by shrinking military budgets and the shriveling world arms market. And even China's army seems to be plowing money into business enterprises instead of military preparedness.

Global arms sales are drying up. Arms exports declined by 62 percent between 1987 and 1991 to an estimated $25.5 billion - a rough measure of the slowing of military modernization since few countries have indigenous arms industries. Total military expenditures worldwide in 1991 were $1.038 trillion, a 14 percent decrease from the peak in 1987 and back to levels not seen since the late 1970s. The steepest declines were in the developed world - nearly 20 percent from 1987 levels. The trend in the developing world, where some two dozen wars are raging was more troubling — spending during the same period actually rose 9 percent to $241.7 billion.

The Red Army experienced one of the sharpest cuts. In 1987, before the collapse of the Berlin Wall, the Soviet Union had 3.9 million under arms. Russia's Defense Ministry now hopes to keep 2.1 million, but Russia's tight budget and unanswered draft calls make that goal unachievable. A proposed increase in defense spending to $29 billion is but a fraction of $356 billion the Soviet Union spent on defense in 1987. The other ex-Soviet republics combined are spending far less than Russia.

Germany is considering a reduction in its armed forces to 300,000, down nearly 40 percent from 495,000 in 1987, even after absorbing East Germany's 173,000 troops. Its 1991 defense budget was $39.5 billion; by comparison the combined West and East German defense budgets totaled $55.7 billion in 1987.

There are exceptions in the developing world, like Taiwan, whose military budget rose by nearly 50 percent, and Pakistan, whose forces swelled 24 percent to 803.000. But in region after region, most armies are slimming down to match shrunken threats.

By comparison, between 1987 and 1991, the United States cut its military budget by 17 percent - a much less dramatic cut than that of its one-time rival, Russia, and less than that of developed countries as a group. The United States is still spending nearly as much as the rest of the world combined. That, the global military balance suggests. is probably too much.

- THE NEW YORK TIMES.

His Foreign Policy Just Keeps Drifting

By Jim Hoagland

question to someone who has attended many of the Clinton administration's most important meetings on foreign policy and national security. The answer came without hesi-tation: "How much of the meeting was not about the meeting."

The official added, after a pause: "And how much Bill Clinton hates making decisions on foreign policy. The only thing he would hate more would be letting someone else make the decisions. That, he won't do."

Even so, Mr. Clinton has embarked on a foreign policy season, delivering commencement addresses that focus on his vision of the world and undertaking two trips to Europe: to commemorate D-Day in June and to attend the Group of Naples in July.
His advisers hope the speeches and the trips will muffle the fusillade of criticism directed at the president in recent weeks by those who have suddenly discovered that Bill Clinton is not a Henry Kissinger nor will he employ one. These aides count on the trips to brighten Mr. Clinton's leadership image.

Bonne chance, monsieur le president.

But Mr. Clinton's advisers may also want to ponder the underlying problems suggested by those spontaneous comments from a Clinton friend about meetings and decision-making. The comments help reveal why the administration's unherald-

WASHINGTON — What sur-prised you most? I put that be raided and why Bosnia, Haiti and other trouble spots erupt in the media with the irregularity and ferocity of gout attacks.

"What gets brought into the meet-ing often has very little to do with the issue under discussion," the official continued. "Past battles won or lost get started agam in the guise of deal-ing with today's subject. Issues are used to form or maintain alliances within the bureaucracy or within the leadership group itself. Little beyond the most immediate issue gets re-solved absent a crisp sense of direction from the president."

Something new? Hardly. It is a description that applies to the difficulties faced by most new adminis-trations, a key foreign policymaker in the Bush administration said when I ran these comments past him. This rock-ribbed Republican recalled the stumbling start of the Reagan presi-dency and said that the Bush team had been blessed to know each other well before taking office.

"If we had had to get to know each other and figure out whose judg-ments and motives to trust in a world without the Cold War, we would have faced many of the same problems," he added. He went on to make what I think is the key point: "But you have to wonder now if this is just a learning curve problem. There are no signs this presidency's grip on foreign affairs is getting more solid as time passes. The same problems seem form and on the same subject. That is the discouraging thing."

I heard similar observations from staunchly pro-American British,

French and German officials on a recent trip to Europe, where the Bosnian crisis has significantly croded American credibility. To be blunt about it, some of America's best friends in Europe have concluded that they cannot work constructively with this administration and are resigned just to endure it. They will not say so publicly. But they no longer bother to hide that attitude in private. The Europeans are accustomed to America asserting its own agenda and muscling them to achieve its goals. They know how to respond to that approach and protect their inter-ests. What leaves them at a loss are the inconsistencies and ourissions of recent U.S. diplomacy on Bosnia. An important example: The Brit-ish and French felt significant pro-gress had been made when the United States agreed to a Geneva conference on Bosnia based on a settlement giving the Serbs 49 percent of Bosnian territory. Barely 24 thours before the conference began, the Europeans discovered that the United States had also given its blessing to a Bosnian-Croat map

The Clinton Combat Fleet

USS Harian County ADVANCED RETREATING LANDING CRAFT.

USS Little Stick

The State Department initially could not explain to Paris or London how this had happened or which commitment was the real one. (It turned out to be the 51-49 division.) "This is either completely ama-teurish or extremely cynical," a se-

that awarded the Serbs only 42 percent of the land.

mor British official said. "The lack of comprehension that now exists between us and Washington is greater than at any time in my experience. Eniopean puzzlement over U.S. intentions will have been deepened by the May 12 debacle of the Senate by the May 12 debacle of the Senate passing two conflicting bills on lifting the arms embargo against Bosnia and the president's qualified opposition to lifting the embargo spelled out in a major foreign policy address at the U.S. Naval Academy on May 25.

Clever stage management of the trips to Europe and some well-delivered speeches fall into the "necessary of the speeches fall into the "necessary of USS Dort Ask, Dort Tell.

USS Loveboat

ered speeches fall into the "neces-sary but not sufficient" category. Even as they polish their foreign policy image, the president and his advisers should be thinking hard about improving the product.

The Washington Past.

Mischief Over Macedonia

The United States did not create the Macedonia problem, but by its sluggish diplomacy it lets a fire spread that could yet ignite a second set of Yugoslav wars, rather than contributing to closing down the ongoing first set. Washington does this mischief by bending excessively to an assertive Greek lobby, thereby stiffening Athens in its dispute with the former Yugoslav republic of Macedonia, which is now a declared state. A more independent policy would let Washington help move both sides toward necessary compromise. The dispute between Athens and what it calls, by the capital's name, "Skopje" arises from Macedonia's grip on a name, flag and constitution that Greece claims are irredentist. Small and weak Macedonia badly overreached in its choice of nationalist symbols and rhetoric. Greece is supposedly a mature country, able to distinguish a short-term political victory from a long-term strategic debacle. But in response it went off the deep end, imposing a crushing economic embargo and opening an effective campaign of political isolation. Throw in multiethnic Macedonia's sharpening internal tensions and you have a recipe for pitching the so-far spared southern Balkans into the northern Balkans' fire.

Washington's role is curious. It has put neary 600 peacekeepers on Macedonia's northern border as a caution to Serbia. This represents a policy of stabilizing Macedonia. At the same time, though it recognizes the "Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia," it does not send an ambassador. This conspicuous default has the effect of destabilizing Macedonia. How is this awkward contradiction to be explained? The result corresponds to the appeals of Greece and its friends. A look at Macedonia on a map tells the real story. The country abuts Serbia, including the inflamed Serbian province of Kosovo, on the north, and Albania, Greece and Bulgaria on its other borders. It could be the fuse which, once lit by, say, an explosion in tightly wound, majority-Albanian Kosovo, could touch off further explosions through the region. Unlit, however, Macedonia also could be the stopper. This is the double potential that American diplomacy has yet to grasp.

Greece seems unfamiliar with the requirement to think in a regional context. The United States is in a position to render Greece a true friend's service - to help it to rise above parochial political concerns and face the urgent requirement for a responsible regional policy.

- THE WASHINGTON POST.

Clinton Should Respond

The sexual harassment lawsuit filed by Paula Jones against President Bill Clinton is a case of first impression - no one has ever brought a civil suit against a sitting president for alleged conduct that occurred before he took office. The court is sure to hear a variety of arguments on why the lawsuit should be thrown out. Unfortunately for the president, every angle that has been suggested so far has flaws. The president's advisers have put forward a theory that the chief executive is immune from civil suits or at the very least entitled to have litigation postponed until he leaves office. They cite a 1982 Supreme Court ruling that accorded President Richard Nixon this protection. But that case is easily distinguished because it was limited to suits arising out of a president's official acts, in that case Mr. Nixon's firing of the whistle-blower Ernest Fitzgerald. Such an immunity is similar to the kind enjoyed by legislators and judges who cannot be sued for actions taken in their official capacity. The allegations against Mr. Clinton arose out of conduct that occurred long before he became president and certainly involved no actions that were part of his official duties. The president's lawyers may well ask a judge to make the leap from protecting official acts to shielding private ones, but such a finding would be a substantial extension of the Nixon v. Fitzgerald doctrine. The Harvard professor Laurence Tribe has another theory that is even more imaginative. He cites a statute that protects military personnel on active duty from civil suits and argues that since the president is commander in chief of the armed forces he is included in the protected group. The statute mentions no civilians and was clearly intended to cover those whose ability to defend lawsuits is severely hampered by the nature of military service. In addition to the immunity defense, Mr. Clinton's attorneys may move to dismiss on other grounds, questioning, for example, Paula Jones's use of an old civil rights statute to support a legal action that should have been brought under the equal employment laws but on these laws the statute of limitations had run out. Others will question the plaintiff: motives, point to her partisan supporters and complain that she waited until the last minute to file this suit. But probably none of these objections will carry weight in court. It is likely that motions to dismiss will fail. But extended

The prospect of a public airing of these charges — true or not — is surely troubling for Mr. Clinton and for a lot of people who have an interest in the well-being of his presidency. But the alternative of granting a single individual special immunity from civil suit in these circumstances is not a good idea. Consider the precedent that would be set: Divorce actions could be delayed, child custody disputes postponed for years, damage claims ranging from auto accidents to industrial pollution could be shelved leaving victims in each case without remedies for years.

has the obligation to respond

Other Comment

ber of the cultural forces that now threaten to overwhelm him. He is a member of the babyboom generation that brought anti-authority sentiments into the mainstream. He had the support of many groups that favor an expansion of the sorts of legal rights and remedies Paula Jones now employs. He may resent the way he is now treated like just another show-biz figure, but he once courted the comparisons, from the way he played the sax to his nickname, "Elvis."

Steven D. Stark, a commentator on National Public Radio, in the Los Angeles Times.

Like every citizen who finds himself in legal dispute, the president must defend himself in court. Frivolous cases and claims arising out of his office can be dismissed. His schedule can be accommodated and demands on his time minimized. But individuals with private claims have a right to proceed, and he

THE WASHINGTON POST.

He Courted the Comparisons

Bill Clinton came to office embodying a num-

International Herald Tribune ESTABLISHED 1887 KATHARINE GRAHAM, ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER

RICHARD McCLEAN, Publisher & Chief Executive JOHN VINOCUR, Executive Editor & Vice President

• WALTER WELLS, News Editor • SAMUEL ABT, KATHERINE KNORR and CHARLES MITCHELMORE, Deputy Editors . CARL GEWIRTZ, Associate Editor ROBERT J. DONAHUE, Editor of the Editorial Pages
 IONATHAN GAGE, Business and Finance Editor RENE BONDY, Derna, Publisher JAMES McLEOD, Advertising Director IUANTTA L CASPARL International Development Director • ROBERT FARRE, Circulation Director, Europe

Directeur de la Publication: Richard D. Simmons Directeur Adjunt de la Publication: Katharine P. Darrow

International Herald Tribune, 181 Avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly-sur-Seine, France. Tel.: (1) 46:37.93.00. Fax: Circ., 46:37.06.51; Adv., 46:37.52.12. Internet: BHT@curokom.ie Tel.: (1) 46.37.93.07. Fax: Circ., 46.37.06.51; Adv., 46.37.52.12. Internet: IHT@curokom.ie

Editor for Asa; Michael Richardson. 5 Comertuar Rd. Singapore USII. Tel. (65) 472-1788. Fax: (55) 274-23.04

Mng. Dir. Asin, Rolf D. Knonepuhl. 50 Gluscester Rd. Hong Kong. Tel. 852-922-1788. Fax: (852-922-1790.

Gen. Mer. German. T. Schiter. Friedrichen. 15. (6832) Frindfurdt. Tel. (104) 72.67-55. Fax: (104) 72.73-10

Pres.U.S. Michael Comm. 850 Third Are., New York, NY. 10022. Tel. (212) 752-3890. Fax: (212) 755-8785

U.K. Advertiging Office: 63 Long Acre., London WC2. Tel. (071) 836-4802. Fax: (071) 240-2254.

S.A. on capital de 1.201-000 F. RCS. Nanterre B. 732021126. Commission Partiaire No., 61337

1944. International Herodd Tribane. All rights reserved. ISSN. (1244-7052.)

we re

Consider This: A Broader Confederation to Pacify the Balkans If a confederation were created By Mihajlo Mihajlov and Max Singer republic and a minority in one or more other parts of the country (ex-cept Hungarians and Turks, who would not be a majority anywhere,

W ASHINGTON — Massacres in Bosnia are only the early con-sequences of dividing Yugoslavia (the mother of all ethnically mixed countries) into smaller, more nearly "pure" states. "Ethnic cleansing" in Bosnia and Croatia will be followed by ethnic cleansing in Kosovo, Macedonia and elsewhere; and there will be new wars, which may well expand beyond Yugoslavia.

The only way to end the tragedy is to go in the opposite direction — unit-ing not dividing, making a bigger, more mixed country: a Balkan confed-eration that includes not only former Yugoslavia but Albania and Bulgaria.

The first reaction to this suggestion from people who have been in the Balkans is a polite smile or derisive laughter. Southeastern Europe may be the part of the world with the highest proportion of people who would rather take out their neighbor's eye than keep their own.

But that is not the whole story.

These people have lived mixed together for centuries, mostly in peace, and intermarriages are common. While most of the time an essential element of keeping the peace has been imperial power - Austrian, Turkish, Commusuitable substitute for imperial power can be constructed.

The real response, then, is not to consider the idea a joke but, rather, to ask a question: How bad must it get before the great democracies consider what is necessary to give a Balkan confederation a chance of success? Now, Western governments are trying to end the crisis with evasive solutions for Bosnia that are clearly inadequate. So far, Albania and Bulgaria have not felt the effects of watching Albanian and Macedonian-Bulgarian communities destroyed in Yugoslavia. But what to do when the crisis worsens, as it will?

Judging whether a larger confederation would ever become the best available alternative requires looking at each stage of the problem separately: Could a suitable constitution be agreed upon by any set of representatives of each national community? If so, could it get enough support in each country, and could it overcome any government resistance? If it were installed, could it survive? A confederation that brings peace would succeed even if it did not have a strong central government, democracy, an integrated economy or social justice. Those can come later. The ancient lesson such a confederation would build on is that it is not so bad to be a minority in a country where everybody is a minority. It is safe to be a minority in a province if the majority group in your province is itself a minority in another province of the same country, and there is an overall government with a stake in peace and unity. A Balkan confederation, with its capital in the ancient, mixed city of Sarajevo, would have about 10 million Serbs, 8 million Bulgarians, 5 million Albanians (most of them Bosnian Muslims, 1.5 million Mac-of Montenegrins and Hungarians, and almost as many Turkish Muslims -- plus 1.5 million Slovenians if Slovenia decided to be a part of it. But it is a mistake only to consider national groups. In most recent Yugoslav censuses, nearly 10 percent of the people gave their nationality as "Yubecause they were from mixed marriages, or immigrants, or did not want to identify with a nation-ality group. The millions of people who are not clearly Serbs or Croats or Muslims can only find a clear national edonians (whom many consider to be Bulgarians), about a half million each identity in a larger unit such as Yugoslavia or a confederation.

A Balkan confederation would have enough Bulgarians and Albanians to balance the Serbs, and within the confederation each national group would be a majority in one Serbian taste for a grander role.

The first reaction to this suggestion is often a polite smile. But must we stand aside as the chaos spreads? Macedonians, for whom they feel responsibility. Furthermore, Bulgaria has always seen itself as an integral part of the Balkan region with the and Slovenians, who would not have a substantial minority anywhere). Albania would benefit from joining because that is a way, short of sovo and Macedonia who are already other southern Slav peoples. Although joining a Balkan confederation would mean that Albania and Bulgaria would lose their small separate sovereignties, and thus their independent foreign policy responsibilities, they would keep their president, ent etc. a identity and protection as part of a country large enough, and with enough historical importance, to be a substantial member of Europe.

The Croats and Bosnian Muslims would gain from the creation of a confederation because most of them could go home to their traditional areas without being dominated or killed by the Serbs. And the Croats would again be united in a single country and would have a chance of having Krajina restored to Croatia. Although the more nationalistic Serbs would oppose the federation, many would support it. It would, after all, mean that all Serbs would be living in the same country and that Serbs would not be isolated from other groups. Further, by giving up some of what has been gained, they would become the largest group in a Balkan confederation — which appeals to a the armies of the current governments would be disbanded, or downgraded to provincial militias with their heavy weapons transferred to a new federal army. The army, with officers and men from all national groups, would be larger and better armed than any of the constituent republics. It would have the only air force in the country.

war, to protect the Albanians of Ko-The federal government would oppressed and in danger of being slaughtered. The Bulgarians would gain by peacefully protecting the have patronage and prestige and symbols of sovereignty to support its efforts to maintain unity. No national group would have enough force to conquer or dominate any other; their rivalries would have to be expressed in the political arena.

A confederation would be an incalculable benefit not only to the warwracked region, but to Romania, Moldova, Ukraine and other ethnically mixed countries and to the democracies of Western Europe.

If the great democracies come to believe that a Balkan confederation offers the best hope of a solution to the tragedies started by the dissolution of Yugoslavia, they will not be able to impose such a solution. It must come primarily from a political process constituent republics. But this will not happen without outside help. The Western democracies could put the idea of confederation on the agenda for Balkan leaders and peoples. A group could be convened that is both representative enough and positive enough about the possibility of confederation to write a specific proposal. The West might be able to push the governments to administer a reasonably fair plebiscite on the issue.

It probably has enough carrots and sticks to gain the support of the governments of Albania and Bulgaria.

The big question is Serbia. The current government would not want to give up what it has taken with so much blood. But there are reasons it would be easier to compel Serbia to accept a confederation than it would be to stop or prevent its aggression in Bosnia, Croatia, Kosovo and Macedonia. The proposal of a Balkan confederation would provide a way for Serbs to oppose the dictator Slobodan Milosevic and the war without having to support Croats or Muslims or Albanians or foreigners against Serbia. From 200,000 to 300,000 young Serbs have left because they are unwilling to fight for Mr. Milose-vic's nationalist policy. They and their families would be strong supporters of confederation.

Today, the democrats in Croatia cannot help the democrats in Serbia, or vice versa; in a federation, the nonnational and pro-democratic minorities in each republic would become an important new support for the federal government.

Even if the use of force against the Serbian government is required to install a Balkan confederation, once established it is likely to be able to sustain itself without further help. If a major fraction of Serbs (say 40 percent) voted in favor, a confederation could create a federal army composed of all nationalities, including Series.

For President Bill Clinton, it would be easier to get domestic political support for a policy of using force to help create a Balkan confederation, than to prevent Serbs from committing aggression against Cro-afia or Bosman "sale havens."

Of course a Balkan federal government would need political skill - and good luck - to prevent internal divisions from making the federal army as useless as the Lebanese army has been at times. But such hopeless divisions are by no means inevitable. In any case, harmony or affection is not required, merely a determination to find a way to live together in peace as was once imposed on the Balkans by Anstrians, Turks and Communists.

Mr. Mihajlov, born in Yugoslavia and now a U.S. citizen, writes a cohumn in Borba, the Belgrade daily. Mr. Sing-er, a founder of the Hudson Institute, is co-author of "The Real World Order: Zones of Peace/Zones of Turmoil." They contributed this comment to The Washington Post.

Hope for Palestinians and Israelis, but Also a Long Road Ahead

T ERUSALEM — Arab self-rule in Jericho and Gaza, the Palestinians first step on the road to national independence, comes only after years of occupation, with all its violence and indignities, frustrations and fury. Not only did those years stiffen Palestinian determination to shake off the Israeli yoke, but the occupation became a growing moral, political and security burden for Israel It is not surprising now that both sides feel relief. But the new hope is mixed with anxiety, linked to uncertainty over the major challenges ahead. For Palestinians, the four biggest challenges are: to organize a functioning administration; to mobi-lize financial resources and technical expertise; to maintain internal law and order; and to prevent acts of violence aimed at Israel.

Israel's readiness to proceed with full implementation of the agreement will depend on the performance of the autonomy administration, particularly in preventing hostile acts. The need to rein in extremists will severely test the Palestinian authorities. Progress will also rely on the determination of the Israeli government to resist its own militant opposition. The hard core of this opposition, mired in mysticism or false messia-nism, labors under the illusion that Israel can rule forever over 1.5 million discontented Palestinians. The vocal power of these militants, unmatched by real political and physical strength, resounds more in the media than in the minds of most Israelis. Still, the government does not underestimate the danger; it is determined to restrain the extremists by force of law. With the completion of the military pullout from Jericho and Gaza and the transfer of civilian administration to local authorities, the next step is the holding of elections in the

By Gideon Rafael

West Bank and Gaza to set up a of constant friction, and whether it legitimate Palestinian administrative would be safer and more advantaauthority, empowered to run the affairs of the territories and to engage in negotiation with Israel on the determination of their final status. But several goals must be met first.

On the Arab side, these include: the election of a pro-peace administra-tion pledged to implement the principles of the Osio declaration; a marked improvement in social and economic conditions; strict observance of the rights and duties undertaken by the parties to the agreements; a supportive attitude by neighboring Arab states; benevolent assistance by the United States and its partners; and a cessation of fears, ideological disputes and violence.

On Israel's part, the requirements include: pursuance of policies designed to accelerate the process, avoiding legalistic squabbling, cooperation in areas of munal interest, such as a continued regulated access of Palestinians to the Israel labor market; rede-ployment of Israeli forces in accorance with the Oslo accord; and control of extremist elements trying to interfere with the government's contractual undertakings.

The determination of the final status of the territories, to be completed within five years, will require internal clarification of Israel's position on the territorial and constitutional conliguration of the territories; the future of the settlements; and the position of Arab inhabitants in united Jerusalem, Israel's capital.
It would be advisable for Israel to clarify the ultimate location of its eastern boundary, as well as its constitutional preference for the emerging Palestinian entity. It should consider whether a sovereign Palestinian state would be a source of stability or geous for all concerned to support the formation of an autonomous Palestinian region enjoying all the prerog-atives of independence, except de-fense and foreign affairs, linked in a federation with Jordan and Israel. The future of the settlements in the territories will depend on whether settlers want to stay put under Palestinian jurisdiction or prefer to move into enclaves in the autonomy zone or to resettle within Israel.

The Oslo and Cairo agreements call for talks on Jerusalem's status to begin three years after the start of implemen tation. Given Israel's firm determination to retain undivided Jerusalem as its capital and the Arab resolve to gain sovereign control over the Islamic holy shrines and the Arab-inhabited east-ern part of the city, Jerusalem looks like the toughest outstanding question and should be placed at the bottom of the agenda for negotiations. Yasser Arafat's recent call for a jihad to take Jerusalem, even if he later issued a "clarification," was nonetheless a setback to prospects for a rational discussion of the issue. Jerusalem, cradie of the Hebrew nation and the spiritual focus of the Jewish people, had never in its millenarian history been the capital of an Arab state. Safeguards for the protection of and access to the holy places of Islam and Christianity, as well as the free functioning of their religious institutions, can be ensured by agreement. Israel and the states committed to the peaceful settlement of the conflict are watching intensely, and with sym-pathy, as the Palestinian people take their first steps on the road to self-rule. All through history the Palestin-ians had been subjected to foreign rule — Turkish, British, Jordanian and Israeli in this century alone. No wonder their leadership has had difficulty moving forward.

If necessary, Israel will offer a helping hand, provided that the internal controversies of the Palestinians do not give way to acts of hostility.

The final settlement of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict will depend on the nature and direction of Palestinian policy and performance: Israel's flexibility and agility in moving more quickly toward agreed objectives; and support from outside parties in building bridges of confidence.

The overall settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict requires that peace ne-gotiations proceed concurrently on all

Palestinians and Israel will probably pass through three stages: first, sepa-ration by a clear delineation of the borders recognized by both; then an extension of cooperation; and eventually, a form of association within a wider, perhaps confederal, framework

The writer is a former director-gen. eral of the Israel Foreign Ministry and former ambassador to the United Nations. He contributed this comment to the International Herald Tribune

IN OUR PAGES: 100, 75 AND 50 YEARS AGO

1894: Bulgaria in Crisis PARIS - Last week the attention of Europe was directed to events in Servia. This week it is the turn of Bulgaria. The sudden dismissal of M. Stambouloff almost resembles a coup dEtat, and two such events in the Balkan Peninsula have much significance. This is the impression among political men in all the European capitals. In each country, however, great reliance is placed on the general desire for peace, and on the reluctance of its neighbors to go to war. Better guarantees could scarcely be found. Nevertheless, it should not be forgotten that for many years past M. Stambouloff has been at one and the same time the stimulant and the anodyne of a nation always ready for battle, and that it is not easy to foresee what course Bulgaria may pursue.

1919: Wilson in France

cemetery of Suresnes yesterday after-noon [May 30], in the course of one of the most impressive and remarkable speeches of his career, paid solemn tribute to the American troops who fell in the war. The ceremony was a in the war. The ceremony was a unique observance of Memorial Day in the history of the United States. The President of the United States. was on foreign but friendly soil, paying tribute in the name of all Ameri-cans to their fellow countrymen who have died in the great war.

1944: Not a New League

WASHINGTON — [From our New York edition:] Secretary of State Cordell Hull extended invitations corocal Education invitations today [May 30] to the governments of Great Britain, Russia and China to send representatives to the United States for informal conversations on formation of an international orgamzation to maintain post-war se-curity, which, President Roosevelt PARIS - President Wilson, standing said later, would not take the form in the midst of America's dead in the of the League of Nations.

هكذاً من الأصل

OPINION

On the $100,000 Profit, Time to Find the 'Loser'

By William Safire

WASHINGTON - Bit by exeruci- on Merriam-Webster's Third Unating bit, like an adhesive being pulled off an old wound, the cover story about the Clintons' arrazing, one-year 10,000 percent "profit" in the commodities markets is being peeled away.

With each disclosure of blatantly preferential treatment and credit improperly extended, of trades made in you, through an untraceable source, and their behalf with little or perhaps no Clinton input, and of records strangely missing for one in five key transac- your government-regulated enterprises. tions - it becomes harder for the Clintons and their apologists to maintain the fiction that the linancial bonanza had anything to do with business judgment or even luck Common sense suggests that a person or persons unknown, possibly acting through third parties, determined that the new governor of Arkansas and his wife would be the recipient of almost exactly $100,000 in trading "profits" on the wildly risky commodities markets. Wouldn't a hidden friend in need later have a substantial call on the Clintons?

If my theory is correct, and as information continues to be developed to show the passivity of the Clinton participation, the directing of a huge bundle of money into the Clinton pocket could be classified under a word that has only been whispered in connection with this deal: bribery, in its most modern form. I do not use the term in its narrow abridged: "a price, reward, gift or favor bestowed or promised with a view to pervert the judgment or corrupt the conduct esp. of a person in a position of trust (as a public official),"

That's the way the subtle new bribery works: Make somebody beholden to somewhere down the line the public official is likely to smile kindly on one of

In the Clinton case of sudden wealth through commodity trading, however, there is this wrinkle; When somebody wins $100,000 in this game, it means that others lose exactly that much, Just as the winners dutifully declare the profits on their tax return, the losers declare their losses — and thereby reduce their tax liability.

The winning Clintons, slipping past the requirement to go into detail, report-ed a net income of $72,000 from commodity trading on their 1979 return. Their statement, which does not label this income the gift that I think it is, should not worry them. Even if it was a gift, reward or favor, they are in the clear: The six-year statute of limitations on Section 7206 of the Internal Revenue Code - about willful false statements on a tax return — ran out long ago.

But the person or persons unknown who "lost" this money, if they did so legal sense, requiring a specific quid deliberately by allocating the loss "leg" pro quo. Rather, I hase my definition of a trade to themselves (or to anyone tute tax fraud.

'Cattle futures is where it's at! I just put all our savings in cattle futures!'

in what I suspect is a conspiracy), might have a problem if anybody be-gan poking around in old records or taking testimony under oath.

That is because they probably de-ducted their losses on their own tax returns, reducing the amount they owed the IRS. According to a source familiar with that service, who looks with dismay at the see-no-evil agents at the Little Rock office, that trick of sharing with Uncle Sam the cost of making the winners rich might consti-

"Section 6663, the fraud penalty provision, has no statute of limitations," he or she informs me, "You could prosecute for an offense clear back to 1913, when income taxes began."

motives behind the transfer of a bo-nanza to the Clintons — the nest egg underneath the Whitewater hen would be for the special counsel Robert Fiske to call Clinton advisers and brokers, including their clients as well as those behind the Clintons' small account at Stephens Inc., before one of his grand juries.

dent counsel is sticking to his charter rather than follow where the trail leads. If he won't investigate, who will? Last week, a House-Senate conference finally agreed on an Independent Counsel Act; the Senate promptly confirmed it, and the House final action is scheduled this week. President Clinton

If the Fiske force continues to flinch, a truly independent, court-ap-pointed counsel would be better suited to getting the whole truth about the $100,000 "profit."

Thus, the way to discover possible cannot avoid signing it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Standing Between Giants

Regarding "Germany and Russia Are Getting Together" (Opinion, May 17) by Jim Hoagland:

While accepting overall the analysis of Mr. Hoagland, I take little comfort from a lessening of American power in European affairs. I strongly believe that American leadership must be enhanced to achieve a balance between Germany and Russia.

Germany is seeking American involvement in the shaping of Europe's future because American foreign policy lacks direction. Indeed, many U.S. senators have voiced misgivings over the Clinton administration policy toward Russia.

I have a dream of a strong America

I have a dream of a strong America that is clearly in control of the situation. I have a dream of America standing right in the middle of the two European giants. I have a dream of America showing determination and leadership and bers do not necessarily have cause to suspect the motives of Germans and Russians in establishing their new dia-logue. But I also believe that America just be involved, not just because its friends are kindly extending an invitation to participate, but because it is profoundly in the national interest.

It is good to hear that there is a strong Bonn-Washington partnership. It is interesting to note that there is a new dynamic at work in the Bonn-Moscow conversations. But let me ask one simple question: Where does America stand in all of this?

CHRISTIAN D. DE FOULOY.

Risky 'Equidistance'

Part of the cause of the never-ending quality of the war in Bosnia-Herzegovina lies in the excessive legalism of internot just watching events unfold.

I agree with Mr. Hoagland that the United States and other NATO memurates and other NATO memurates.

United Nations to quickly accept its bid for independence, hoping that its inter-national recognition would stave off the looming Yugoslav Army aggression.
In the absence of international recognition, and due to its lack of firepower, Croatia could not put up credible deterrence against Yngoslav, i.e. Serbian, territorial appetites. Croatia had to wait six long months before it was finally recognized by the European Community, and several more months before it joined the UN club.

Meanwhile, it had lost 25 percent of its territory to the invading Serb-dominated Yugoslav Army, and continues to shoulder a burden of over 500,000 refugees and displaced people.

In order to explain away its blatant aggression, the Serb-dominated Yugoslav Army elegantly described its onslaught as a "necessary procedure to punish Croat, CIA-sponsored fascist outlaws." Unfortunately, these widespread myths still abound in Serbia.

It must be noted that a large number alike. of Croatian officials have an anti-fascist and democratic background and are resolutely opposed to all types of totalitarian temptations. It is, indeed, remarkable to observe the proliferation of different political parties and media openness in a war-threatened Croatia.

have not been able to find a solution for the Serb-occupied territories in Croatia, let alone put an end to the carnage in neighboring Bosnia-Herzegovina. Today, international actors and some media representatives seem to be running out of formulas on how to end this conflict in the heart of Europe.

Over the last two years, the United Nations and other international actors

Some foreign politicians and jour-nalists now resort to the self-serving cliché that the chaos in Bosnia-Herzegovina is inherent to the "tribal" and "religious" history of the warring Balkan peoples. When this quasi-racist argument fails to hold ground, the guilt for the ongoing killings is then attributed to the Serbs, Croats and Muslims

The legal options for Croatia and neighboring, war-torn Bosnia-Herzegovina have been difficult since the day of Serbian aggression. The international community has constantly pushed the Bosnian Muslims and Croats to negotiate with the invading Serbs, thus inadvertently providing legitimacy to the Serbian land grab.

This exercise in international "legal equidistance," while seriously crippling the credibility of the United Nations, risks sparking a much wider war TOMISLAY SUNIC.

Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Zagreb, Croatia.

Letters intended for publication should be addressed "Letters to the Editor" and contain the writer's signature, name and full address. Letters should be brief and are subject to editing. We cannot be responsible for the return of unsolicited manuscripts.

A Plywood Force at Calais, And Phony Radio Chatter

By Roy Godson

WASHINGTON — In the days ahead we will celebrate the spectacular achievements, and honor the tremendous sacrifice, of D-Day -June 6, 1944. But the retelling of the massive invasion — involving 5,000 ships, 20,000 vehicles and more than 150,000 soldiers on June 6 alone - will be incomplete if we do not recall that D-Day's success was made possible by a counterintelligence operation so well conceived and coordinated that it remains a standard of excellence.

1944 NORMANDY 1994

Double agents, the breaking of German codes, and elaborate deception schemes — all were vital to the success of D-Day. It is the stuff of spy novels, only in this case it was very real.

To start, British security forces were remarkably successful in detecting German spies sent to infiltrate the United Kingdom. Some were hanged, some imprisoned, but a number were turned into double agents by MI5. British counterintelligence.

Through them, the Allies learned what Nazi intelligence wanted to know and, from this, inferred Nazi strategic designs. They also became part of an elaborate network of real and fictitious spies (the "Double Cross System") that was used to feed false and misleading intelligence back to Berlin, including supposed plans and preparations for the Allied invasion of France.

A second, critical element was the British ability to intercept and decode much of Nazi military, diplomatic and intelligence communications. With assistance from Polish and French intelligence before the war and the help of German security officials who refused to believe that their codes had been broken, British cryptologists managed to crack "Enigma," the German's sophisticated electromechanical enciphering machine. The decoded German messages, known as "Ultra," became the most closely guarded secret of the war. With double agents in place, and Enigma broken, the structure was in place for a grand deception. The Allies had two goals: to mask the initial as-sault at Normandy and to buy time to gain a foothold in coastal France. The ruse they came up with was the linchpin of the invasion strategy.

First, they had to convince Hitler that the invasion would not take place at Normandy but to the north at Pas de Calais. Calais is at the narrowest part of the English Channel, and Hitler believed the Allies would strike there. In the months leading up to D-Day, what appeared to be an enormous Allied buildup was deployed across from Calais in England. German reconnaissance planes spied this assemblage of

JUNE

continued with the D-Day

assault and the Allied

To commemorate these dramatic days, we will reproduce the seven front pages from the New York Herald Tribune which chronicled the first week of advance into Normandy.

tanks, barges and aircraft. They did not, however, detect that most were "he made of plywood, paint and tarpaulin. Nor, because of artful Allied security practices, did they detect the building of the man-made "harbors" intended for use at the harborless Normandy beaches. And finally, though German intelligence intercepted Allied radio communications, it was the phony chatter of a nonexistent army, over 1 a which a very real U.S. Army general, George Patton, presided.

Because of Ultra, the Allies knew that Hitler had swallowed the bait. But it was not enough simply to shield the June 6 assault. Success depended on convincing Hitler that Normandy was a feint to mask will the "real" assault at Calais. The Allies made a bold gambit. They provided the Germans advance notice of the Normandy invasion. A British double agent, Juan Pujol Garcia, code-named "Garbo," tipped his German handlers of the landing hours before the first wave of men and equipment hit the beach.

Too late to do the Germans any good, Garbo's warning cemented his creden-tials as a top spy, setting the stage for a more critical step in the deception effort. By June 9, 1944, the German generals were clamoring for reinforcements at Normandy. Hitler initially complied. But then Garbo urgently reported that all of his "agents" — fictitious creations of British counterintelligence - were convinced that Normandy was a diver-sion. The real strike, Garbo insisted, would still occur at Calais.

Hitler read Garbo's cable and rescinded the order to reinforce Normandy. For critical weeks after D-Day, the Führer continued to hold in reserve more than a quarter-million German soldiers awaiting the much-anticipated attack at Calais.

So what is the lesson to be drawn from D-Day for today?

At a minimum, it challenges the notion, perpetuated not long ago in a newspaper editorial, that "spy wars are a sideshow of passionate interest to the actors, but of marginal significance for national policy."

More broadly, the brilliance of Allied countermtelligence strategists, analysts and operators involved in planning D-Day is a reminder that governments that take countenntelligence seriously hold an advantage, sometimes a crucial advantage, over states that do not.

This will be true as long as states have adversaries, and each has an interest in masking its true intentions and capabilities from the other.

The writer is a professor of government at Georgetown University and coordinator of the Washington-based Consortium for the Study of Intelligence. He contributed this comment to the International Herald Tribune,

BOOKS

LEONARD BERNSTEIN

By Humphrey Burton. Illustrated. 594 pages. $25. New York: Doubleday.

Reviewed by Bernard Holland

O NE of my last experiences of Leonard Bernstein was a per-formance of the "New World" Symphony at Avery Fisher Hall in 1986. In the famous slow movement, Dvorák's orchestra sings a lovely made-up folk tune, a melody later parlayed into "Going Home and into a place in musical lore. It is a simple song, Berustein made it so much for music, but so colored Americans or of Jews, the Vienna Bernstein and his life for 30 years, an anguished lament in a perforare Bernstein's magnificent Philharmonic worshiped Leonard Although he carefully depicts mance so glacially slow as to take achievements by his monstrous the breath away. It was brillian: conducting sustaining a powerful mood at an impossible tempo. through Humphrey Burton's "Leonard Bernstein," the new and some what official biography of the American musician, who died in 1990, Burton is dutifully quoting critics of Bernstein's 1973 Norton Lectures at Harvard, and one is the writer Michael Steinberg, who regrets Bernstein's "fatal gift of processes Bernstein's "fatal gift of processes Bernstein's "fatal gift of processes and the composed for Broadstein binner source that feel his hungers.

As Burton's year-by-year, often more galling for his ego when once appeared scantily clad on the beaches of Ipanema and was recognized by no one. In his bisex-ual private life, in his social and political passions and in his bouts with food, drink and pills, Bernstein's "fatal gift of prochameters are cognized that feel his hungers.

As Burton's year-by-year, often more galling for his ego when once appeared scantily clad on the beaches of Ipanema and was recognized by no one. In his bisex-ual private life, in his social and political passions and in his bouts with food, drink and pills, Bernstein's "fatal gift of prochameters are cognized that feel his hungers.

Bernstein's frenetic embrace of popular and classical cultures was with food, drink and pills, Bernstein's "fatal gift of prochameters are prochameters and the more galling for his ego when the once appeared scantily clad on the beaches of Ipanema and was recognized by no one. In his bouts wail private life, in his social and political passions and in his bouts wail of a pop star, which made it all the more galling for his ego when the once appeared scantily clad on the beaches of Ipanema and was recognized by no one. In his bisex, with for example, is shown blaming a heavy conducting schedule for his waining reality to the candor, Bernstein's water of a pop star, which made it all the more galling for his ego when the once appeared scantily clad on the beaches of Ipanema and was recognized by no one. In his bouts waining reality to be compared scantily clad on the beaches of Ipanema and was recognized by no on jecting himself rather than the topic at hand." Here was my "New World" as well: a performance less about the soul of Antonin Dvorák about the soul of Antonin Dvorák than the soul of Leonard Bernstein.

This may seem a negative way to introduce the life of a way about the soul of Leonard Bernstein.

This may seem a negative way to introduce the life of a way who did not be soul of Leonard Bernstein.

The soul of Antonin Dvorák the life of a way who did not be soul of Leonard Bernstein.

The soul of Antonin Dvorák the life of a way who did not be soul of Leonard Bernstein.

This may be soul of Antonin Dvorák the life of a way who did not be soul of Antonin Dvorák the life of the life introduce the life of a man who did

By Robert Byrne

VISWANATHAN ANAND tri-umphed in the Melody Amber Tournament in Monaco. The high quality of the play can be seen in Anand's defeat of Judit Polgar in their blindfold-quick game in

The sophisticated players of today know that when they set up a Scheveningen Variation Sicilian Defense with 5...d6, they are likely Round 1.

in international stocks, is reading "Maus," by Art Spiegelman.
"He has increased the under-standing of the Holocaust by this extraordinary device of drawing its participants as cats and mice, thus adding an incredible dimension to the way human beings behave." (Lawrence Malkin, 1HT) way, the opera house and the his faults and virtues indivisible. concert stage. He played the piano.

He conducted. He was a master of television and an eloquent explainnies of Mahler. Why? One reason Bernstein, Israel thought him a poevery aspect of life was awesome, als were chaotic, but this profes- marriage to Felicia Montealegre, mind three quarters of the way person from the music, we fail to through Humphrey Burton's "Leonard Bernstein," the new and someard Bernstein," the new and somethat fed his hungers.

loved him dearly. Bernstein had the aura of a pop star, which made it all the more galling for his ego when best the candor, Bernstein's

In a city not known for its love of son is equally clear. This was music

She tried 24,...Be7, but after 25

26...Qb6, there could have followed written by a conductor for conductors, and its mammoth complications were soluble only by a charismatic leader operating at center stage. That kind of hunger for attention follows Bernstein's life from his education at Harvard, his immersion in the American musical and his spectacular triumphs as a symphonic conductor to his stubbornly fought physical and creative decline. lived out amid splendid affluence. Burton, a British television and film director, has worked hard to be objective, but he basn't a chance. He has the good sense to include unpleasant facts, but hagiography is in the air. He followed Bernstein's successes and failures. need for self-promotion that one is litical asset. During his years at the his youthful homosexual exploits compelled to do so. His appetite for New York Philharmonic, rehears- and the joys and sorrows of his "Going Home" popped into my and if we attempt to separate the sionally callused bunch of players he asks few hard questions. The > the question must be asked. Burton's biography is valuable for its wide access to Bernstein's papers. It is also a kind of hymn. The two facts

Leonard Bernstein came to music at a time when American composers were still refining away their natural rambunctiousness, suppressing a surreptitious love of gaudy colors and loud noise, American ciassical music would have a native flavor but adhere to European Qh5 Kf8, Anand cat a path into the black position with 26 Bb6! On power of popular music. He made our bad taste beautiful. In two 27. Ne5 Kg8 28 Qf7 Kh7 29 Ng4
27 Ne5 Kg8 28 Qf7 Kh7 29 Ng4
Qb7 30 Ne5! Qf3 (30...Be5 31 Nf6 Kh6 leads to 32 Qh5 mate) 31 Be2
Qh3 32 Qe7 fg 33 Qg5, with annihiturned the accepted aesthetics of classical music on its ear. classical music on its ear.

If Leonard Bernstein's later music Polgar hung on with 26...Qb8 27 is less interesting, if his absurd wag-Bc5! Bc5 28 Rd8 Ke7 29 Qe8 Kf6 gles and leaps on the conductor's 30 Nc5 Qc7, but after 31 Qf8 Qf7 podium drove us mad, if his private 32 Od6 e4 33 Qd4 Ke7 34 Ne5 Qh5, adventures caused the occasional Anand delivered the lethal blow shudder, there is "West Side Story," with 35 Rg8!, threatening 36 Qd8 mate. After the desperate 35...Bb7 which helped give the country a strong and joyous voice of its own.

> Bernard Holland is on the staff of The New York Times.

N

lt's never been easier to subscribe and save. Just call toll-free:

0 800 2703

SEVEN DAYS THAT CHANGED THE WORLD The historic week started with the fall of Rome and

Loses Small in Channel Crossing Loses Small in Channel Crossing

Herald - Englishing G.C.

Invader- Make Modest Advances

Repel All Nazi Counter-Attacks,

Planes Hammer Foe - Airfields

E TO ME

Herald and Tribune Una

Invasion On Allies Land in France

As Planes and Ships Blast Coast:

Montgomery Leads the Advance

nipomery Leads the Advance

Don't miss the International Herald Tribune's special commemorative series starting Saturday, June 4th,

the broader are Trebe

The state of the s

The state of the s

the Balka

The water and the 111 / 5 - 112 12

- : £. 22

--- `i.-- 3

And the second s

The same of the sa

್ಷ ಬಿ. ಬಿ. ೧೭ -ಚಿನ್ನಡ್ಡು

Colored March

in the second of the second of ರಾಜಕ್ಕಾಗಿ ಬಿಡಿಕಾಗಳು

and the second

ing the section

.

شتعف ويستوان المارا

278.42

N. 1. 1. 15.7421

3 500 300

(Otto

att Mark

1944

to be confronted by the sharp Keres Attack with 6 g4, which aims for a high-powered onslaught. But they also know that if the attack does not succeed; the white position can become overextended and flimsy.... The standard weapon of fighting against a wing assault -a counterattack in the center — does not work in this opening. Thus, 8...d5 would be repelled by 9 Bb5 Bd7 10 ed Nd4 11 Bd7 Qd7 12 Qd4 Nd5 13

White having strong endgame pres-sure against the isolated d5 pawn after 16 O-O-O. In a similar situation against Polgar last year in Madrid, Anand . After 20... Ng3 21 Qg3 Rg4 22 recaptured with 10 hg, but this time Qh3 f5 23 fe de 24 Nf3, Polgar had he went for the provocative 10 Bg5. It involved a pawn sacrifice that

Nd5 Qd5 14 Qd5 ed 15 Be3, with

CHESS

Position after 34...Qh5 rapid development and black weak points at e6 and g6 to justify his After 18 Ned4 Nes, Anand went right to battle with 19 f4! On 19_Ne4 20 Qg2, Polgar could not counterattack with 20_Bb7 because 21 Ne6! Qf7 22 Ng7 Bg7 23 Rg7 Nc3 24 bc Bg2 25 Rf7 Bf1 26 Rf6 Ng4 27 Rfd6 Nc3 28 Rc6 Kf7 29 Rc3 Rf4 30 cb yields White an endgame two pawns ahead a material advantage of rook and It involved a pawn sacrifice that three pawrs for two knights, but Polgar accepted with 16...16 17 Be3 the black king was stil a target in Rh4. Anand was counting on his the center.

SICILIAN DEFENSE Annual Poly
1 on Carlotte Carl

36 Qd7 Kf6 37 Ng4 Qg4 38 Qe6, Polgar gave up rather than prolong the agony with 38...Kg5 39 Rg7.

READERS LUXEMBOURG

For North Korea, a U.S.-Asian Carrot

TOKYO - North Korea has been offered economic aid in return for international inspections of installations suspected of a nuclear arms connection. Prime Minister Tsutomu Hata said Monday.

"It has been conveyed to them that if they opened their door, South Korea, the United States. China and Japan could join hands and extend as much cooperation as possible in raising living standards in North Korea." he told the House of Representatives budget commit-

Foreign Minister Koji Kakizawa, who also appeared before the committee, said Japan was worried about North Korea's refusal to allow the International Atomic Energy Agency to sample fuel rods being removed from a nuclear reactor at Yongbyon.

The Security Council was expected to discuss on Tuesday what to do in response to North Korea's refusal. The agency has said Pyongyang is in violation of safeguard rules under the Nuclear Nonprolif-

France, through its Foreign Ministry spokesman in Paris. said Monday that "the adoption of sanctions by the Security Council would become indispensable" if council members confirmed the agency findings. The sampling of spent fuel rods is necessary to determine if weapons-grade plutonium has been di-

The Japanese foreign minister the Japanese government learned id, "We are concerned because it of the new launching plan from said. "We are concerned because it will become difficult in a few days to make the verification if they go ahead at the current pace."

A senior Japanese official said he was aware of press reports that North Korea was preparing to test a missile that could strike Japan with a nuclear warhead. But I would like to refrain from commenting on what they might do," said the official, Chief Cabinet Secretary Hiroshi Kumagai. He said he was not certain if the projected test was linked to the nuclear standoff. In May last year, North Korea test-fired the Nodong-1 missile. which has a range of 1,000 kilometers (625 miles), in the Sea of Japan. Yomiuri reported Saturday that U.S. satellite intelligence reports. These indicated that trucks and cranes had arrived at a missile base in North Koree and a number of survey ships to gauge the flight of missiles were anchored offshore.

In Seoul, senior officials disclosed that South Korea had asked the United States not to resume high-level talks with North Korea unless the nuclear inspections were South Korea also is asking China to persuade North Korea to drop its opposition to full inspections.

"It is our government's position that there should be no high-level U.S.-North Korea talks unless agreement is reached with the ageney on inspections," said a South be identified. Another ministry official said the South Korean position was conveyed when Foreign Minister Han Sung Joo met with U.S. Ambassador James Laney on Monday.

Korean official, who asked not to

Last week, the United States said it was willing to resume high-level talks with North Korea on the nuclear dispute and setting terms for better bilateral relations. Two previous rounds made no progress.

President Kim Young Sam of South Korea convened a meeting of security-related cabinet officials Monday, "International efforts to resolve the dispute through dia-logue are at a crucial crossroads." (AFP. Reuters)

HUNGARY: Entrepreneurs Backing Ex-Communists

Continued from Page 1

all walks of life with fond memories of the security and welfare benefits of the old system. According to official returns from Sunday's runoff elections, the Socialists will have 209 of 386 seats in Parliament. a clear majority.

"There has been quite a shift in the [Socialist] voter profile," he said in an interview. "It is much more anti-market, anti-privatization, more for egalitarian values and social redistribution. They are

INTERNATIONAL

CLASSIFIED

MARKETPLACE

International Conferences and Seminars

Real Estate Marketplace, Holidays and Travel

Plus over 300 headings in International Classified

Monday through Saturday

For further information. contact Philip Orna in Paris: Tel: (33-1) 46 37 94 74 - Fax: (33-1) 46 37 52 12

Herald Eribune

Education Directory

Arts and Antiques

Business Message Center

International Recruitment

Wednesday

Friday

the traditional, oldtime socialist

This is something that should bother the Socialist Party and everybody else since they didn't run on a traditional socialist program. he added. "But it's base wants to go back to egalitarian solutions." In the wake of the Socialist victory, the question being asked by Hungarians and foreigners alike is which faction of the now highly eclectic Socialist Party will prevail in the coming struggle to define its economic and social policies? Will it be the more orthodox.

old-time socialists and labor unions led by Sandor Nagy, second on the party's election list? Or the faction led by Laszlo Bekesi, the party's chief liberal reformer, third on the list and tipped to become the next finance minister?

The party is scheduled to hold a convention here Saturday both to formally name its prime minister and outline its policies.

Peter Zwack, the only member of the small Party of Entrepreneurs to be elected to Parliament, believes the question of which faction pravails inside the Socialist Party will make a big difference as to Hungary's future political stability and economic prospects.

He is worried that the Socialist Party leader, Gvula Horn, who is expected to be its candidate for prime minister Saturday, is basically more sympathetic to the "old socialist" Nagy wing than the new 'social democrat" Bekesi line.

"We don't know which wing is stronger, the old socialists or the social democrats. Mr. Zwack said in an interview. "The party might split into two factions.

"Many fear is that if Mr. Horn and Mr. Nagy get the upper hand, then the liberal Bekest program won't go through and the union influence will be so strong on a Socialist government that there's no chance for an economic reviv-

Right now. Mr. Horn is talking as if he were on Mr. Bekesi's side and a true believer in liberal economic reform, although Free Democrat leaders were asking today why Mr. Bekesi was absent from the podium at the victory news conference on Sunday night while Mr. Nagy, the labor union chief, was echoed Mr. Bekesi's proposal for a "social pact" between the government, labor unions and employers to set prices, wages and other policies while the country gets on with its painful free market reforms.

In a broadcast interview, he sought to reassure skeptics that there were no longer any Communist "hard-liners" left within the Socialist Party's ranks. During the campaign. Mr. Horn

Libya Finishes Pullout From the Aouzou Strip

TUNIS - Libyan troops have completed their withdrawal from the Aouzou Strip, a Chadian diplomat in the Libyan capital said Monday, and Chad said it was ready to take over the desert area. The Tripoli-based diplomat said a handover ceremony would take place on Monday in the desert strip, which Chad and Libya fought over for years. In February, the International Court of Justice ruled that it belonged to Chad.

POPE:

'No' to Women

Continued from Page 1 choosing the twelve men whom he made the foundations of his church." the Pope said. Women, therefore, should accept this situation "as the faithful observance of a plan to be ascribed to the wisdom of the Lord of the universe," the Pope said.

A Vatican statement described the doctrinal reasons for excluding women from the priesthood as "certainly true."

Therefore, since it does not belong to matters freely open to dispute, it always requires the full and unconditional assent of the faithful, and to teach the contrary is equivalent to leading consciences into error." the statement said Inos Biffi, a theologian in Milan, said the significance of the document lay "not so much in the content as the form. The doctrine of reserving the ordination of priests for men is part of the patrimony of the church," he said. "But in declaring it, that is, in defining it, the Pope has brought to bear all his special and nonfallible charisma. Although the letter represented no departure from the Pope's longheld views, its injunction against discussion of women priests coincided with a wider debate among Christians about the role of wom-

Last March, the Anglican Church admitted women priests for the first time, dividing its own ranks and sending a chill over its relations with Rome. The letter on Monday, some Vatican officials said, may have been designed in part to tell Anglican priests op-posed to the ordination of women that they would find a long-term spiritual home in the Catholic

Additionally, the Vatican plans a synod next October on the theme religious life, and officials said the Pope wished to ensure that the ordination of women did not become part of the agenda.

The church denies that such views are discriminatory. "The nonadmission of women to priestly ordination cannot mean that women are of lesser dignity. nor can it be construed as discrimi nation against them." the Pope's letter said, because "the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of God and Mother of the church, received neither the mission proper to the apostles nor the ministerial priesthood."

He described the presence and role of women in the church as "absolutely necessary and irre-placeable," quoting from earlier Vatican teaching that women's role in the church was "of capital importance both for the renewal and humanization of society and for the rediscovery by believers of the true face of the church.

Continued from Page 1

tional on the existing members' igning a new founding contract. The ideas were "an interesting contribution to the further preparations of the '96 conference." a senior German official said. "We will study them."

The French proposal, described as a convention rather than a treaty constitution, would institutionalize a so-called variable geometry gle currency by a limited group of in Europe whereby some Union members can leave skeptics behind and deepen cooperation in certain

Mr. Lamassoure said the new contract would oblige Union members to adhere to all areas of coopcration outlined in the Maastricht treaty - including plans for a single currency, foreign and security policy, and immigration and justice affairs — or lose their right to vote on those matters. At the same time a core group of "new founders," led by France and Germany, would state their determination to press ahead in those areas.

The German official said variable geometry was already established in Maastricht, which allows Britain to opt out of a single currency and social legislation. As for the future, he said Bonn wanted to dieds of kilometers away from Poland and hundreds of kilometers away from Poland. avoid setting up any second-class membership status for Eastern Europe and sought to focus instead on transitional arrangements designed to prepare those countries for membership.

One British official dismissed the proposal as "an intellectual kiteflying exercise," given Germany's priority to pulling Eastern Europe into the Union and Spain's opposition to the early adoption of a sincomunies.

certainty that has overshadowed

Germany has pursued its economic and security interests in Eastern Europe with growing assertiveness, most recently by using its weight to drive home membership agreements with the Nordic countries and Austria in March, Bonn sees those countries as necessary stepping stones toward the Union's eventual expansion into Eastern is," said Dominique Moisi, deputy

EUROPE: France Calls for 'New Founding Contract' director of the French Institute of International Relations.

German and French officials said Chancellor Helmit Kohl President François Matter and and Prime Minister communication policy were likely to forge a faction policy weeks Prime Minister Edouard Balladur were hirry to read their meeting in which Paris would accompanie in which Paris would accompanie openings to the East in exchange for German endorschenkof efforts to stabilize Algeria and other North African states

Both sides also are en The Lamassoure initiative and call for Union leaders to say part nership and conferration ward it underscore the strategic untheir summit meeting an Corfu-Greece, on June 24 22 Officials said. France has despread its objections to a Eustian part little For-eign Minister Alam Jappe recently won a commitment from Messay to restrain its exports of main which pose a threat to the French nuclear facts industry officials in ricated.

Mainly the Franco German pergram will involve coordination of existing efforts rather than major new initiatives, officials said 1001. sides are concerned mainly with their domestic political arithday ahead of parliamentary electrons in Germany in October and the French presidential election near

ARCHIVES: Transfer to Germany Meets Resistance

Continued from Page 1

ing for culprits. Last year, the cenprocessed 27,000 requests for information from agencies and 1,300 from private individuals. Although few files in this collec-tion contain direct documentation of mass murder, the information often helps corroborate other evi-dence. When a guy writes in his résumé. I was assigned to KZ Auschwitz,' and he signs it, it's difficult for him to later claim that he wasn't there," said David Marwell, 42, the center's director.

In bulk alone the collection is staggering, covering roughly 8 miles (13 kilometers) of stacked paper. Among the party membership cards is that of Oskar Schindler, No. 6.421,477, and Amon Goeth. the sadistic commandant of Plaszow concentration camp in Poland, No. 510,964; both men were portrayed in the recent film hindler's List.

Much of the current controversy the New Yorker by the writer Gerald Posner, who questioned both the quality of the microfilming and the potential pitfalls in German privacy laws. The article contends, for example, that microfilm fails to distinguish between different colored inks used on some documents and renders some writing less legiconcerns about whether German archivists would hinder legitimate scholarship. German privacy law typically prohibits access to files on people until they have been dead

No Punishment In Asylum Case, Cuba Pledges HAVANA - More than 100

Cuban asylum-seekers holed up in the Belgian ambassador's residence will not be punished if they give up their bid to leave Cuba and exit the premises peacefully, a Foreign Ministry official said Monday. The official indicated that the assurance would be made in writing to Belgian authorities. The official stressed that Cuba and Belgium agreed that entering was stirred by a magazine article in diplomatic premises was not an appropriate way to leave the country A young man staying in the resi-dence since Saturday left the premises Monday. A Cuban official said he was not stopped by the original documents, however, Mr. Marwell expressed confidence that the German government would prove to be a fair admin Since 1988, Germany's Federal At-chives has had the authority in screen requests from German estizens for entry into the Berlin Docsment Center, German officials contend that only one request from a scholar and less than I percent is requests from private citizens have.

A Belgian Foreign Ministry spokesman in Brussels said there were 124 people at the residence, including 24 children. With the de-More significant perhaps are parture of the youth, 123 were left.

been denied. Moreover, under the agreement signed last October, the Justice Department keeps the right to unre-stricted access to the files

"For the kind of access that people are concerned about --- sch ship and Nazi war crime investigations — people won't see a difference." Mr. Marwell said. "Absent some dramatic change." I don't think scholars have anything. to worry about."

DEATH NOTICE

Friends of GERTRUDE NEHER announce with sorrow her sudden death in Pans, Friday, May 20, 1994.

Ser.

AL.,

b ar

100 E 2

likut -i

00-3013; 500-3013;

polino.

to an any nother of h cerca

W_{ORNEY}

oilen:

From the Metrose the model onaches a of modern

Mail:

Late Mos

Marky M The em

1 1 1

Massachusetts Institute of Technology Summer Professional Programs

APPLIED BIOLOGY/ HEALTH SCIENCES

Blomechanics of Human Movement in Orthogaedics, Rehabilitation, Neuroscience and Sports, Neville Hogan June 13 - June 17

Advances in Controlled Release Technology: Polymeric Delivery Systems for ceuticals. Proteins and Other Apents, Robert S. Langer July 18 - July 22 New Developments in Biotechnology.

Anthony J. Sinskey August 1 - August 5 Downstream Processing, Charles L. Cooney August 8 - August 12 Fermentation Technology, Daniel I.C. Wang

August 15 - August 19 Analytical Biochemistry in Process Monitoring and Validation, Daniel I.C. Wang

August 1 - August 5

Cardiovascular Pathophysiology for Engineers and Scientists, Richard J. Cohen June 6 - June 10

COMPUTER RELATED

Object-Oriented Systems: Technology and Applications, Duvvuru Sriram June 6 - June 10 Design and Analysis of Distributed Protocols.

Nancy A. Lynch and Nir Shavit July 25 - July 29

Digital Communications Networks, Robert Gallager June 13 - June 17 A Peek at Parallel Processing, Alan Edelman

Parallel Programming and Dataflow Architectures (with Programming Laboratory on Monsoon Dataflow Machines), Arvind August 8 - August 12

Parallel Supercomputing: Algorithms, Architectures and Systems, F. Thomson Leighton and Charles E. Leiserson June 6 - June 10

ENGINEERING

Tools and Techniques for Collaborative Engineering, Duvvuru Sriram August 8 - August 12

Assessing Organic Pollutants in the Environment, July 11 - July 15

Machinery Noise & Diagnostics, Richard H. Lyon August 8 - August 12

The Principles of Design: Axiomatic Design Theory & Method ogy, Nam P. Suh July 25 - July 29 Neural Networks for Nonlinear Estimation and

Central, Jean-Jacques Slotine and Robert M. Sanner July 18 - July 22 Human Centered Automation & Supervisory Control of Flight Vehicles, Ground Vehicles &

Robots. Thomas B. Sheridan June 13 - June 17 Fundamentals of Internal Combustion Engines: Performance, Efficiency and Emissions, John B. Heywood, Wal K. Cheng June 20 - June 24

Integrated Modeling of Physical System Dynamics, Neville Hogan July 25 - July 29

Tribology: Friction and Wear, Ernest Rabinowicz July 18 - July 22

New Developments in Manufacturing Process Technology, Timothy Gutowski, Emanuel Sacks and David Hardt June 20 - June 24 Mathematical Modeling of Materials Processing SCIENCE

for Design and Manufacturing, Julian Szekely August 15 - August 19 Engineering of Viscoelastic Polymers and Composites, David K. Roylance

July 11 - July 15 Fnams and Cellular Materials: Thermal and Mechanical Properties, Leon R. Glicksman, Loma J. Gibson, Nam P. Suh, July 11 - July 14

Design of Analog Integrated Circuits, Hae-Seung Lee June 20 - June 24

Principles of Power Electronics: Using Electronics to Control and Process Electrical Energy, John G. Kassakian, George C. Verohese, Martin F. Schlecht August 15 - August 19 and Kalman Filtering (with Applications in Tracking, Control and Signal Processing) Alan S. Willsky July 25 - July 29

Techniques in High-Speed Photography and Videography, Charles E. Miller June 13 - June 17

Computer-Aided Multivariable Control System Design, Michael Athans June 6 - June 10

Speech Spectrogram Reading: An Acoustic of the English Language, Victor Zue June 27 - July 1 Microsensors and Microactuators,

Stephen D. Senturia July 25 - July 29 Modeling, Simulation & Optimization of Chemical sses, Paul Barton and Lawrence B. Evans August 1 - August 10 (8 days)

Plasma Processing for Microelectronic Fabrication: Plasma Deposition, Elching and Sputtering of Thin Films for VLSI, Herbert H. Sawin July 18 - July 22 Fundamentals of Flight Simulation,

Laurence R. Young and Walter M. Hollister July 25 - July 29 Lasers, Fiber Optics and Applications. Shaoul Ezelvel July 11 - July 15

Industrial Rheology for Scientists and Engineers, Cho Kyun Rha August 1 - August 5 Nuclear Power Reactor Safety: Part I - Thermal

Power Reactors, Neil E. Todreas July 18 - July 22 Nuclear Power Reactor Safety: Part II - General Safety Issues, Mujid S. Kazımi

July 25 - July 29 Improving Nuclear Power Plant Performance. Kent Hansen June 20 - June 24

Public Transportation Service and Operations

Frederick J. McGarry July 25 - July 29 HUMANITIES AND Planning, Nigel H.M. Wilson

August 15 - August 19 Fiber Reinforced Composite Materials,

Demystifying Japan: Its Culture, Society and Language, Shigeru Miyagawa

June 6 - June 10 Management, Literature and Ethics, Airin G. Kibel June 20 - June 24

The Literature of Leadership, Michael Kaufman August 15 - August 19 Niola Terfles, the Macho King and Madonna's Wavel: Taking Popular Culture Seriously,

Henry Jenkins June 6 - June 10 Was There Really a Big Bang? A Case Study in Scientific Methodology, Irving Segal July 18 - July 22

Fundamentals of Detection, Parameter Estimation MANAGEMENT AND PLANNING

Project Management for Engineers and Managers, Robert Logicher August 15 - August 19

Design and Analysis of Scientific Experiments, Harold Freeman, Paul D. Berger July 11 - July 16 (6 days) Individual Choice Behavior: Theory and Application of Discrete Choice Analysis to Consumer Demand and Market Share,

Moshe Ben-Akiya June 6 - June 10 Management for Physicians, Scientists and Engineers in the Pharmaceutical and Biolechnology Industry, Stan N. Finlekstein June 13 - June 17

Optimizing the Supply Chain, Jeremy F. Shapiro June 27 - July 1 Management of Research. Development and

Edward B. Roberts June 6 - June 17 Management Strategies for the Multicultural Workplace, Margery Resnick August 1 - August 3 (3 days)

Technology-Based impovation,

TECHNICAL COMMUNICATIONS

Communicating Technical Information (Thirty-Eighth Edition: Writing and Editing), James Paradis June 15 - June 17 (3 days)

Susan S. Sherwood June 13 - August 5 Technical Japanese for Materials Science and Related Engineering, David O. Mills, Susan S. Sherwood June 13 - August 5

Electrical Engineering, David O. Mills.

Technical Japanese for Computer Science and

For further Information, contact: MIT Summer Session Office, E19-356, Cambridge, MA 02139; Phone: (617) 253-2101; Fax: (617) 253-8842; E-Mail: SUMMER-PROFESSIONAL-PROGRAMS@MIT.EDU

LATIN AMERICA

A New Investment Partner

How to Reap the Dividends of the Region's Economic Revival

JUNE 9

CONSOLIDATING AND SPREADING THE BENEFITS OF

Enrique V Iglesias, President, Inter-American Development Bank FUELLING FUTURE ECONOMIC GROWTH Eduardo Aninat, Finance Minister Chile

TURNING THE NEW INVESTMENT ENTHUSIASM INTO LONG-TERM CAPITAL FLOWS

SOCIO-ECONOMIC REFORM IN LATIN AMERICA:

Carlos Rojas, President, Solidarity Fund, Mexico Gert Rosenthal, Executive Secretary, ECLAC, Santiago

INNOVATING TO PROMOTE NEW FORMS OF SUSTAINABLE GROWTH NEW DIRECTIONS FOR COMMERCIAL FUNDING

Julio Bustamente, Superintendent, Pension Fund Administrators, Chile LINKING SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY

The Regent Hotel, 222 Marylebone Road, London Tel: (44 71) 631 8000 Fax: (44 71) 631 8080

Rate for single or double room is £150 plus VAT at 17.5%.

REGISTRATION INFORMATION

The fee for the conference is £650 plus VAT at 17.5%. This includes both lunches, the cochtail reception and all documentation. Fees are payable in advance and will be refunded less a £65.00 cancellation charge for any cancellation received in writing on or before lune 1, after which time we regret there can be no refund. Substitutions may be made at any time. The conference sponsors reserve the right to amend the program if necessary

Herald Eribune

LONDON - JUNE 9-10 - 1994

ECONOMIC CHANGE IN THE REGION

Fernando Cossio, Minister of Finance, Bolivia Iulio Sosa, Finance Minister, Venezuela

David C Mulford, Chairman, CS First Boston Limited, London Onno van den Broek, General Manager, ING Bank International

TOWARDS A NEW SOCIAL AGENDA

Guest Luncheon Speaker: Domingo Cavallo, Minister of Economic Affairs, Argentina

Sir Michael Palliser, Vice Chairman, Samuel Montagu, London CHANNELLING PRIVATE SAVINGS INTO FINANCING SOCIAL

Hugo Varsky, Executive Director, Bolivar-Enlace Programme LATIN AMERICAN INVESTMENT - FUTURE PROSPECTS Joaquin Avila, Member of the Board, Managing Director, Santander

Peter West, Director, West Merchant Bank Roger Palmer, Director, Equities, Kleinwort Benson, London

CONFERENCE LOCATION

The conference will be held at The Regent Hotel, where a limited number of rooms will be reserved for delegates at a preferential rate. To reserve accommodation, please contact the hotel, notifying the reservations department that your booking is in connection with the IHT conference

Luncheon hosted by Santander Investment

JUNE 10

REGIONAL AND SUB-REGIONAL INTEGRATION: AN ENGINE FOR GROWTH

Herminio Blanco Mendoza, Under Secretary of International Commercial Negotiations, Mexico CENTRAL AMERICA

Ana Ordonez de Molina, Finance Minister, Guatemala THE ANDEAN REGION Enrique Garcia, President, Andean Development Corporation

SOUTH AMERICAN FREE TRADE AREA Rubens Antonio Barbosa, Ambassador, Brazilian Embassy, London-THE LINK WITH EUROPE

Juan Prat, Director-General for North-South Relations, European

Jorge Herrera Vegas, Under Secretary. Economic Integration.

ROUNDTABLE: INVESTING IN MAJOR NEW INFRASTRUCTURE PROJECTS Doug Ebdon, Director of Operations, Global Gas, British Gas, London

Inaki Santillana. Chief Executive, Telefonica Internacional, Madrid CONSOLIDATING THE GAINS: OPPORTUNITIES FOR FUTURE INTERNATIONAL INVESTMENT COSTA RICA

lorge Camet. Minister of Economy URUGUAY Ignacio de Posadas, Minister of Economy

José Rossi, Minister of Foreign Commerce

REGISTRATION FORM

To register for the conference, please complete the form-belowand send it to-Flona Cowan, International Herald Tribune, 63 Long Acre. London WC2E 9JH Tel: (44 71) 836 4802 Fax: (44 71) 836 0717 The conference fee is £650.00 + VAT at 17.5%

31-5-94 City _

11,14

-7.5

Citoyens of Saint-Rémy clockwise from top left. Pierre Bergé in the garden he has created, with a cookbook his next project; Michel Klein in his Provençal home furnished from flea markets; and a country-style table setting in his house; Caroline of Monaco shopping in Saint-Rémy for her Mas de la Source: Irène Silvagni (inset) and the door from the interior courtyard of her Tarascon house; Inès de la Fressange.

The Golden Triangle of Provence the antique markets - and I do the cooking."

return to nature."

By Suzy Menkes national Herald Tribuni

AINT-REMY-DE-PROVENCE. France — Under the canopy of vines on the terrace of the Café des Arts, you watch the fashion world go by. Princess Caroline of Monaco, her basket spilling with fruit and veggies. olives and spices.

There is Inès de la Fressange with baby daughter Nine and husband Luigi d'Orso. Here are Loulou de la Falaise and Pierre Bergé, a world away from Saint Laurent couture as they compare fine white linens bought in the flea

Since the fashionable folk descended on this picture-postcard Provençal village over the last five years, they have generated a myth as powerful as the sun-and-sunflowers images of Van Gogh. Saint Remy and surrounding towns, Arles, Les Baux-de-Provence and Tarascon, are supposed to form a "golden triangle" like the Paris shopping streets round Avenue Mon-

The reality is rather different. You don't see the fashion crowd parading the streets. The Café des Arts is not Saint-Trop's Le Sénéquier - although fashion friends may drop by after shopping in Wednesday's market. You are sure to find familiar faces on Sunday morning at L'Isle-sur-la-Sorgue, a town devoted to antique shoos that de la Falaise describes as "shopping heaven." You may bump into friends at the restaurant in Eygalières, where the designer Michel Klein has his home, or on the terrace of the Nord Pinus in Arles, or in the Gianni Versace's flamboyant, model wannabes, model citizens or, Feria garnered Christian Lacroix's wife Francoise, d'Urso and the embroiderer François

But Saint-Remy is neither the new Saint-Tropez, nor Cannes, nor Capri. Like the Hamptons in America (in a less varnished style). it corresponds rather to a 1990s need for the great ders program at the Johns Hopkins escape. It represents a conscious decision to scale down, to turn a lightly sun-bronzed back "They have the same intensity to on the glizzy, fancy Riviera. It is the fashionable world in flight from itself. So there is Bergé, couture president, one-time opera supremo, best friend of President Francois Mitterrand, cultivating the garden he has created on the edge of the Alpilles by trans-

"One thing I know at my age - you don't buy young wines or plant young trees," says the 63-year-old Bergé, who describes his house with its pastel-washed walls as "very simple."

It's a peaceful life - making olive oil, going to the flower market in Arles and Cavaillon, to planting 500-year-old olive trees.

"There are two kinds of houses, mas and bastide," says Pierre Passebon, partner to Grange, whose house is near Caroline's Mas de says Berge. "It is not exactly ecological, but a

Berge — who is now planning to write a book of Provençal country cooking — has a typical low, square mas, or farmhouse, of the region, like Klein and the decorator Jacques Grange.

The Monaco princess came to Saint-Remy for personal reasons when she was widowed in 1990. The simple Provençal dress she chose and her flight from chic, urbanized Monaco seem prescient. So is the fact that she uses the Saint-Rèmy house not as a rare retreat, but as her

Klein too - although designing his own

A colony for the fashionable, away from the glitz of the Riviera.

label and Guy Laroche haute couture - tries to spend half his time in the house he has painted with vibrant colors - warm red, sky blue or cool green walls, with flea-market finds arranged in divine disorder

"I like the idea that it has no style - but a coherent whole," he says, showing proudly a newly acquired statue of an African dancing girl inside and freshly planted rose bushes round the pool.

Near Tarascon, Irène Silvagni - a former fashion editor of French Vogue and a consultant to Yohji Yamamoto -- contemplates the sunset sky. Her blush-red main room, with its twin stone basins, and the lofty upper floor with red-tile floor increasingly serve as an office for her and her film-producer husband. Giorgio. 'From Tarascon to Saint Remy is already like being in a different country — it changes from village to village," says Thadée Klos-sowski, husband of Loulou de la Falaise, whose mother Maxine has just bought a to-be-restored house in the area. The latest addition to the clan will be Marie Steinberg, proprietor of Marie et Fils, savorite restaurant of the fashion crowd in Paris. But down here they all insist how little they dine out and how rarely they see each — apart from the annual celebration of "Inès's birthday party" in August.

"It's like anywhere — there are people who need to do the vie mondaine and people who stay home," says d'Urso. "Everybody is very proud of their own place and very concerned to show it."

Nor is there any sense of dressing up. Saint-Rémy's narrow streets are splattered with the signature Provençal prints, but even the sophisticated Souleiado makes over half its store for the home. It is another sign of the times that clothes shops are outnumbered by lifestyle boutiques, and if you do see a famous face, it will probably be at Ebène, an at-home and antiques store tucked away in a courtyard.

Even for her birthday, says de la Fressange. people don't really dress up, with "Loulou in a cotton Gypsy dress that cost 300 francs."

The spike-heeled shoes that de la Falaise is wearing at dinner with Klein do not seem typical Provençal peasant footwear, and there is an element of play-acting in this back-torural-life by people who can afford someone to launder their antique linen sheets.

"Its all very Marie-Antoinette - even the sheep are pretty clean," admits de la Fressange, although she claims that her own Mas de Frigolet is "rather sloppy" and that she loves it because "as soon as I put my feet in Provence all my worries disappear."

Does the lure of Saint-Remy suggest that the days of the Riviera as a fashion hot spot are definitively over? Terence Conran, who has just moved his French home to Les Baux, first colonized rural France 40 years ago and built the success of his Habitat empire on authentic country things. He remarks on the flight by all his friends from the coast to the hinterland.

"But it hasn't really changed," says de la Falaise. "There were always a lot of foreigners in Provence — painters and artists because it was very cheap. Everyone here was always very snobbish about the coast. It was always 'ruined.' My mother was snobbish about the Côte d'Azur by the late '50s or early 1960s. But what is different here is that how much land you have does not reflect how much money you have. Some people have huge properties and live off tomatoes. Nothing is related to exterior signs of wealth."

Yet the truth is that 100 years after wealthy aristocrats first colonized the Côte d'Azur in winter, and 70 years after Scott Fitzgerald became the summer pioneer, everything that the Riviera stands for has gone out of fashion with the fashionable: grand hotels, cocktails at six, dressing for dinner and a social season.

"There is no sense of people coming to Saint-Rémy to mix with other people or because they want to watch them," says Silvagni. "But maybe there is something in the air, in the colors, in the scents of Provence that corresponds to what fashion people feel is right for now."

Sprint.

Be there now.

WorldCupUSA94 Sa

An Unsubtle Market: Male Vanity

By Dan Shaw New York Times Service

Founding Control

ny Meets Resistan

Marie Landing

EW YORK - In "Sleepless in Seattle," last summer's hit romantic comedy, Tom Hanks's character, a widower in his 30s who hasn't been on a date for 15 years, asks a friend for advice.
"I just want to know what it's like out there," he says.

"That's what I'm trying to tell you, what women are looking for pecs and a cute butt," says his friend, played by Rob Reiner.

"You can't even turn on the news nowadays without hearing about how some babe thought some guy's butt was cute. Who the first woman to say this was I don't know, but somehow it caught on."

It certainly has. Women and other men are paying attention to how men look as never before.

From the bare-chested studs on 'Melrose Place" and billboards of the model Michael Bergin in Calvin Klein underwear to the sinewy rock stars on MTV and the football coaches who hawk Ultra Slim-Fast diet shakes on television, the image of modern masculinity is changing. and well-defined musculature seems to be a requirement.

While women complain that they can't be as thin as the waif-model Kate Moss, men are grumbling that they can't be as buffed and beefy as

Marky Mark The emphasis on appearance has made men feel newly vulnerable about their looks, with increasing numbers of men showing up at department store cosmetics counters, in plastic surgeons' offices and on psychotherapists' couches. In short, they are beginning to feel and act just like body-conscious omen. tute at the Metropolitan Museum pages of Details," he wrote earlier Men's Health, a five-year-old of Art, noting the popularity of this month. "They're all models.

aped from 800,000 to 1.2 million in the last year, is catering to this growing market. Unlike GQ, Esquire and Details, with their selfconsciously hip inbanity, Men's one of the most beautiful fashions. Health resembles nothing so much as an earnest women's supermarket

"Do It Better! 101 Ways to Get Smarter, Stronger, Richer, Calmer and Cooler," reads the cover of the May issue. Other articles include "The One Vitamin Every Man Needs," "Best Exercises to Lose Weight" and "Stay Focused: How to Blow Off the 10 Worst Male Michael Lafavore, 42, the executive editor of Men's Health, is proud of his cover lines. "That's our secret," he said. "We dare to do that. We know what guys care about - their sex lives, their potbellies, how to get more energy. That's what they respond to on a visceral level."

Health is not necessarily the readers' prime concern. "Men are terrifically vain," Lafavore said.

There is not much evidence throughout history that men aren't vain," he added. "In other times, we wore powdered wigs and knee britches. Men care how they look at the beach. That's supposedly women's territory, but I've seen guys at the beach cover themselves with Tshirts and towels to hide their bodies. Most guys feel no better about being out of shape than women

Society has made the stakes awfully high. "No pecs, no sex," reads an advertisement for the trendy

David Barton Gym in Manhattan. The Village Voice, who is accus-"My motto is not 'Be healthy'; it's tomed to the "body fascism" of the Look better naked," Barton said. gay chib scene, discovered that "Most men who exercise want to show it off," said Richard Martin, the curator of the Costume Insti-body-conscious fashions Boys who believed in superheroes can wear Versace clothing as adults. It's a self-conscious style, of narcissism in our time." OME people, citing the ho-moeroticism of much of men's fashion and fragrance advertising, believe that a majority of men who devote an inordinate amount of time and money on their appearance are ho-"The gay marketplace has a lot to do with it, but it's trickled down to the heteros," said Christopher

Cakebread, a professor of advertising at Boston University. "People like to look at half-naked people. Society is willing to accept more nudity in advertising. and the advertisers are appealing to a younger group. If you walk down Newbury Street in Boston, you see these heterosexual guys bulging all over the place, showing off their gym bodies. They look like they walked out of the pages of a bad

Eli Levine, a 30-year-old paralegal in Manhattan who played rug-by in college, recently joined a gym. "It's definitely a cosmetic thing," Levine said. "I'm thinking about being in a bathing suit. I want women to accept my body when I take my shirt off. If my body type were what all the models had, I would be very happy not to lift a

Michael Musto, a columnist for straight clubs are not so different.
"Alarming numbers of attendees look like they've stepped out of the △British Virgin Isl. 1-800-877-8080

Cambodia (Phaoca Peals) 80-01-01

worse, model admirers." Eating disorders are becoming more common in men. "When they have it, they have it just like wom-en," said James B. Wirth, the director of the eating and weight disor-University School of Medicine.

lose weight and the same sense of body distortion. They, of course, don't lose their menstrual cycle, but they do lose their sex drive. They are much more preoccupied with muscle definition. The major-ity are heterosexual. Maybe one in five are homosexual.

Ann Kearney-Cooke, a psychologist in Cincinnati, who has treated adolescent and middle-aged men with eating disorders, thinks men's focus on their appearance is a reac tion to changing sex roles. "Many men are trying to attain a V-shaped body that is a symbol of masculinity," she said. "Men want to make a statement: We may be making the same amount of money, we may be changing diapers, but we are still stronger." Or as Barton put it, "Broad shoulders tapering down to a narrow waist looks hot in any century."

SPRING SUMMER COLLECTION

Marie-Martine 8, rue de Sèvres,

+ Greece

+Guatemala

▲Hondons

(IO8-IN)1-311

0001-8001-121-2008

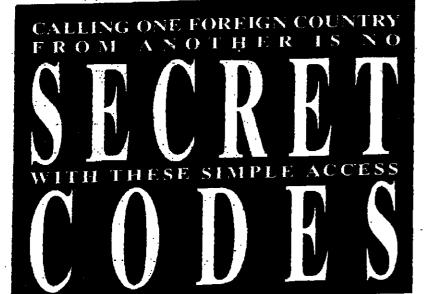

Kuwaii

Liechtenstein

√ Litheonia

Paris 1 4 1

BEST OF EUROPEAN SUMMER RESORTS AUSTRIA ITALY MONACO SWITZERLAND Ū tiolidays with much HOTEL LOEWS more than pleasure ! MONTE-CARLO Frank Maritim ARUBERG HOSPIG HODEL The Most Up-To-Date Deluxe Resent TRIESTE-VICTORIA on the Riviera Great Restaurants, Entertain and Fitness Facilities A Great Winter Hotel in the Alpine Summer Swimming Pools, Tennis Courts, Golf, Evening Entertainment Beauty & Fitness Center 35031 Abarto Terme, Italy Tel., 130-491806 9101 Fax: (30-491806 9779 A-6580 St. Christoph T.nd. Austria Tel +143) 5446 2611 Fax +143) 5446 3545 12. Avenue des Spelugues 98007 Monte-Carlo, Monaco Tel: 4[-27/4] 55 53 3962 Montana Fax : 41-27/41 55 47 Tel: (33) 93 50 65 00 Fax: (33) 93 30 01 57 FRANCE MALTA SPAIN TURKEY (S) Sheraton Voyager MONTECASTILLO SELMUN PALACE HOTEL Antalya Hotel & Golf Reson 55416415 Like a Palace Within a Fantasuc Golf Course Great Food. Sights and Sports Swimming Pool-Beauty & Fitness Center Shops-Restaurant-Night Club Av. Paul Signac, 83990 St. Tropez, France Tel. (33) 94 97 00 (4 Luxury and History Combined in Malui's Most Charming Hotel The Best Resort in Turkey Carresera de Arcos 11406 Jerez, Spain Tel: (34-56) 15 12 00 Fax: (34-56) 15 12 09 100, Yil Bulyari Selmun SPB10, Malta Tel: (356) 521 040 Antalya 07050, Turkey Tel : (242) 2 432 432 Fax : (242) 2 432 462 Fat : (33) 94 97 40 52 One of metadoglicated de three

Whether you're trying to reach another country overseas, or call back to the U.S., Sprint Express' can help, Just dial the access code of the country you're in to reach an English-speaking Sprint operator. You don't even have to be a Sprint' intries seem a little less foreign. inidad & Tobago 23

(ETPI stations only)

/ Philippines

(PhilCom)

Sweden

○ Taiwan

Switzerland

020-799-011

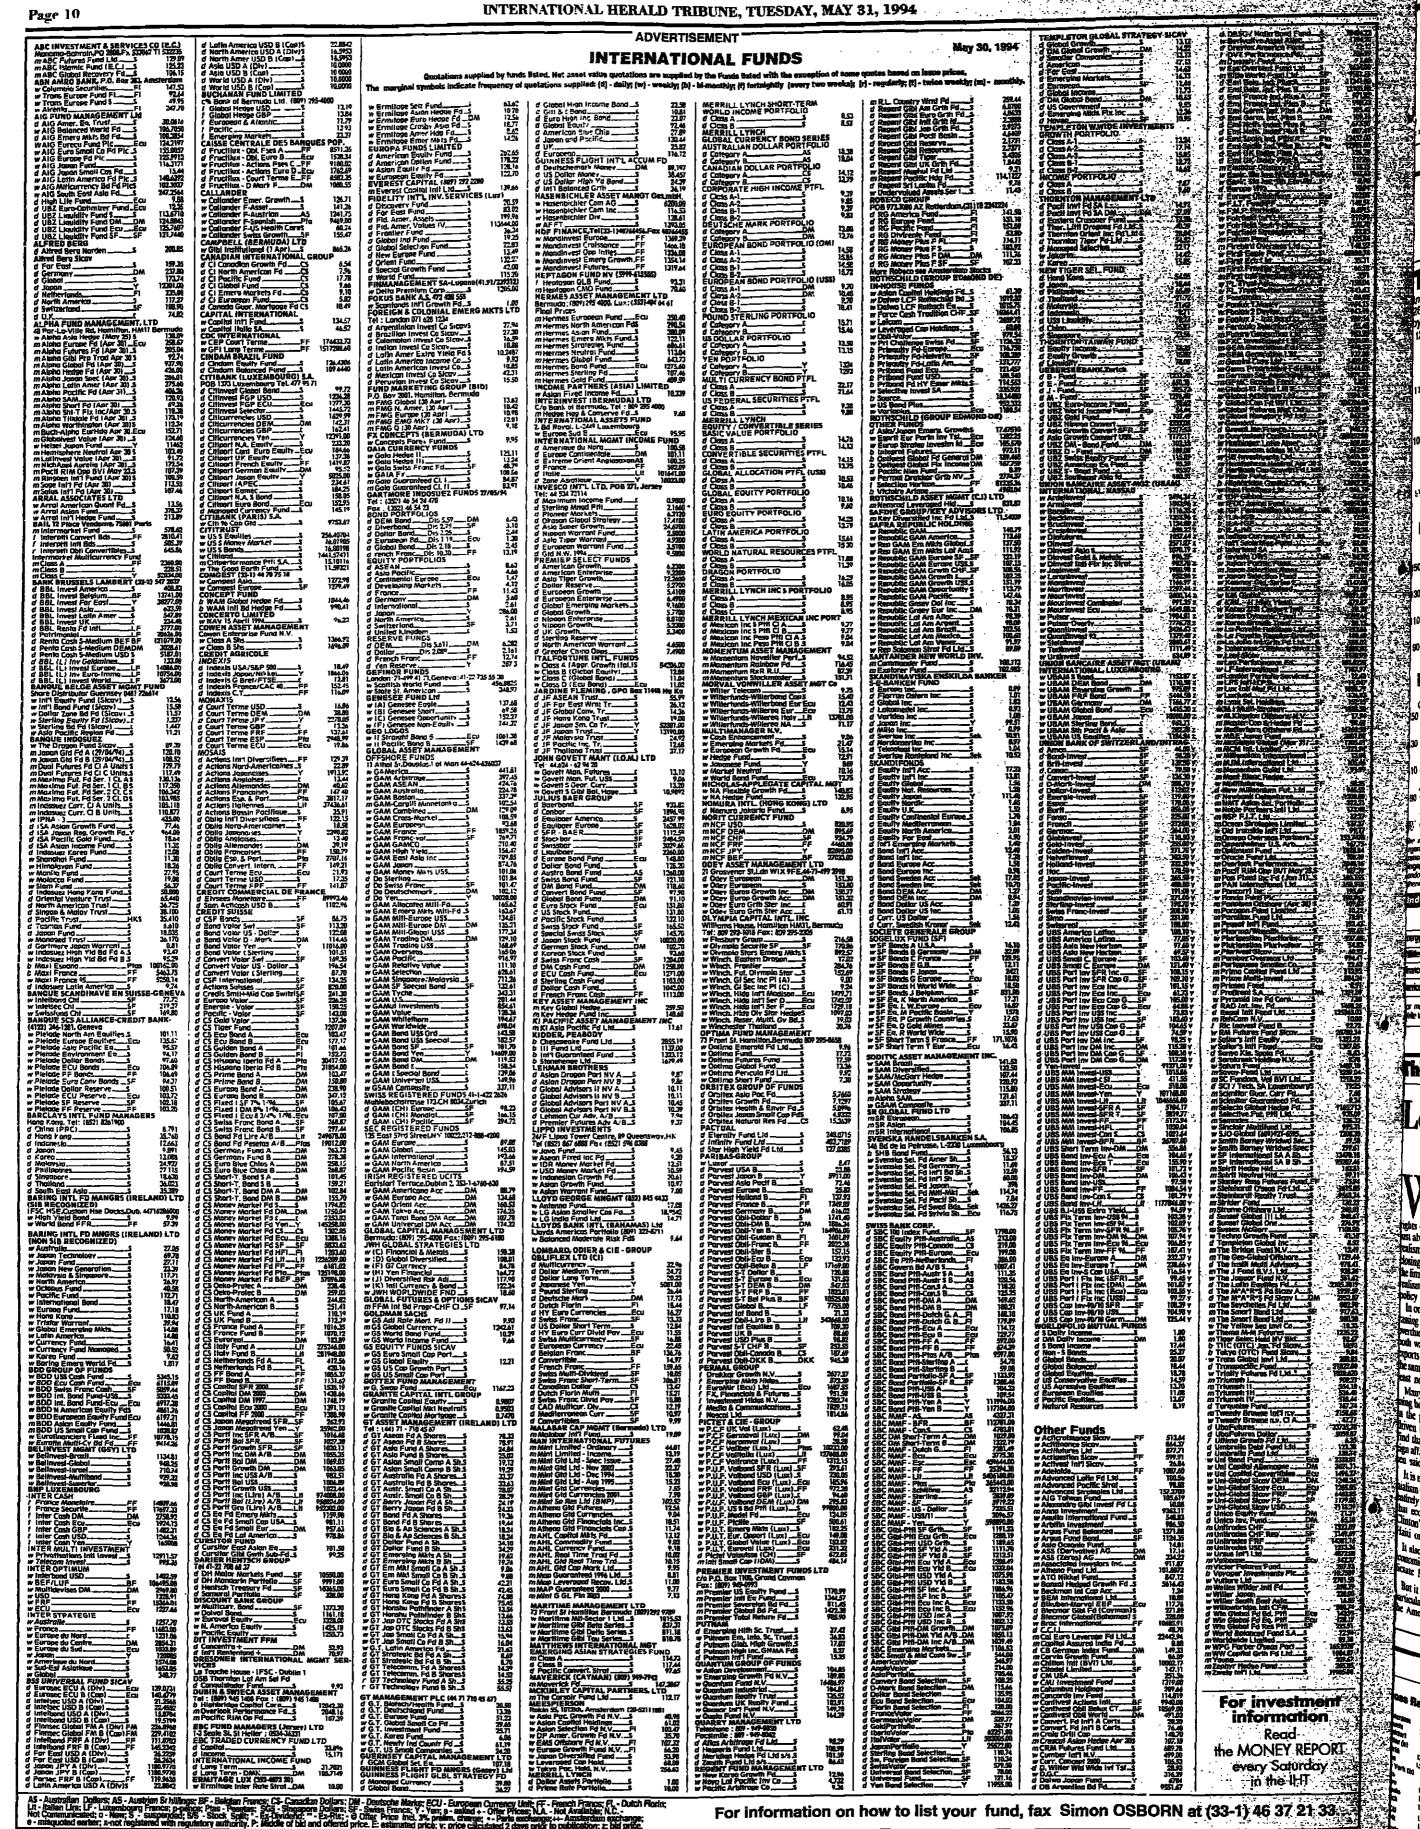

DOBD-14-0877

155-9777

rustomer. All you need is a U.S. local calling card or World Iraveler FUNCARD?" it you re calling the U.S. you can even call collect. But next time you call, use Sprint Express. It can make foreign countries seem a little less foreign.
	633-1000	Chile	00+0317	△Hong Kong	CIL	Macao	(ixi)(i-(2)	+Poland	0010-48 0-0115	O Trinidad & Tobago	23
Antigua	≈ 0	√+China	IOS-1.3	+ / Hungary	UU+800-01-877	+ Malaysia	800-0016	† Portagal	05017-1-877	+ Tarkey	00800-1-4477
Argentina	001-800-777-((()	Colombia-English	980-13-0010	+ india	000-237	Mexico	95-800-877-8000	~ Paerto Rico	1-800-877-8000	+ United Arab Emirates	800-131
lastralia.	008-551-110		980-13-0110	Indonesia	(d)-801-15	+ 4100200	1940087	+ΩRomania	01-800-0877	United Kingdom	.0500-890-877
Anatralia	0014-881-877	+Costa Rica	Ja.l	+ ireland	1-800-55-2001	+ Netherlands	06+022-91#9	+ΩR assi a	8-095-155-6133	United Kingdom (FI)
	b22-903-0H	+DCvpnis	()(()-4()()-())	+ ismei	F77-H12-2727	+ Verherlands Antilles	001-800-745-1111	+ Russia (Moscow)	155-6133	△ United Kingdom	0500-800-800
	1-800-389-2111	+ Czech Republic	0012-087-187	+ lialy	[72-B77	New Zealand	(XX)()-944	+Saipan	235-0333	~USA.	1-800-877-8000
∆Barbados	1-800-877-8990	+ Denmark	8001-0877	† Japan	(0)39-[3]	Nicaragus	02-161	+ΩTimen and Rots	1-235-0333	~U.S. Virgin Islands	1-809-877-8009
- Belgium	078-11-0014	▲Dominican Republic	1-800-751-7877	+ Japan	(Kino∮o>5??	 Nicaragea (Managea) 	i 161	-+ San Marino	172-1877		000417
lelize (Hotel)	556	Ecusaker	171	✓ Kenva	(MODE)2	† Norman	050-12-877	Saudi Arabia	1800-15	+ Vatican City	172-1877
CIZE IPTT par phonon	4	+El Salvador	M	♦ ♦ korea	(M)9-16	Parama	115	+Singapore	8000-177-177	Venezuela-English	X00-1111-0
Bermula	1-800-6234877	+ Finland	9900-1-028-1	‡korea	550-2USS	▲ © Periodica	008-12-800	✓ + South Africa	0-800-99-0001	Venezuela-Sounish	800-1111-1
kolivia	0800-1113	+France	19 ♦ 0087	‡Korea	550-FONE	√Peru	14h	Spain	900-99-00[3
िराजी	OOD WOLK	1.aC	h170_0022	+ higgs	NI30_17)	Platingings	W5.00	ÀS: I	197

155-9777

MON-1877 Luxemboure 0000-015 001-999-13-877 Certain teatrichors apply where country to country calling is mariable. Listing subject to change For current numbers countried section of additional numbers call the Sprint Access Number of the country voure in, or 1400-877-4646 white in the U.S. Bold deno country to countr

World News. World Views.

Every day, the International Herald Tribune provides clear and concise coverage of world events with a scrupulous separation of reporting and opinion.

For objective and informative reading, make sure you get your copy every day. For subscription information, please call: Europe/Africa/Middle East (33-1) 46 37 93 61, Asia (852) 9222-1188, The Americas (212) 752 3890.

Herald Artenational Eribune.

The state of the s

the Balkan

er open de Lebe

re i de la rocata est at the second

a du la tracta

ಿಗಳ ಚಲನ ಇತ್ತ

and the control of th

್ವಾಗ್ ಪ್ರತಿಗಳಿಗೆ ಬಿಡಿಗಳು

್ವಾಗ್ಯಾಪ್ ಕ್ರಾಂಡ್ 😅 🗗

. A. 1 27 132

un municipation:

شفتة في سرايه وبد

Road Ahei

The state of the s

THE WALLEST ATLACE

The index tracks U.S. dollar values of stocks in: Tokyo, New York, London, and Argentina, Australia, Austrie, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Heng Kong, Italy, Mendoo, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Singapore, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and Venezuela. For Tokyo, New York and London, the index is composed of the 20 top issues in terms of market capitalization, otherwise the ten ten clocks are tracked.

	Mon. closs	Prev.	% change		Hon.	Prev.	% chan
Energy	109.96	109.87	80.0+	Capital Goods	115.87	115.61	+0.2
Utilities	117.20	117.20	Unch.	Raw Materials	127.08	127.73	-0.5
Finance	118.88	118.99	-0.09	Consumer Goods	97.54	97.59	-0.0
Services	116.80	116.86	-0.05	Miscellaneous	127.88	127.71	+0.13

Malaysian Air Says Profit Fell

Carrier's Resales Of Aircraft Falter

Reuters KUALA LUMPUR - Malaysian Airline System Bhd. said Monday its net profit plunged 94 percent in the year ended March 31, and only an accounting change saved the carrier from posting a loss.

Southeast Asia's largest airline said its sales rose 9 percent, to 4.08 billion ringgit ($2 billion), from 3.74 billion ringgit in the previous year as its overall traffic rose.

But net earnings fell to 8.4 million ringgit, or 1.2 Malaysian cents a share, from 145.6 million ringgit. or 30.1 cents a share, mainly be-cause the carrier failed to repeat its previous success in selling used aircraft and spare parts at a profit.

The company also said profit was hit by recession in key markets, low margins on competitive international routes, losses on domestic routes and the cost of its aircraft ourchases.

Malaysian Air said it carned 11.8 million ringgit last year by selling one B737-200 and various spare

The carrier would have had a loss in the latest period except for an accounting change in which it in-creased the residual value for new aircraft - their sale value after 15 years - to 20 percent from 10 percent, slicing depreciation charges by 69.1 million ringgit.

It said the change was justified on the grounds that its new aircraft would have a large resale value because of high-technology equipment and that it was following practices adopted by other airlines.

■ Ibéria Says Loss Narrows The Spanish national airline Ibéria Lineas Aéreas de España SA said its operating loss narrowed to 13.6 billion pesetas ($100 million) in the first four months of 1994 from 18.5 billion pesetas a year earlier, Bloomberg Business News reported from Madrid,

The outlook for operating in-come this year is good, and the results could even be positive," the

France-U.K. Compromise British Can Land at Orly as of June 13

Compiled by Our Staff From Despatches PARIS - France said Monday that it would allow British airlines to make four flights daily between London and Orly airport outside Paris starting June 13.

The compromise eased the latest conflict between European Union countries over how fast to deregulate industries and spur competition, but British carriers still protested the limited service.

Transport Minister Bernard Bosson of France announced the decision after a weekend meeting with John MacGregor, the British transport secretary. Mr. MacGregor called the move a "major victory" for his government's negotiators. Mr. Bosson said that he would strongly support a bid by French airlines to get slots at London's Heathrow airport. He said he would limit Orly access to four take-off and landing slots per company per day, and from the summer of 1995 would only allow planes with more than 200 seats on the airport during morning and evening peak hours.

"The Commission wants total

By Louis Uchitelle

New York Times Service

dent Bill Clinton has concluded that the American workplace cannot become truly efficient and globally competitive until the hostility between labor and management - particularly when unions try to organize a

The commission found a rising number of conflicts

when unions try to organize a company's workers. It also said that 40 million to 50 million workers — more than 30 percent of the U.S. work force - yearn to participate in decision-making on the job, a yearning that many managers welcome, but many others reject.

The White House plans the findings of the 10member commission, which includes three former secretaries of labor, corporate executives and union leaders, to be the focus for whatever labor legislation it might propose in the president's first term.

What we want is a new framework for worker-management relations that breaks the stalemate that now exists and holds back innovation and efficiency at the workplace," said Thomas Kochan, a professor of management at the Massachusetts Institute of Tech-company — is greatly reduced.

nology and a commission member.

NEW YORK — A commission created by Presiagreed to total freedom from Britain welcomed the decision but vowed to fight on against restrictions still in place.

The British Airways chairman Sir Colin Marshall, said flights by BA and its subsidiary TAT would begin promptly on June 13. A spokesman said BA was particularly concerned about France limiting services to only four flights per airline and restricting the capacity of those aircraft allowed in. Mr. Bosson also said that France would lodge an official complaint before July 3 with the European Court of Justice against the European Commission's decision to force open Orly. "I am not a protectionist," he said. "I am in favor of competition because it will reduce the price of air travel to nearly all destinations. But a condition is strained." The French decision comes as Paris tries to obtain EU permission to pump hundreds of mil-mandate

New Deal for U.S. Workplace

that [competition] should be re-freedom now," he said. "We lions of dollars into Air France during reorganization to stem losses that topped 8 billion francs ($1.4 billion) last year. Unions have slowed the effort by launching crippling strikes to protest planned job cuts.

"I am astonished at the size of the aid package," said Mr. Mac-Gregor. "We will insist that this is the last state aid Air France Will receive."

France has argued that it needs to restructure Air France before full deregulation. The group's do-mestic airline, Air Inter, is saddled with money-losing routes it agreed to run in exchange for highly profitable ones.

Orly, south of Paris, is currently mainly used as the hub airport for domestic airline Air Inter. Most international flights use Roissy/Charles de Gaulle airport.

Meantime, two French airlines, Air Outre-mer and Air Liberte. are threatening to take action in Britain to achieve access to London's Heathrow airport, "Discussions are under way with London airport authorities," Mr. Bosson told reporters. (Reuters, AP)

To this end, the commission is trying to broker a historic compromise that would give workers and managers shared power in running their companies. That is a tall order, but part of the commission's

The AFL-CIO labor union is interpreting the findings as evidence that the National Labor Relations

Act, enacted in 1935 and still the basic U.S. labor law, should be amended to make union organizing, guaranshould be amended to make union organizing, guaranteed in the 1935 act, easier and faster.

But management is unlikely to embrace that view.

"It is my sense of the business community that it would not be very supportive of making it easier for unions to organize," said Jeffrey C. McGuiness, president of the Labor Policy Association.

The labor law that emerged during the Great Depression drew some provisions from a similar, detailed study of the American workplace by a presidential the Future of Worker-Management Relations, asserted that the necessary crisis does indeed exist - fed by such factors as stagnant wages, global competition, polarized incomes and high unemployment for the

The panel, formally known as the Commission on commission. There has been no such study since,

Mediobanca Is Told It Faces Investigation

Compiled by Our Stuff From Dispatches it was not responsible for stopping MILAN - Prosecutors on Mon-the filing of the results. day told executives of Mediobanca were under investigation in connecof Ferruzzi Finanziaria SpA.

The notification, in a statement from the investigating judge, came one year after Mediobanca led a group of creditor banks in a takeover of Ferruzzi. Once Italy's second-largest privately owned industrial company, after Fiat SpA. Ferruzzi had debts at the time estimated at around 30 trillion lire ($18 billion).

Mediobanca issued a statement saying the bank was "bitter" that its "dedication and correct actions" in trying to save Ferruzzi from bankruptcy had "had the effect of criminalizing us."

Mr. Cuccia, 86, helped found Mediobanca in 1946, and it has since backed all of Italy's leading companies and families, including the Agnellis, the Pirellis and the

The other targets of the investigation are the bank's chief executive officer, Vincenzo Maranghi; Gerardo Braggiotti, its head of finance, and Maurizio Romiti, its head of mergers and acquisitions.

Mediobanca is the country's biggest merchant bank. It is the clearing house for virtually all major financial deals, the custodian of strategic chunks of stock in Italy's handful of major industrial groups, the center of financial bailouts and restructurings.

Ferruzzi handed over control to its creditor banks last summer as it faced collapse amid the bribery and corruption investigations that touched dozens of Italian politicians and business executives.

Mediobanca said Monday that the prosecutors said the bank should have stopped the official filing in June 1993 of 1992 financial results approved by Ferruzzi's former management.

Mediobanca said it had given investigators evidence showing that

Ferruzzi Finanziaria, which SpA — including its honorary owns chemical and other industrial chairman Enrico Cuccia — they companies, was taken over by Mediobanca and other creditor banks tion with the restructuring last year after posting a net loss for 1992 of 1.52 trillion lire. It later posted a loss of 2.42 trillion lire for 1993, including restructuring charges of

2.1 trillion lire. Former Ferruzzi executives are under investigation for paying millions of dollars to politicians to gain control of Enimont, a chemical joint venture of Ferruzzi's Montedison SpA subsidiary and the state-owned energy concern Ente Nazionale Idrocarburi, known as ENI.

2 YSL Executives Are Accused of Insider Trading The Associated Press

PARIS — Two senior executives of the French fashion house Yves Saint Laurent were charged Monday with insider trading and violating brokerage laws.

The charges against Pierre Berge, the company's chairman, and Jean-Francis Bretelle, its general manager, were filed after a six-month investigation into the takeover of Yves Saint Laurent SCA by Elf Sanofi SA.

They are alleged to have violated insider-trading rules and laws re-quiring the use of licensed brokers for share transactions. French stock market authorities cited irregularities in transactions preceding the sale of a controlling stake of the fashion house to Sanofi in January 1993.

According to the investigators, 100 million francs ($17.5 million) in shares were traded off market and in Switzerland in violation of French law. Yves Saint Laurent SA was subsequently merged into Sanoti, a unit of the French oil giant Elf Aquitaine, through a share swap.

Thinking Ahead /Commentary

Lessons of the Great China Debacle

By Reginald Dale International Herald Tribune ASHINGTON - President Bill Clinton's decision to keep trade flowing with China — and to delink it from human rights - was not just about trade, nor even just about China. With luck, it reflects a new realism about how the world works in the realism about how the worst works in the closing years of the 20th century —and about the limits to American power. Now that same realism should be applied to other problem policy areas — starting with Japan.

In one way, of course, Mr. Clinton's embarrassing volte-face on China was simply a long-overdue recognition that you can not have it both ways. You cannot insist that American exports and jobs are your prime concern and at the same time threaten to endanger them -at least not very convincingly. Many saw Mr. Clinton's decision as ramming home the by now rather trite point that in the post-Cold War era foreign policy is driven by economics. "More and more, we find that economics is a major point in foreign affairs," Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bent-sen said. "That's going to accelerate." It is not exactly a new phenomenon. Colonialism was mostly about economics. Nor is it entirely true. It would take a Marxist to argue that economics had much to do with Mr. Clinton's foreign-policy failures in Bosnia, Haiti or Somalia.

It also is a false antithesis to suggest that economics somehow beat out human rights to dictate Mr. Clinton's new China policy.

But it is true that economics, and trade in particular, has catapulted to the forefront of the American foreign political debate. Mr.

Sources: ING Bank (Amsterday); Indowns Bonk (Brussels); Banco Cemmerciale Italiana (Millon); Agence Fresse (Parky; Bank of Takyo (Tokyo); Royal Bank of Canada (Toronto); IMF (SDR), Other data from Reuters and AP,

Clinton has played his part by frequently treating foreign policy as an arm of domestic economic policy, designed to smash open foreign markets to promote growth and employment at home.

It is right and proper that economic questions should dominate American relations with much of rest of the world: How should Russia best be helped to become a market economy, how might Latin America be brought into a hemispherewide free-trade area, how can Japan be helped to reduce its trade surplus - and how can China best be cleanly integrated into the world economic system?

Three major lessons can be drawn from the China episode — and they all are applicable to relations with Japan.

It is indicrous to claim, as some of Mr. Chinton's critics did last week, that this means putting profits over principles. It is a perfect-ly legitimate principle to advance world pros-perity by promoting trade. Over the medium term, that is also the best way of promoting

But giving economics its due does not simply mean going to Tokyo to demand "jobs, jobs, jobs" for American workers, like President George Bush, or trying to bully Japan into buying more American goods, like Mr.

There are lessons to be learned from the great China debacle

One is that in today's global economy, not even the biggest single player can get its way on its own. Another is that relations with key partners should not be based on the biggest uritant in those relations.

A third is that narrow domestic considerations should not govern major foreign policy decisions. Mr. Clinton's main mistake with China was that a year ago he tried to solve a foreign-policy problem by keeping Congress happy, rather than by addressing the problem itself.

It so happens that all those lessons apply to Japan. Mr. Clinton has been trying to force Tokyo to change single-handedly, he has allowed the frustrations of American businessmen and their allies in government to dictate strategic policy priorities, and he has focused the entire relationship with Tokyo on the most contentious part of it, the bilateral trade

There is a trace of hope that Mr. Clinton is learning. In agreeing to restart more formal negotiations with Japan last week, Washing-ton has significantly softened its position.

Better still, Mr. Clinton should follow the China precedent, admit he was wrong all along and come up with a better policy. He should scrap all his demands for managed trade, not just the most extreme ones.

While he seems to have everyone agreeing on the importance of trade for America, he should hurry up and get Congress to ratify the outcome of the Uruguay Round before he has yet another crisis on his hands.

Perhaps he could infect Capitol Hill with some of that new sense of realism,

P.M. 385.25 Closed Closed

QUITE SIMPLY THE ROYAL OAK.

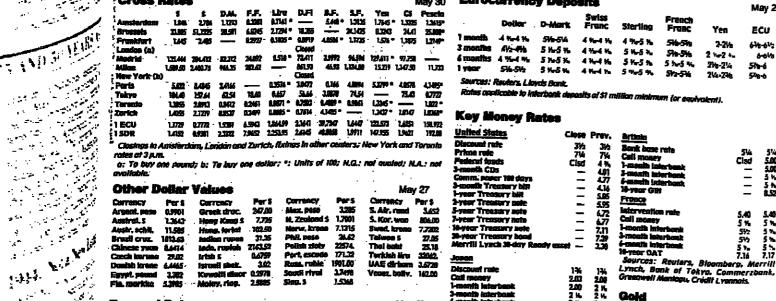

AUDEMARS PIGUET

The master watchmaker

For information and catalogue, please write to: Audemars Piguet & Gie S.A., 1348 Le Brassus, Switzerland, Tel. 41 21 845 49 31 Fax. 41 21 845 42 14

CURRENCY & INTEREST RATES

Wannesmann Predicts Profit On Sales Jump

DUSSELDORF - Mannesmann AG, the German metalworking and telecommunications company, said fast-rising sales would help it return to profit this year after a 1993 net loss of 513 million Deutsche marks ($312 million).

"We expect the group to be in the black this year." said Werner Dieter, the chief executive of the company.

He said the company's 1993 ac-counts were hit by almost 1 billion DM of extraordinary costs, startup costs of a mobile-phone subsidiary and goodwill write-offs.

Italian Banker Is Detained in Schneider Case

BRUSSELS - Didier Pineau-Valencienne, a French executive. has been joined in his Brussels like by an Italian banker, prison officials said Monday.

Both Mr. Pineau-Valencienne and the banker. Valentino Foti. face charges of forgery, using false documents, fraud, and breach of confidence, investigators said.

Mr. Foti is the main stockholder of the Belgian real estate and financial company Patience & Beaujonc. a subsidiary of the French electri-cal and engineering giant.

Both men were held after turning up voluntarily to answer questions from Belgian police in connection with the the sale of two Schneider subsidiaries, Colibel and Colimines. Minority shareholders in the companies said Schneider purposely underestimated the companies value. Under Belgian law the two can be held until Wednesday.

Thirty-six leading French business figures, including former Prime Minister Edith Cresson, have signed a statement in defense of Mr. Pineau-Valencienne. The statement said the 36 wanted to "express the emotion which they feel about the action taken against Pineau-Valen-

Goodwill is an accounting term that refers to intangible assets comprising the difference between the book value of a company and the price at which it is purchased. These large burdens that we had are already gone." Mr. Dieter said. Last year the number of Mannesmann employees fell by 4 percent, to 9,568, and would have fallen further without starting Mo-bilfunk GmbH, the mobile-phone

He said profit in the first four months of 1994 was already "clearly better than in the very weak comparative period" of 1993, although the company still had a loss for the period. Sales rose 9 percent in the first four months this year, to 8.7 billion DM, while new orders rose 14 percent. to 10.8 billion DM.

"Above all, the revival in foreign markets contributed to this." Mr. Dieter said, adding that domestic demand also rose. Demand from North American and Asian customers was especially strong, he said. Mobilfunk started the year on a particularly strong note, with sales more than doubling in the first quarter, to 344 million DM.

Mr. Dieter said eight out of the company's 11 divisions saw an improvement in business in the four months through April. In particular, sales in machinery and plant construction rose 22 percent, to 5 billion DM.

The automobile technology op erations, meantime, returned to the black in the first four months thanks to a stabilizing in German business and rising foreign demand, as well as the impact of last year's cost-reduction measures. In the company s steel pipe manufacturing business, new orders rose 9 percent, to 1.4 billion DM. But the operations were still unprofitable in the first four months.

Mr. Dieter, however, predicted a "dramatic" increase in sales of pipes this year, of between 10 percent and 20 percent over last year's 3.79 billion DM.

Mr. Dieter confirmed that the company would ask shareholders to authorize 500 million DM in

Daimler Unit Expanding Deutsche Aerospace Looks Abroad

ABU DHABI - The troubled Deutsche Aerospace AG has started staking out claims around the world to make up for shrinking European

In a new strategy to shore up business, the aerospace and defense subsidiary of Daimler-Benz AG also is looking into a possible domestic alliance in defense technology with Siemens AG and is investing in environmental technologies.

To increase its presence in the Middle East, Deutsche Aerospace on Sunday opened a sales office for the Gulf region in Abu Dhabi. This year. the company also has or is planning to set up representation in Austria. China. Singapore and "We are systematically building up a network around the world," said Michael Ganal, senior vice president and marketing director.

Deutsche Aerospace became the flagship of the German aerospace and defense industry shortly after it was founded in 1989. It is a partner in the Airbus Industrie and Arianespace consortia, and is working on the Eurocopter and Eurofighter pro-

But the end of the Cold War and the subsequent recession cut both defense business and aircraft

In 1993, Deutsche Aerospace posted a group net loss of 694 million Deutsche marks ($422 million). more than double the year before, but it said it expected to be back in the black next year after restructuring that included slashing its workforce.

"The European market is shrinking, but it is growing in Asia and the Middle East," Mr. Ganal said. He said Deutsche Aerospace intended to upgrade its representations in many Middle East

Dornier GmbH. a Deutsche Aerospace subsidiary that builds regional turboprop aircraft, has had a bureau in Abu Dhabi for several years. It now forms the basis for the parent company's

The company said it hoped to increase its market volume in the Middle East, mainly in the Gulf. to 500 million DM in the next few years after 1992 sales of 120 million DM.

Keen to expand its aviation sector, the company will concentrate on marketing regional aircraft and airport equipment ranging from control-tower simulators for trainees to runway lights.

It also sees a Middle East market for airborne oil-pollution monitoring systems, sea-traffic surveillance systems and ground-water monitoring

We are systematically building up a network around the world.

Michael Ganal, vice president of Deutsche Aerospace.

computers in a region where fresh-water supplies are scarce and oil production is damaging the

"I think environmental products are now a top priority for this region," said Ahmad Al-Man-soury, deputy director general of the Abu Dhabi

Chamber of Commerce He said the United Arab Emirates, the secondlargest oil producer in the region, did not have the technology to improve the environment. Defense will remain a core business for Deut-sche Aerospace, although its share of the compa-ny's sales has shrunk to 27 percent from more than percent four years ago.

Meanwhile, Deutsche Aerospace and Siemens. the electrical equipment maker, recently said they were discussing cooperation in defense technology because of cuts in Bonn's defense procurement

Warsaw Privatizing Its Airline

The Associated Press WARSAW - Poland plans to sell a 49 percent share of its national airline LOT, the transport minister said Monday.

"It is time to privatize our flag carrier." Boguslaw Liberadzki told the PAP news agency. "We have 49 percent of its stock for sale."

Mr. Liberadzki said the government was not looking specifically for another airline to take over a part of the national carrier.

"It does not have to be a single strategic investor and it does not have to be another airline," he said. On May 10, LOT entered into an agreement with American Airlines on traffic exchange, code sharing and flight schedules.

However, Mr. Liberadzki indicated that the agreement in place was "sufficient" for the time being and that American was not seen as a potential buyer.

He said LOT's book value was 2.2 trillion zlotys ($98 million), but that the government needed to assess its real value. In 1988, LOT was the first Eastern European airline to purchase Western commercial aircraft after four decades of operating Sovietbuilt planes.

It annually flies 1.2 million passengers to 53 destinations.

LOT operates three Boeing 767 aircraft on overseas routes to the United States and Canada and on longer international flights. Eleven Boeing 737 planes fly on European

Investor's Europe CAC 40 FTSE 100 index 2930 TF Prev. HONDRY Exchange Close 401.63 +0.20 102.42 "AEX Amsterdam 7,779.12 7,734.71 Brussels 2,140.99 2:118.15 Frenkfurt. 816.08 803.85 FAZ Frankfurt : 1,811.97 -0,36 1,805.43 HEX itelsinici ... 2.845.90 Financial Times 30 . Closed London 2,956.40 Closed FTSE 100 Londos 382.71 329.65 General Index 1,181.00 +0.59 1,188.00 +0.09 2.050.67 2.052.5 1,895.11 449.29 451.37 ... 0.46 Vienna Stock Index 961.77+0.91 SBS 970.55

Very briefly:

Compagnie de Suez said it would sell as much as 4 billion French francs ($711 million) of real estate assets owned by its subsidiary Compagnie Foncière Internationale to the investment company Unibail.

 Arnoldo Mondadori Editore SpA, the publishing company controlled by Prime Minister Silvio Berlusconi of Italy, will sell a stake of more than 25 percent to foreign investors, a board member said.

• Euro Disney SCA expects to have a loss in the six months ending in September, its chairman, Philippe Bourguignon, said, but its recent financial restructuring "will provide the company with sufficient funds to continue operations."

 Preussag AG said net profit rose 5 percent, to 121 million Deutsche marks ($73 million), in the six months ended March 31 on rising earnings in is energy, trading and machinery sectors; sales edged up to 11.1 billion DM from 10.9 billion DM.

 Agip Petroli SpA, the oil refining and distribution subsidiary of the Italian state energy company Ente Nazionale Idrocarburi, said net profit rose 11 percent in 1993, to 155.3 billion lire ($98 million), as gross sales climbed 10 percent, to 33.787 trillion lire.

Bloomberg, AFP, Knight-Ridder

Opel Steps Up Campaign Against López

RUSSELSHEIM. Germany -General Motors Corp.'s German unit intensified its campaign against José Ignacio Lòpez de Artioriua on Monday, releasing a detailed account of the Volkswagen AG manager's alleged transgressions against GM, his former employer.

But the document appeared to fall short of the comprehensive evidence of industrial espionage promised by Adam Opel AG, because the Darmstadt public prosecutor's office said it had no fresh man for the prosecutors. Volkswagen dismissed the document as a "film script," and point-ed out that all court rulings in the case so far had been in favor of VW. On Sunday, Volkswagen dismissed weekend reports that Opel had urged prosecutors to arrest Mr. Lopez, saving the GM unit was trying to influence public opinion through the media.

"There's nothing new," said confidential documents when he Volkmar Kallenbacher, a spokes- left the Detroit-based car giant.

The document released by Opel recounts Mr. López's switch from GM to VW and the alleged theft of confidential documents when he "The chronologies published up to now haven't been very com- fore he switched to GML plete," said Bruno Seifert, a spokesman for Opel. Among apparently few new de-tails revealed Monday, Mr. Seifert claimed the company had a letter from Jorge Alvarez-Aguirre, a former GM executive who defected to trial secrets from Opel. "Alvarez wrote to Lopez saving he'd searched unsuccessfully for photos of the O-car." Mr. Seifert pez's interest in the O-car project said. O-car is Opel's code name for grew over the period, at the same a small car it was developing and time he was meeting with VW execplanned to market in the late 1990s utives.

to compete with VW's best-selling leges Mr. López purloined considerable material on the project be-Mr. Seifert said the alleged letter from Mr. Alvarez-Aguirre to Mr.

Lopez was not mentioned in the Opel document because it was an object of the investigation and therefore not allowed to be published. The lengthy document includes a Volkswagen with Mr. Lopez, which indicated Mr. Lopez had supervised an operation to obtain indus-largest auto producer, beginning in May 1992 with Lopez's promotion to global purchasing chief at GM. The Opel statement said Mr. Lo-

AGF Says Sales Rose 6%

PARIS — The French insurer Assurances Générales de France SA said its sales rose 6 percent, to 20.8 billion francs ($3.6 billion), in the first four months, compared with the same period of 1993.

The company's chairman, Antoine Jeancourt-Galignani. told ning of the year. On Monday, AGF was trading at 493.9.

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED

Today's EDUCATION DIRECTORY

Appears. on Page 4

PERSONALS

MAY THE SACRED HEART of Jesus be addred, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the world now and jox-ever. Socred Heart of Jesus pray for us. South Jude worker of immades pray for us. South Jude heart part to the hersaless when the property of the property of the prous. Saint Jude help of the hopel by for us. AMEN, AMC.

DUTY FREE SHOPS

FREDDY

All performs & grits. Duty Free in the heart of Paris. Special discounts for US friends to marris the D-Day 56th. Sevengs of 40%. 2 blocks from "Opero" need to the American Express Bonk, PREE GIFT with this cal. Most-Fr. 9-6-30 10 rose Auber, Paris 9, Metro Opero.

WORLD CUP TICKETS
All games available. Tel (310) 277-478
Fax. (310) 277-5528 U.S.A.

READERS ARE ADVISED

that the International

Hereld Tribune connet be held responsible for less or hold responses for new wa demages incurred as re-sult of transactions stem-ming from advertisements which appear in our paper. It is therefore recommend-al that seedow make goed that readers make approprieto inquiries before sanding any monty or en-tering into any binding

OPPORTUNITIES

OFFSHORE COMPANIES

750 READY MADE COMPANIES
 BANA IR TIRCOULTIONS
 ACCOUNTING, LEGAL & ADMIN
 LCS AND TRADE DOCUMENTATION
 TELEPHONE & MAIL FORWARDING

Telephane or fax for immediate service and 100 page colour brochure

OCRA ASIA LIMITED 74-07 Bank of America Tower Harcouri Road, Hong Kong Tel. + 852 5220172 Fax. + 852 5211190

OFFSHORE COMPANIES

ASTON CORPORATE TRUSTES LTD 19, Peel Road, Daugiaz, Isle of Man Tel: 0624 626591 For 0624 625126

Free professional consulto Worldwide incoporations Immediate availability Full confidential services

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS English specifying meetings dolly. Tel. PARIS (I) 46 34 59 65. FOME 678 0320, FRANKFURT 5974265

Attention visitors from the U.S.!

If you enjoy reading the lift! when you travel, why not also get it at home ? Same-day delivery available in key U.S. ohes.

Call (1) 800 882 2884 (in New York add 212 752 3890)

Herald Eribune.

"SUMMER IN FRANCE" Special Heading for Holiday Rentals

Friday, June 3 more information & to place you advertisement, please contact:

i.H.T. in Paris Tel: (1) 46 37 93 85 or Fax: (1) 46 37 93 70

OFFSHORE BANK with Class A licence.
Full merchant or commercial bank powers. Too hee vistue, timmedial transfer. US $25,000. London 44 71 394 5157. Canada (804) 942 6169.
COMMERCIAL/ BUSINESS FINANCE ovolable for any viable projects worldwide. Fax brief synoges in Brigish to Compared Advances. 44.
27.4-213.00. Quale Ref: 71.

OFFSHORE COMPANIES: IPCR, 1/5 Church Street, Douglas, Isle of Mon. Fel: (0624) 627529 Fax: (0624) 629662

OFFSHORE COMPANIES. For free brachure or advice Tel: Landon 44 81 741 1224 Fax: 44 81 748 6558

BUSINESS SERVICES

$AVE ON

International

Phone Calls

Now you can call the U.S. and save as much as 65% compared to local phone compared to local phone compared to railing and plans Call from home, office or hatels and owned surcharges. Available in all countries.

Call now for rates and see how Lines open 24 hours.

∰kallback

Tel: 1/206-284-8600

Fax: 1/206-282-6666

PEEING low? — having problems? SOS HELP crass-line in English, 3 p.m.-11 p.m. Tel- Para (1) 47 23 80 80

BUSINESS MESSAGE CENTER

BAREME AS 24 ou 31 Mei '94 Fro Hors TA en devise locale (radiction disconble sin demonde) Rempiste les balèmes anteneurs

U.K. er & 1 - 774 - 17 5% GO: 0.41 FOD*: 0.26 ALLEMAGNE en DAL I - TVA, 15,0% GO: 1.01(Rheim) SCSP: 1,34

BEGIQUE en F3.1 - TVA_20,50% GO: 3391 SC97: 38,ಟ an PTAS/1 - TVA: 15,0%

SC97: 95:30 SCSP: 95,22 * Usage réglementé F.A.A.C.T.S. The free Anglo American AIDS courseling & treatment support Benefit Concert starring Boryton David Pritman-Jennings, Tuesday May 31st or 8pm, American Cotherdrol, 23 Are George V, Paris Bith.

REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE MONACO New project with studio to S-room apartments available. Panoramic view divisible office space, attractive price Further details: Ars Borlansen - SEM, 9 ave d Ostende - MC 98000 Monaco

Tet: (33) 92 16 90 00 PARIS & SUBURBS

OFFSHORE COMPANIES

FROM £150

Vanous countries, Full services.
INTERNATIONAL COMPANY SERVICES (UK) LIMITED
Standarook House, 2 - 5
Old Bond Steet, London W1/3 JTB
Tel: + 44 71 493 4244
Tal: + 44 71 491 0605

CAPITAL AVAILABLE

CONFIRMABLE DRAFTS

PLACE VENDOME, owner sells, small luxurious apartment. Telephone Pars. (1) 42 67 94 98.

REAL ESTATE

PARIS AREA FURNISHED

Paris la defense 1 RESIDENCE CARTEL

porous 2 or 3-room apartments to rent for 3 days or more. Immediate Reservations rel Tel: (33-1) 41 25 16 16: Fax (33-1) 41 25 16 15:

specialists in furnished apartments, esidentical areas, 3 months and more. Tel: (1) 42 25 32 25 Fex (1) 45 63 37 09

AT HOME IN PARIS PARIS PROMO oportments to real turnished or not Sales & Property Management Services 25 Av Hoche 75008 Paris, Fas. 1-45611020

Tel: (1) 45 63 25 60 74 CHAMPS BYSSES CLARIDGE

FOR 1 WEEK OR MORE high class studio, 2 or 3-room operations. FULLY EQUIPMED, IMMEDIATE RESERVATIONS Tel: {1} 44 13 33 33 BACKED BY CASH Issued in Your Name Confirmed by Major Int'l Banks to Prove Availability of Funds Backed by Private Investors CAPITAL SUPPORT CORP. J.S. (714) 757-1070 Fex 757-1270 SERVICED OFFICES

Your Office in Germany ME CITE "CIT YOUR SERVICE"

ILE ST LOUIS riew on Notre Done, 100 sam. hop floor presignous flor, Recephon, 1 bedroom. FF30,000. 1-42261399 Srd, NEAR REALBOURG, 3-42061399 Soloony, sm., 1 year min. F6,000 net. Mod service. Tet 1-42 78 53 32. Lairon Business Services GenbH Lasco-Hous om Holzhausenpark Justinanstrasse 22, 60322 Frankfurt om Mom NOISY ILE ROI modern villo 150 sq.m., 4 bedrooms, FTI6,000. Poston, 1: 47936550. Other reshols. 1-eth, VICTOR HUGO sunny 170 sq.m. duples fully equapped, 3 bedrooms, 2 boths. FTI6,000 Owner (1) 4727 4066 Germany Tel: (69) 245530 Fax. (69) 595770

🖼 LAKE GENEYA & MOUNTAIN RESORTS Scale to foreigners outborized our speciality since 1975 used PROPERTES & CHALETS in MONTREIX, VILLARS, LES DRABLERTS, GSTAAD, CRANS-MONTANA, VERBER, etc., From SF, 20,000 to 3.5 mio. REVAC S.A. 52, Montbrillont, CH-1211 Generic 2 1el 4) 22-734 15 40, Fixx 734 12 20 MARAIS, Cheming small STUDIO, all cameris, F3,800 including excress Minimum 6 months, Tel: 142 2 3 34. PARIS AREA UNFURNISHED

TO RENT/SHARE GREAT BRITAIN NEAR HARRODS. Lovely 2 bedroom cortage. $350.00 weekly. Tel. UK 44 (071 569 8223

& Short Term Leases for (sem) fur-nished houses & flots. Tel. + 31 20 6250071. Fros. + 31 20 6390475. Keizensgrocht 33, 1015 CD Amsterdam

MONTAIGNE, 95 sq.m.
PERFECT CONDITION
Perimed decoration, parking - F32,000 net.

BERRI, CHAMPS ELYSEES Duples, 130 sq.m., perfect condition, colm, portono - F30,000 net. COREPI Tel: (1) 45 89 92 52 or Fox: (1) 45 65 44 13

AGENCE CHAMPS ELYSES

Hondpicked quality apartments, at sizes, Pars and suburbs. CAPITALE PARTNERS Fet. (1) 46 14 82 11. Fau: 7th, RUE DU BAC, 140 sq.m. Exceptional ground floor operation of provide countyard, very quet with trees. 2 hedrooms, Mid June - Mid August. F4,000/week, Tel. [1] 45 44 76 74.

L'ETANG LA VILLE, lovely recent 235 sq.m. villo, neor stofion, equipped latchen, joccuzz, play room, F25,000. Poston: 1-42736050. Other rentals. Complete office services at two prestige addresses Intilly equipped offices for short term or long term.
Internationally housed office and professional staff at your disposal.
Can be legally used as your corporate dome PARIS BIENVENUE charm, privacy with survex & furnished rentals. 3 regins to 2 years. Foll 4212-040 fox 1-4212-048

7th, LUCUROUS 1 large bedroom anny, marble both, beloony, IV, fully exampled 1710,000. Tel: 1-45 67 46 07.

ILE ST (COURT INSTANCE) And Mark Court Instance of the Instance

VICTOR-19UGO, Beautiful 2 rooms, 9th floor, summy, on park, exceptional equipment, Tel. (1) 46 02 19 on SWITZERLAND SCUTH MONTPARNASSE, charming 2 rooms, on gorden F4,800 + charges Tel: (1) 45 $7 52 49 or 45 (4 TL 5) 5th, PARK, sin, beleavy, discretze, 4 rooms, F13 (00) net, And omen, AntA fel 1-40 26 01 90, Fax, 1-40 25 50 94. 15th, 100 sq.m. APARTMENT hill-equipped, US latther bottom & parking F12,000 ma, Tel: 1.4705 2993

> Embassy Service YOUR REAL ESTATE AGENT IN PARIS

Tel: (1) 47.20.30.05 CHAMPS DE MARS, riognificant oportment, entirely redone, large fiving, dining room, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, eaupped larden, F27,000 mornit, 1et-1-205, 2000 / evening, 164 4453 5522.
L'ETANG LA VILLE, lovely recent 235 sq.m. villo, mear station equipped larden, jocariza, play room, F25,000. Paston; 1-42734050. Other rentols. BAC-VERNEUS. data, very beautiful 4/5 rooms, newly renovated, adm, very dear, bathroom & shower room, 2 was. F20,800 charges included. 1-420/3/40 RE SART-LOUIS, superb large 2 rooms, very high class beams, colm. Short or long term rental, F1 520 per month net, Tel. (1) 45 74 87 77.

VIEW ON PANTHEON, very exceptional DUPLEX, 4 rooms, beams, 17th century building. Cartafan-Joinson Tel-PASSY, 160 sq.m. flot, triple living 3 bedrooms. FF15,000 Cloude Postori Tel: 1-4273695. Other rentols 6th, 57 GEMAIN DES PRES chout 115 sq.m. lorge living, begins, 2 bedrooms. FF12,000. Tel (1) 46 33 05 13

EMPLOYMENT SECRETARIAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE MGUSH MOTHER tangue secretaries urgently needed for temporary and permanent positions. Call Sophie, GR Interim, Pans. (1) 42 ol 82 11

EDUCATIONAL BNGLISH LADY TEACHER 35, seeks teaching position in Europe, full or port-time, any level, 11 yrs experience as modern language teacher in England, Tel/Fax 44 (0)533 867382

AUTO RENTALS RENT FROM DERGI AUTO WED'END: FF 515 SPECIAL OFFEP - 7 DAYS: FF 1000 PARIS TEL: (1) 45 87 27 04 LEGAL SERVICES

U.S. GREENCARD LOTTERY 55,000 Greencords to be issued in 1994/1995. S50. Legal fee to apply June 1-June 30, 1974, Kotfisee Grzegoré, Attorney 17383 Surser Brvd., Ste 120 Los Angeles, CA 9027 U.S.A. Tel:809/563-0655 Foxs(310)573-5073.

International Herald Tribune ads work

SCHEDULED daily Rights: 1st, business, economy at lowest fores, also D-day special, Tel IFT Paris (1) 47:55:13:13 shareholders sales of life insurance in France rose 7.3 percent and non-life sales were up 3.9 percent. Outside France, overall sales rose 7.7 (Bloomberg, AFX. Reuters)

NEWS EVENTS WHICH COULD AFFECT

YOUR LIFE:

D-Day Commemorations Unresolved Problems in Bosnia Slow Recovery in Europe New Government in Japan

FOLLOW THE WORLD EVERY DAY IN THE IHT

Subscribe now and save up to

> AUSTRIA: 0660 8155 LUXEMBOURG: 0800 2703 BELGIUM: 0 800 1 7538 SWITZERLAND: 155 57 57 FRANCE: 05 437 437 THE NETHERLANDS: 06 022 5158 GERMANY: 0130 848585 UNITED KINGDOM: 0800 89 5965

> > Or send in the coupon below.

Country/Currency	12 months + 2 months FREE	SAVINGS for 1 year	5 months + 1 month FREE	3 months + 13 FAEL Issues
Austra	A. Sch.	6,000	37 .	3,300	1,800
Belgium	B.Fr.	14,000	36	7,700	4,200
Denmark	DN.	3,400	· 33	1,900	1.050
Finland	F.M.	2,400	40	1.300	700
France	F.F	1,950	. 40	1,070	590
Germany*	D.M.	700	32	385	210
Great Britain	1	210	32	115	65
Greece	Dr.	75,000	239	41,000	22,000
Ireland	되네	230	37	125	68
ttely	Lire	500,000	47	275,000	150,000
Luxembourg	L Fr.	14,000	36	7,700	4,200
Netharlands	Ħ,	770	40	420	230
Norway	NKr	3.500	36	1,900	1.050
Portugal	Esc.	47.000	29	26,000	14,000
Spain	P125.	48,000	24	25,500	14,500
- hand deliv. Madnd	Ptas.	55.000	24	27,500	14,500
Sweden (armail)	S Kr.	3,100	34	1,700	900
- hand delivery	S.Kr.	3,500	26.	1,900	1.000
Switzerland	Ş.Fı,	610	94	335	185
Rest of Europe as CE	$	485	- ·	265	145
CEI, N. Alnca, lormer French Alncan, Middle East	ş	630	·	345	190
Gull States, Asia, Central and South Amorica	5	780	.	430	235
Rest of Africa	5	960		495	270

7	0/0	off the
4		cover price

Yes, I want to start receiving the IHT. This is the subscription term I prefer (check appropriate bases): 12 months (364 issues in all with 52 banus issues). 6 months (182 issues in off with 26 bonus issues). 3 months (91 issues in all with 13 bonus issues).

My check is enclosed (payable to the International Herald Tribune). Please charge my:
American Express
Diners Club
VISA
MasterCard
Eurocard
Access Credit card charges will be made in French Francs at current exchange rates.

(HT VAT number: FR747320211261) Mr I Mrs I Miss FAMILY NAME PERMANER IT ADDRESS: 11 HOME 11 BUSINESS.

Return your completed coupon to: Subscription Manager, I-IT, 181 Avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neutly Cedex, France. Fac: 33.1.46 37 06 51 - Tet: 33.1.46 37 93 61 This offer expires August 31, 1994, and is available to new subscribers only.

in har til flokklikkrykhatektholik CALL US TOLL-FREE

For information concerning hand-definery in major German cities call toll free IHT Germany at. 0130-84 85 85 or Iax (069) 175 413. Under German regulations, a 2-week free period is granted for all new orders. erald Tribune

AGF, which is two-thirds statesector later this year. Mr. Jeancourt-Galignani, asked whether he was worried by the fall in the price of AGF shares since the beginning of this year, said "All the insurers have seen their share price fall, more or less in the same proportions. Shares in AGF hit a 52-week low at 486.2 francs on Friday after losing 31.8 percent since the begin-

1986年第二

ASIA/PACIFIC

Japanese Data Suggest Revival For Economy

TOKYO - Japan released better-than-expected industrial output figures on Monday, a sign its economy may be turning the corner after three years in the doldrums, private economists said.

"From now on the feeling the economy has bottomed out will strengthen," said Nobnyuki Saji. economist at Nikko Research Center. The Ministry of International Trade and Industry said Japanese industrial output fell a preliminary 1.4 percent in April from March and a preliminary 1.5 percent from April 1993. The figures were adjusted for seasonal factors.

Economists said the decline was less steep than the 2 percent-to-3 percent drop many had expected after a 4.6 percent rise in March. when corporations cranked up pro-

NEC to Shift Output to U.S.

Bosnia Coalition

heeps Pressure

On Serbian Fog

Some Advance of the Control of the C

- 1 3 (LL) 5 E

- : =====

- TOTA

(1) (1) (1)

TO THE

INTERNATION:

SCHOOLO

STOCKHOU!

. --- - 3

. . . .

........... . . .

. . .

SWITZERLAND

20078

ومختلفه وتناسب المتناسب

No. of London No. of Street, S

The Associated Press TOKYO — Hoping to cut costs, NEC Corp. said Monday it planned to start mass production of advanced computer-memory chips in the United States within a year. The computer maker plans to increase its production of 16-megabit D-RAMs, or dynamic randomaccess memory chips, to 1.5 million a month at its plant in Roseville, California, its senior vice president, Haiime Sasaki, said. The plant currently produces about 45,000 of the percent in the quarter, down from a advanced chips a month.

duction in the United States, a 0.1 percent rise a year ago. company spokesman, Mark Pearce, said NEC and other Japanese counts for more than half of Ja-duction ahead of the end of the حكة المالامل

MITT also said output by manufacturers alone, a key component of the overall production figure, was likely to fall again in May by 1.4 percent but rise 1.3 percent in June. "It's the beginning of the end of the recession," Jesper Koll, chief economist at S.G. Warburg Securities (Japan), said. "This year the January-to-March quarter is unlikely to be a one-quarter wonder the way it was last year." Hopes that recovery was at hand also emerged last spring, only to be dashed by the yen's surge against the dollar and an unseasonably cold summer. Many hope this year will be different. Some analysts said the recovery was unlikely to be robust in its early stages but could still be undone should the yen strengthen further against the dollar. The strength of recovery will be weak," said an analyst at Sakura

Bank Ltd. ■ Japan Bank Loans Down Japan's bank loans fell slightly in the first quarter from a year ago, reflecting weak demand from companies, Bloomberg Business News reported from Tokyo.

Outstanding loans by 150 Japa-nese banks amounted to 507.93 trillion yen ($4.86 trillion) in the quarter, according to the Bank of Japan's statistics. That was down very slightly from 508.16 trillion yen a year before, when loans grew 1.3 percent. Lending to corporations grew 1.5

rise of 5.5 percent a year ago. But The move will place half of loans to manufacturing concerns NEC's 16-megabit D-RAM production and decreased 1.1 percent, down from a

In contrast to sluggish corporate loans, demand for housing loans manufacturers have been hit hard was firm because mortgage rates by rising personnel costs and the are at historic low levels, the central high yen, which make manufactur- bank said. Housing loans increased ing expensive in Japan. NEC ac- 1.4 percent in the first quarter, compared with a 0.3 percent rise pan's personal-computer market. the year before,

Wrestling With Mieno's Legacy Bank Chief's Tenure Sees Japan's Role Transformed

By James Sterngold New York Times Sernce

TOKYO - Only a few years ago, an awesomely affluent Japan was in the vanguard of countries that jointly used control of currency and interest rates to solve economic crises. There was great optimism over the benefits of active policy coordination.

It takes only a few minutes with Yasushi Mieno, the plainspoken governor of the Bank of Japan, to get a sense of how much things have changed. Mr. Mieno, a gregarious 70-year-old whose passion outside of monetary statistics is sumo wrestling, may well become known as the governor of diminished expectations

With Japan getting little help in halting the punishing rise of the yen these days, the govern-ment being criticized for not doing enough to end the recessi and the flood of Japanese capital abroad having become a trickle, coordinated action by the industrialized nations has been largely transformed, in Mr. Mieno's words, into a passive exchange about basic policy goals.

"That is the notion of policy coordination that I have," Mr. Mieno said in an interview.

His admission reflects the sober mood at the top of Japan's finan-cial system as Mr. Mieno ap-proaches the end of his five-year term. His tenure, which ends in December, covered one of the most tumultnous and humbling eras in Japan's financial history.

Under his stewardship, the Bank of Japan for the first time raised interest rates, not as a remedy for a burst of consumer price inflation — which was almost nonexistent when he took office in 1989 - but to check soaring stock and land prices.

The policy punctured what is now called the "bubble economy" of the 1980s, a speculative period that sent asset prices to astronomical levels. At the peak, the land beneath the Imperial Palace in central Tokyo was said to be worth more than all the real

The central bank's action trig-gered the longest recession in the postwar period. Mr. Mieno then of speculation during the 1980s and putting the economy on a reversed course and engineered the lowest official interest rates more solid footing, even if the medicine has been painful. ever, cutting the discount rate the rate the central bank charges zurrent 1.75 percent. But the cheap credit has failed to ignite an economic recovery because, some contend. Mr. Mieno's experiment in controlling asset prices went on too long.

More than $6 trillion in asset values have been wiped out, the real estate market is practically dead and commercial banks are saddled with massive had debts. It is no wonder that Mr. Mieno is regarded with a combination of fear, respect and anger - but never indifference.

Economic Shifts in Japan

THE DISCOUNT RATE Monthly figures.

"It was a question of degree," said Makoto Utsumi, the vice minister of finance at that time and now a professor at Keio University. "The point all along was to avoid a hard landing, I think if "My view is that nobody could we had tightened more slowly we could have had a soft landing."

on loans to commercial banks — have behaved better during such from a peak of 6 percent to its an unlucky period," said Yoshio The years under Mr. Mieno have left the Bank of Japan with Suzuki, chairman of the advisory board at the Nomura Research several perplexing problems that Institute and a former top execucould influence policy well into tive at the Bank of Japan. the future. For one, the bank has to decide whether his campaign There was virtually no price or against sozning stock and land wage inflation, but Mr. Mieno acted because of a belief that prices was a one-time foray or soaring asset prices would evenwill be a long-term policy. tually provoke inflation. Some still question that view.

Shin Kanemaru, formerly the country's most powerful politician, suggested several years ago that someone ought to behead the central bank governor.

If it is a long-term policy, it raises the question of when a bull market crosses the line into the dangerous "asset inflation" that Mr. Mieno attacked. "We still don't know the connection between monetary policy and asset prices," said Mikio Waat the Bank of Japan, now chairman of the board of councilors at the Japan Research Institute. The central bank must also decide where to draw the line between ridding Japan's markets of their burden of regulation - Mr. Mieno's long-stated policy —and using regulation to maintain the kind of order with which the bank "It is uncertain to what extent financial liberalization affected behavior during the period of the financial bubble," Mr. Mieno said. What is certain, he said, is that "under the process of deregulation there was some excessive aggressiveness on the part of the banks." He said deregulation had to continue, since competition was the only way to teach banks to manage their risks better.

katsuki, a former deputy governor

But he also insisted the government's heavy-handed ways in handling the debt crisis at the commercial banks would continue because of the central bank's need to protect the system against panic. The commercial banks have been pressured by the government to keep many ailing borrowers affoat with new loans be-

Very briefly:

Vietnam will allow Army Telecommunication Co., operating under the Ministry of Defense, to compete with its state-owned telecommunica-tions monopoly, the Directorate General of Post & Telecommunication. • Vietnam will spend $600 million in loans from Japan to build two hydroelectric plants with a combined capacity of 472 megawatts.

Australia's current account deficit in April widened by 18 percent, to 1.63 billion Australian dollars ($1 billion), as exports declined more than

• China Pharmaceutical Enterprise and Investment Corp., a state-run company that makes Vitamin C pills, plans to raise 200 million Hong Kong dollars ($26 million) this week through an initial public offering in

 Playmates Toys Holdings Lad. predicted that profit for the first half of its financial year to June 30 would be lower than in the comparable year-ago period because of the declining popularity of its Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtle line.

• Mitsubishi Motors Corp.'s U.S. subsidiary, Diamond Star Motors Corp., will buy more than $1 billion worth of U.S. auto parts this year, the

 South Korea's accumulated current account deficit widened to $2.8 billion in the first four months of the year from $822 million in the like

• Mitsubishi Kasei Corp., the Japanese chemical maker, revised its forecast for consolidated current profit this year to 2.6 billion yen ($25 million) from a previously forecast loss of 2.0 billion yen as cost-cutting AP, Bloomberg, AFX, AFF

Wheelock Acquires Site Of San Miguel Brewery.

WORLD STOCK MARKETS

Krissiane
Matro 18
Makio 47
Pohjolo 47
Repolo 50ckmomm 2
HEX Index 1866,43
Previous 1861,57

Hong Kong

3k East Asia 17.50
Castary Pacific 10.50
Castary Pacifi

Alimitarin Orient
Alimitarinar Hotel
New World Dev
SHK, Proxis
Slebox
Swire Prox A
Tol Cheorin Pros
TVE
Whor? Hold
Wing On Co Intl
Wings on Co

Frankturt

MANILA — San Miguel Ltd., topped five other bids. food and beverage conglomer-ate, said Monday that its Hong Kong subsidiary would sell its current plant site in Hong Kong to Wheelock Properties Ltd. for 3.5 billion Hong Kong dollars ($453 million).

The sale will generate cash for Hong Kong's biggest beer brewer to set up a new brewery and to expand joint-venture projects in China.
San Miguel said Wheelock,

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches the parent of Wharf (Holdings)

sent brewery in the Sham Tseng district during the next 24 months while it builds a new plant. The new facility, on a 4hectare (10-acre) lot in the Yuen Long industrial park, will cost 840 million dollars including the price of the land.

The Philippine parent will get 64 percent of the sale price, reflecting its equity stake in the Hong Kong unit.

Cred Itali Enichem Ferfin Ferfin Risp Flat SPA Finmecconi Generali

Montreal

Jakarta Trial Airs State Bank Scandals

NUMBER OF YEN TO THE DOLLAR

End-of-month floures and Friday's close:

. The scale has been inverted to show the year's growing strength.

By Philip Shenon New York Times Service

BANGKOK — The Indonesian vernment officials, bankers and business leaders in Southeast Asia's most populous

Eddy Tansil, a 40-year-old business executive, is on trial in Jakarta on charges of forgery and fraud involving 16 loans from the government-run development bank Bapindo. The loans were supposed to be used for building petrochemical

While the charges against Mr. Tansil are so technical that it took

Singapore

Stockholm

G: s 100

Miklogi 225 ; 2017 Praylous : 2077 Taple: hodex ; 1677 Praylous : 1671

prosecutors two-and-a-half hours prove that, although he was little-just to read the indictment in court known in financial circles in Jakarlast week, the Indonesian public ta, Mr. Tansil was given hundreds banking scandal, involving at least appears riveted by the case, both of millions of dollars in loans as a secause it involves hundreds of result of pressure on Rapindo from connected executive, is threatening millions of dollars of public money and because it threatens to soil reputations of Indonesians far more lice carrying rattan canes.

Among them are officials with se ties to President Subarto, the nation's leader since the 1960s.

Tokyo

high-ranking government officials.

prominent than Mr. Tansil.

When the trial opened May 10. hundreds of spectators turned out. As Mr. Tansil walked out of the controom, several of the speciators reportedly tried to punch him, and he had to be protected by po-

According to news reports in Indonesia, prosecutors may be able to

The reports have said that Admiral Sudomo, the former chief secunity minister and a longtime aide to President Suharto, wrote to the bank to youch for Mr. Tansil, and that the former finance minister J. B. Sumarlin, was sitting on the bank's board when it issued the credits. Neither man has been charged in the case, although both may be called to testify.

President Subarto's youngest son, Hutomo Mandala Putra, has also been linked to the case. Mr.

EUROPEAN FUTURES

Financial

19-YEAR FRENCH GOV. BONDS (MATIF) FF38000 - pts of 100 pc/
Jun 119-34 118.65 118.65 — 0.74
Sep 118.84 117.92 117.72 — 0.74
Dec 117-72 117.12 118.44 — 0.74
Est. volume: 225.432 Open int.: 154.545.

Stock Indexes

2042.00 2037.00 2048.00 — 2048.00 2017.00 2030.00 — 2048.00 2017.00 2030.00 — 2041.50 2018.00 2048.00 — N.T. N.T. 2078.00 — N.T. N.T. 2078.50 — ME: 57,5% Open Int.: 82,7%7.

ings in Indonesia, was a partner in Mr. Tansil's Golden Key Group but sold his stake back to the company last year.

Prosecutors have said that some was used by his family to buy land, houses and personal cars. The chief prosecutor, Luckman Bachmid, said in court last week that these were "losses to the state for selfaggrandizement." Mr. Tansil, who faces life imprisonment if convicted, has denied any wrongdoing. While the case against Mr. Tansil threatens to embarrass current and former government officials, diplomats say the trial may be a hopeful signal that the Suharto government is finally beginning to crack down on the notoriously corrupt state banking system, which is plagued by patronage and kickbacks.

"I would really doubt that all of the dirty laundry in this case is going to come out - the govern-ment couldn't afford that - but some well-known people could find themselves humiliated in the process," a Western diplomat in Jakar-

REPUBLIC OF GUINEA ENELGUI

Invitation for Prequalification Garafiri hydro-electric Project Lot No. 3 - Civil Works

 The Government of the Republic of Guinea has applied for a credit from the International Development Association (IDA), the African Development Bank (ADB), the Islamic Development Bank (IsDB), the Arab Bank for Economic Development in Africa (ABEDA), the Kuwait Fund, the Saudi Fund, etc., in various currencies to cover the cost of the Garafin Hydroelectric Project and intends to apply a portion of the proceeds of this credit to eligible payments under the contract for which this invitation for Prequalification is issued.

2. ENELGUI intends to prequalify contractors for the execution of the following works, namely:

- dam (75 m high, 570,000 m³ of excavation, 4,900,000 m³ of fill),

 2 tunnels (5.8 m in diameter, 610 m long, and 8.6 m in diameter, 680 m ungated spillway (250,000 m² of excavation, 40,000 m² of concrete), headrace to the powerhouse and surge tank (180,000 m² of excavation, 19,000 m3 of concrete), - civil works for the powerhouse (300,000 m² of excavation, 11,200 m² of

It is expected that invitations to Bid will be made in September

. The prequalification documents are available for a non refundable fee of 200 French Francs or its equivalent in any other freely convertible currency and may be obtained from the Consultant by calling, writing, faxing, or telexing:

Coyne et Bellier/Electricité de France 9, allée des Barbanniers 92632 - Gennevilliers Cedex - France

Telex: COYBE 616 615F Submissions of Applications for Prequalification must be received not later than July 18, 1994, at 5 p.m.

CURRENCY AND CAPITAL MARKET SERVICES

CAC 40 (MATIF) FF200 per index p May 21/21 M

CURRENCY MANAGEMENT CORPORATION PLC ter House, 77 London Wall - London EC2M 5ND Tel: 071-382 9745 Page 071-382 9487

24 Hour London Dealing Desk Competitive Rates & Daily Fax Sheet Call for further information & brochure

For more information

FOREIGN EXCHANGE & GOLD

O 130+ software applications O O RT DATA FROM $10 A DAY O Signal SOFTWARE GUIDE 6 Call London: t 44+ (0) 71 231 3556 for your guide and Signal price list.

Duff Forecasts and Market Myths for 1994 won't itse; Japan's economy & stock market will be weak. You did NOT read that in FullerMoney - the "conoclastic investment letter."

Fax +45 4587 8773

24 hours a day - only $100 a month! LIVE FINANCIAL DATA DIRECT TO YOUR PC hyperCCM

For further details on bow to place your listing conlact: PATRICK FALCONER in London

Tel.: (44) 71 836 48 02 - Fax: (44) 71 240 2254 Herald Eribune

進注金融 LONDON & GLOBAL FOREIGN EXCHANGE PLC PREMIER SPECULATION SERVICE
QUOTE UP TO 100 MILLION USS
Top floor, Comeo House, 11 Bear Street, London WC2H 7AS
Tel.: (071) 839 6161 Fox: (071) 839 2414

FutureSource The real-time information system preferred by Institutions and now able to traders at home. Unrivaled coverage at an unrivaled

Timely, specific, proven market strategies, delivered daily, before the markets open. FINANCIAL TRADERS LTD. 280 Oser Avenue uppauge. NY 11789, USA Tel.: 516-435-4800 Please call for a FRIET copy of the market letter of your

Fax: 516-435-4897

BUSINE The stock market in Chands Pro-Cub Med City Med Toronto Johannesburg Attech
Ausel Amer
Borlows
Blyvoor
Bustiels
De Beers
Oriefonium
Gencor
Gencor
Highweid Stee
Kloof Nedbank Grp
Rondtoniels Hoeffiel Hoeffiel Horten WKA Kolf Salz Korstadi Kaufhoi Khoekke Linde Lufthans MAN

Massellan MAM New Aust Bonk News Corp Nine Nelwork N Broken Hill Pac Donlop Planet: Int'l Nmndy Paseld Cart Resource Sontos TNT Western Minin

Zurici
Adia inti B Aksulsse B new BBC Bram Bov B
BCB Getgr B
CS Holdings B
Fleshar B
Interdiscount B
Jelmoli B
Jennis Gyr R
Akseveneld: B
Nestle R
Oerlit. Buehrte R
Derlit. Buehrte R
Schieder B
Rodel Hdg PC
Softy Republic
Sondar B
Subser PC
Surveillance B
Swiss Brik Care B
Swiss Brik Care B
Swiss Rainsur R
Swisser R
UNS Brik Care B
Swisser R
Sw Zurich

Rayrack Renaissance Repairs B Rothmans Royal Bank Car Scotter Res Scott's Hosp Bacarcan Shell Can Shell Can Shell Can Shell Can Shell Can Southon Southon Southon Southon Southon For Aeruspoce Shelica A Talkiman Energieck B Thomson Car Torento Donn Torstor B Trossign B Trossi

in Belgium just coli toli-iree: 0 800 1 7538

Brewers Get a Lift From Yount

The Associated Press

Milwaukee capped a three-day celebration of Robin Yount's career with the kind of effort that epitomized No. 19's 20 seasons with the Brewers.

Trailing by 7-0 in the second inning, the Brewers railied for a 9-8 victory over the Seattle Mariners on Sunday in Milwaukee.

"It would have been easy to fold," said Greg Vaughn, who hit a two-run homer. "Something Robin ingrained on the Brewer ballclub is that you play one way: hard, every

AL ROUNDUP

In pregame ceremonies. Yount. who announced his retirement last February after playing 2,856 games with the Brewers, had his jersey retired and was presented with a motorcycle. Yount rode once around the field, then left the stadium through the right-field bullpen to a standing ovation.

The Brewers had lost a club-record 14 straight games before the series, billed as "Robin Young Weekend," before sweeping the Mariners.

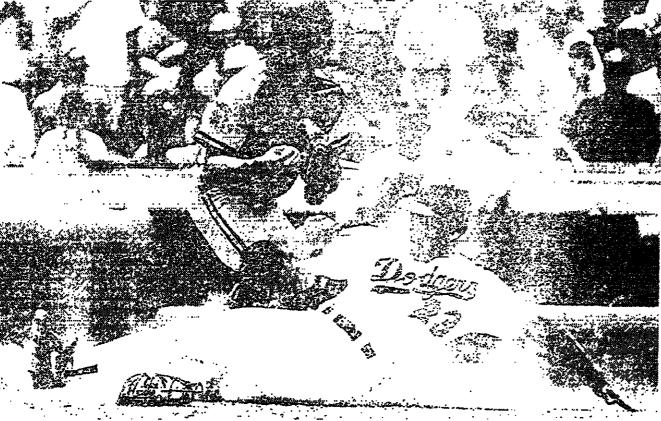

"Robin has been a tremendous person in my life," said Vaughn. who capped a four-run sixth with a homer, his ninth. off Tim David. "I try to model myself after such a great player. He gave us an emotional lift today."

Seattle, which had gotten six runs with two outs off Teddy Higuera in the first and led. 7-0, in the second, lost for the 20th time in 25

The Brewers scored four runs in the second on consecutive two-out RBI singles by Jose Valentin, Darryl Hamilton, Turner Ward and Vaughn off the Mariners' rookie starter, Roger Salkeld. Milwaukee caught Seattle in the

The Dodgers' Eric Karros came in on the low road in the 3d inning. The throw to third by Don Skaught of the Pirates was too late.

scored on Jody Reed's single. Ward's sacrifice fly scored Valentin to make it 7-6, and Vaughn followed with his homer.

Royals 10, Yankees 6: Vince Coleman tripled twice, singled twice and drove in three runs as Kansas City Royals stopped the visiting Yankees' four-game win-

Coleman tied a team record for triples in a game. He has 10 hits in his last 23 at-bats after a 3-for-25

Mark Gubicza ended his sixgame losing streak against the Yankees. Terry Mulholland allowed seven runs and 10 hits in seven Orioles & White Sox 4: Sid Fernandez held Chicago to five hits, including Frank Thomas's 20th homer, in seven-plus innings as vis-Sox winning streak at seven.

over seven innings before yielding a single and Tim Raines's two-run Tigers 5, Twins 1: In Minneapohomer in the eighth.

five straight games, went deep with one out in the fourth to become the fastest White Sox hitter to reach 20 in a season, Dick Allen hit his 20th homer in his 75th game in 1974. Thomas, batting .468 in May, hit No. 20 in his 46th game.

Rangers 8, Red Sox 6: Dean Palmer hit a three-run homer, and Ivan Rodriguez homered two pitches later to highlight a five-ren bottom of the fifth.

jured on the same play in the third. By made it 5-0 in the third. inning. Gonzalez hurt his right iting Baltimore stepped the White well, who injured his hip running to Tribicier second. Both players soon left the - Indians 7. Athletics 5: Jack Mor- third complete game.

Fernandez gave up three hits game, although neither injury was ris, backed by four home runs, lis, Junior Felix drove in four runs Thomas, who has homered in and Bill Gullickson allowed one run over reven innings as Detroit held an epponent to less than two runs for the first time this season. Gullickson, who had compiled a 9.82 ERA in losing his previous three starts, gave up eight hits, struck out five and walked one. Mike Gardiner pitched the final two innings.

Travis Bryman drove in the game's first run in the top of the first with a sacrifice fly. Two batters later. Felix hit a three-run Juan Gonzalez of Texas and homer, his third of the season and Mike Greenwell of Boston were in-third in four days. Felix's sacrifice

In earlier games, reperted More knee fielding a double by Green- day in some editions of the Herald struggled but won his third straight decision, and the Indians won their ninth straight in Cleveland, Morris allowed four runs, one unearned. and seven him in five innings.

The winning streak is the Indians' best at home since they won 13 straight at Cleveland Stadium in 1965. Oakland, swept in a series for the i6th time this year, has lost four straight and 31 of its last 37. Biue Jays 5, Angels 0: In Toronto. Todd Stottlemyre pitched a four-hitter and Roberto Alomar hit a two-run homer for the Blue Jays. Stottlemyre, who had not pitched more than 64 innings in his six previous starts this season, struck out five and walked three in his first complete game this season.

It was his fourth career shutout. Chuck Finiey gave up five hits and struck out seven in pitching his

Rally by Jazz Falls Short

By Jay Privman New York Times Service

SALT LAKE CITY - The Utah Jazz were trying to get the game into overtime, and although they got about 11 extra seconds, the clock still ran out in regulation. foiling a gallant rally as the Houston Rockets held on for an 80-78 victory on Sunday at the Delta Center in Game 4 of the Western Conference final.

The victory gave Houston a 3-games-to-1 edge in this four-of-seven playoff series. The Rockets can close the series and move to the National Basketball Association finals with a victory at home on

NBA PLAYOFFS

The Jazz. down by as many as 10 points early in the fourth quarter, closed to within two points with 13.5 seconds remaining on the clock, and then got the ball back because of an offensive foul on Houston's Sam Cassell.

As Utah ran its final play of the game, the clock remained frozen on 13.5 seconds, and not until approximately 11 seconds had gone by did it finally roll.

Utah, stymied by Houston's defense, moved the ball around from John Stockton to Karl Malone to Jay Humphries and finally to Tom Chambers, but Chambers missed a shot under the basket. Houston's Robert Horry grabbed the rebound and threw the ball down the court to Kenny Smith, who dribbled in a tight circle as the final seconds ticked off. The Rockets were furious immediately after the game, but were becalmed later in the locker room, the final score serving as a salve. But the situation could have been a black mark on the league had the Jazz tied the score or made a threepoint shot to take the lead because of the extra time.

"That was home cookin'," said Smith. "That's the home-court advantage. I've seen it in CYO, high school, college and the NBA. If I was the timekeeper, the clock might still be running. We just had to play good defense for 24 seconds in-stead of 13.5."

The Houston guard Vernon Maxwell said: "I thought, This 13 seconds is sure is taking a long time.' It was a big win, under the circumstances.

arena, pausing only to answer terse said he noticed that the clock still questions from three irate referees. read 13.5.

The Jazz made several cluich shots in the final minutes - and took advantage of a blown layup by Hakeem Olajuwon on a two-on- side to Tom." one break that could have made the score 81-74 -- to put themselves in a position to send the game into overtime. Stockton recovered from a shot made it to the NBA final. blocked by Horry to nail a three-point shot from the corner and cut House of least struggled to get any offense generated. In the second

The timekeeper. Wayne Hicken. sideline. Stockton got the ball when apparently embarrassed at his it was thrown inbounds by Chamgaffe, leaped over the front row of bers, then ran to the baseline and to the scorers' table as soon as the the far corner. As Stockton came game ended and bolted out of the back out to the top of the key, he

"But we just had to keep running our play." Stockton said. "We had good ball movement and got it in-

Chambers, however, missed a shot that would have tied the game. Now, the Jazz are one game away from elimination. They never have Houston's lead to two points, 80- quarter, only 23 points were scored. 78, and then seconds later Stockton an NBA playoff record for fewest drew the offensive foul on Cassell.

The Jazz ran a play from the the Rockets led by 38-31.

Felton Spencer of the Utah Jazz looked for the basket but found the long arm of the Rockets' Hakeem Olajuwon in Sait Lake City.

Giants Turn on the Defense to Down Martins, 3-1

At a time when the San Francisco Giants are struggling for runs, defense is making a difference. The Giants' 3-1 victory on Sunday over the Florida Marlins marked the 34th errorless game of the season for San Francisco. first in the majors in fielding and last in double in the eighth inning off Rachie Lewis. out helped preserve San Francisco's fourthvictor; in five games by stopping Benito-Santiago's ninth-inning pinch-hit smash at third and throwing him out.

Matt Williams not only drove in the goahead run in San Francisco with a two-out

ML ROUNDUP

"I think defense is important." Williams said. "We don't have a bunch of Nolan-Ryans who are just going to blow the ball by everybody. Our pitchers are going to throw and field our position. We take a lot of pride in our defense.

Barry Bonds also contributed defensively when he threw out Bret Barberie at the plate from left field in the second inning.

a career-long 715 inning stint. He walked one and struck out four, and was touched for just one run despite giving up 10 hits. Dodgers 4. Pirates 3: Carlos Hernandez. again playing in place of the Dodgers' injured catcher. Mike Piazza, drove in his first two runs of the season as Los Angeles won at Piazza did not play during the weekend. His ribs were injured during a home-plate collision with Glenallen Hill of the Cubs on Hernanden went 5-for-13 during the series. Pittsburgh lost for the 12th time in 16 games.

a walk in the ninth before Darren Dreifort shoulder. relieved for his sixth cave. Zane Smith fell begind by 40 in the third inning. Fadres 7, Lardinais 2: Joey Hamilton won for the second straight time since being prostrikes, and they're going to put the ball in moted from the minors and San Diego beat mered on the first pitch in the bottom of the play. We have to be ready to back them up visiting St. Louis for a three-game sweep. Buth ingine, lifting Montreal over visiting earlier this year. Bonilla and Kent each drove > Diego since July 1992, and were swept for the first time this season. Hamilton, called up from Class AAA Las one inning for the win, Vegas last Tuesday, gave up one run and six

The Giants got a solid outing from Bryan hits in six immigs, Jeff Tabaka got his first Hickerson, who kept the game close through major league save. Derek Bell hit a two-run homer for the Padres, his first since April 22. Tom Urbani was the loser. In earlier games, reported Monday in some editions of the Herald Tribune:

Cubs 4. Braves 2: Sammy Socia homered on the first pitch of the game from Tom-Glavine, and visiting Chicago went on to stop Atlanta. The Deion Sanders-for-Roberto Kelly trade was announced in the second inning at Atlanta-Fulton County Studium, and the fans booed. Glavine gave up four runs and six hits and seven walks in 613 innings. Jim Bullinger nitched six strong innings as a late ten five starts. Todd Worrell gave up a single and ment for Jose Guzman, who had a stiff right Randy Myers struck out Bill Pecota with the bases loaded to end the game, giving the Cubs their 10th victory in 12 games. Expos 4, Rockies 3: Larry Walker hisvisiting St. Louis for a three-game sweep. 10th inning, lifting Montreal over visiting The Cardinals have lost nine in a row at San Colorado. Walker's sixth home run of the season came against Bruce Ruffin, who re-lieved to start the inning. Tim Scott pitched against Mike Munoz to end the seventh ining with the score tied at 3. Phililes 4. Astros 2: The bid by David West and Heathcliff Slocumb to pitch a combined no-nitter in Philadelphia was proken up in the top of the ninth on a leadoff single by Houston's Steve Finley.

Walker struck out with the bases loaded lighth with the Mets.

West, making only his second start of the season, pitched six innings and was pulled after 102 pitches. Slocumb took over to start the seventh. Finley's clean single started a two-run rally, and Doug Jones finished for his 10th save. There have been just six combined no-histers in the majors, most recently by Atlan-12. Her: Hercker, Mark Wohlers and Alejandso Fena on Sept. 11, 1991, against San Mets 8, Reds 5: In New York, Bobby Bonilla set a team record with an RBI in his ranth straight game, and New York completed a incee-game sween of Cincinnati. Bonilla broke the Mets' mark of eight carriant garnes with an RBI set by Keith earlier this year. Bonilia and Kent each drove in two runs. The Mets scored two runs in each of the first four innings. Bobby Jones gave up eight hits in eight innings. John Franco got his 12th save, his

Stanley Cup: Game Times and TV Networks

Tuesday, May 31: Vancouver at N.Y. Rangers, 8:08 A.m. (00:08 GMT) Thursday, June 2: Vancouver of N.Y. Rang-

Thursday, June 9: Vancouver at N.Y. Rangers. 8:08 p.m. (00:08 GMT), it necessary. Saturcay, June 11: N.Y. Rangers at Vancouer, 8:08 p.m. 103:08 G/AT), if r Tuesday, June 14: Vancouver at N.Y. Rangers, 8:08 p.m. (08:08 GMT), if necessary.

The finals can be seen on the following networks in trese contries:

Albenio: Eurosport; Albenio: ESPN (Orbit), Antique: ESPN; Argentine: ESPN; Armedia: Eurosport; Austrolia: ESPN; Austrolia: ESPN; Bohomos; ESPN; Bo

Bohomas: ESPN: Barran: ESPN: toron: Barbados: ESPN.
Belarus: Eurosport; Belglum: Eurosport; Bermudo: ESPN; Bolivia: ESPN: Botswo-na: ESPN: KouperSport): Bruzil: ESPN: Bots-lain: Eurosport; WIRE: Brunei: ESPN: Bots-lain: Eurosport; WIRE: Brunei: ESPN: on: ESPN (SuperSport); Can

CBC: Chad: ESPN; Chili: ESPN; China:

Czech Resublic: CTV.

Demaint: Eurosport/K2; Dilbouti: ESPN; (Orbil); Dominican Resublic: ESPN; Ecuador: Gamavision; Egyel: ESPN (Orbil); El Salvador: ESPN; Esbala: Channel 2: Finitant: Channel 3: France: Eurosport. Georgia: Eurosport: Germany: Eurosport: Glama: ESPN (SuperSport); Gibratur: Eurosport: Greect: Eurosport; Gutan; ESPN: Gustamand: ESPN: Calvador. France: ESPN: Espn: Gustamand: ESPN: Calvador. France: ESPN: Calvador. France: ESPN: Gustamand: ESPN: Calvador. France: ESPN: Calvador. ESPN

Kong: ESPN; Hungary: Eurosport; lociand; Eurosport; Indonesia: RCT1; hetend; Euro-Eurosport; Indonésia: RCT1; Nétand; Euro-sport; Israel: ICP; Italy: Tele+2; Ivory Coast: ESPN (SuperSport). Japan; NHK/JSC; Jarten; ESPN (Orbil); Keave; ESPN (SuperSport); Korea: ESPN; Latvio: Eurosport, Lithuanie: Eurosport; Latemboury: Eurosport, Madagascar: ESPN (SuperSport); Malawi; ESPN (SuperSport), Mauritanie: ESPN (Orbit);

e: ESPN (SuperSport) la: ESPN (SuperSe

ESPN: New Caledonia: ESPN: New Zac-land: ESPN: Niperia: ESPN: sucerSport* Norway: Eurosport:/TV Norge: Oman: ESPN (Orbit).

Mille

ESPN (Orbit).
Palau: ESPN: Panama: ESPN. Papua
New Guinea: ESPN: Paraguay: ESPN.
Pera: ESPN: Politamines: ESPN: Politamine
ESPN: Politamines: ESPN: Politamine
Espn: Politamines: ESPN: Politamine
Espn: Politamine
Espn: Compl. Ramania: Espn:
Guine: ESPN: Compl. Ramania: Espn:
Soudi Arabia: ESPN: (Orbit): Sepneties:
ESPN: ESP vok Republic: STV/Eurosport: Slavenia: Eurosport: Somalia: E3PN (Orbit).

Social Euroscort St. Kitts Never EaPN, Social ESPN (SuperSport Orbit) Surmant ESPN; Sweditand: ESPN (SuperSport: Sweden: Eurospant TV-F. Switzentand: Euro-spant: Syria: ESPN-One - Toward: ESFN, Tanzantad: ESPN: (Superspant: Theread: ESPN: Trinidad and Tabaga: ESPN: Tunidad: ESPN (Orbit): Tunkey: Eurospant Uganda: ESPN (Superspant): Ukraine: TV-BC/Eurospant: United Arabs Emirates: ESPN (Orbit): United States: ESPN: (ESPN: Orbit): United States: ESPN: (ESPN: ESPN: Es ESPN (Orbit); United States: ESPN (d Nc); Uruguay; ESPN: Ven Coracas/ESPN: Virgin Islands: ESPN: Ye-men: ESPN (Orbit): Zamaia: ESPN (Super-Sport); Zimbabwe: ESPN (SuperSport).

DENNIS THE MENACE

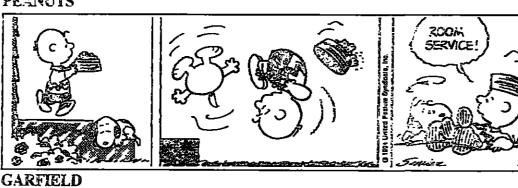

"I found this oud hoop in the garage but I can't bet it to hilla!"

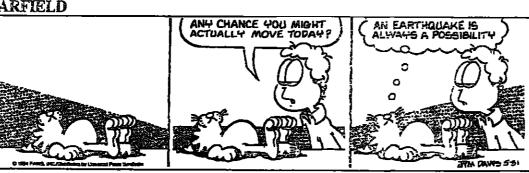

jumbile: PHULS BUAQS TORMAR ZEBRAL

What she collect the stockbroker's REPROPER "REPORTS

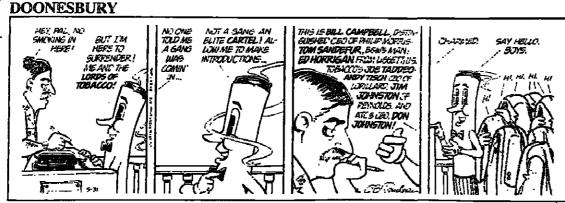

To our readers in Switzerland It's never been easier to subscribe and save. Just call our Zurich office toll free: 155 57 57 or fax: (01) 481 82 88

PE-ANUTS

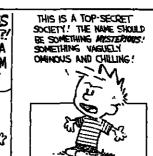

CALVIN AND HOBBES

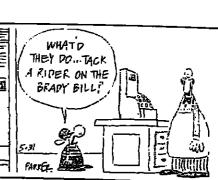

WIZARD of ID

BLONDIE

THE FAR SIDE

"Hey, we'll be lucky if we ever sell this place! ... Well. It's like everyone says - location, location, location.

HAVE A PEN LAINING ABOUT OURS!

Soccer star Rund Gullit pausing during a press conference Monday at which he announced his decision to skip the World Cup finals.

Gullit Quits Dutch World Cup Squad

Can Italy Harness Berti the 'Anarchist'?

mainframe for the defense, Italy's rearguard was solid. So was its midfield. But the forwards, and particularly the scoring star Roberto Bag-gio, were not receiving a sufficient supply of playable passes. Isolated, the Italian attack was

Had the calculated, full-field game that Sac-chi had instilled in his successful AC Milan team been effectively transposed onto the national team, the 48-year-old coach would never have dreamed to invite yet another player to his training camp. And certainly not a player who had only returned to action in April after having been sidelined for six months with torn

But Sacchi knew that his national team cocktail needed something to liven it up. So the 27-year-old Berti, who returned to action in time to save his Internationale of Milan club from relegation to the second division, and also to spearhead it to its UEFA Cup triumph, was

"I called Berti back to the team because I saw that he had made some progress," says Sacchi.

"He has a very strong identity. And tactically,

Berti has always been a free spirit, both on the field and off. In Florence, where he made his Italian first division debut with Fiorentina, he was an offensive-minded winger whose unbridled enthusiasm often sparked explosive, full-field charges and ignited furious scrambles.

and hustled for 90 minutes a game. He had a knack for cracking open a gridlocked contest.

and another for scoring important goals. He would emerge from a scramble at midfield, cutting through a sea of twisting bodies, some-

He was - and is - a player who ran, fought unable to breach rival defenses

ligaments in his right knee.

Sacchi's choice.

he is more mature."

NOORDWIJK, Netherlands -Dutch soccer star Rund Gullit walked out of the national side's training camp on Monday and said he would not go the World Cup finals with the team next month.

Gullit said at a press conference here that he would not give a rea-son for his departure until after the World Cup, which begins next month in the United States. Sitting next to Gullit, coach Dick

Advocant said he regretted the de-He also said that he wanted to of the team and not Gullit. know the reason for Gullit's depar-

By Ken Shulman

Special to the Herold Tribune FLORENCE - He does not fit in. His diosyncrasy is apparent in everything he does, in his lanky, disjointed gait, in his inability to conform to an on-field role, and in his playful, preconceived idea of a national team player that even an authoritarian mentor like Arrigo

Sacchi knows better than to try to change or with his spirit, and with his temperament," says Sacchi. He was speaking at Sportilia, an isolated, well-guarded athletic facility on a hilltop in the verdant Romagna region where the Italian team scheduled its first stage of the World Cup

"As a player, and as a person, he has characteristics that are different from those of all the others," Sacchi said. "These differences could be very positive for this team. It all depends on how

It also depends on how well Sacchi's exceedingly well-organized team adapts to Berti. After a difficult World Cup qualifying run—a series of matches in which Sacchi experimented with more than 60 players—Italy has suffered two major dissapointments, and a major humiliation.

friendly match against France, a team that failed to qualify for USA 94. In March, the azzurri fell, 2-0, to the defending world champi-

In February, Sacchi's "azzurri" lost in a

An even more worrisome defeat came when the three-time world champions (Italy, Germany and Brazil are the only nations to have won three World Cups) dropped a 2-1 scrimmage to the third-division Pontedera team.

well he manages to adapt to our style of play."

"Berti has impressed everyone in this camp mocking posture with journalists and fans. Nicola Berti is so different from his coach's channel such talents.

on Germany.

್ಷಚಿತ್ರ ಕ್ಷಾಗಿತ್ರ - ಚಿತ್ರಗಳ

sence, Gullit, 31, played the first half of a friendly match against Scotland last Friday. Replaced for the second half of the game, he later criticized the Dutch game

He was quoted then as saying that the Dutch team should alter its tactics to cope with the expected high temperatures and humidity in United States and to counter the likely defensive nature of such first-round opponents as Belgium and Morocco.

day by saying that he was in charge On Monday, Advocast dismissed the suggested link between

Squad captain Ronald Koeman

The moment is badly chosen. The team needs a bit of peace. He has burt us leaving this way because the team now has 10 do something different again."

He added: "An in-form Gullit is important to the team. It's a slap in the face. The players were Gullit went into exile from international soccer in April 1993 after he was substituted during a World Cup qualifying match against England at Wembley. It was the second Gullit's departure and the team's time he had quit international socjor blow to Dutch hopes for the World Cup.

captained the Netherlands to European Championship victory in pean Championship victory in 1988 after making his debut against Switzerland in 1981.

He recently signed a one-year contract with AC Milan, for whom he played from 1987 to 1993. Last season he played for Samp-doria, Genoa, also in the Italian league, regarded as the world's toughest national competition.

During his absence, the Netherlands qualified for the World Cup finals, but his attacking flair and vision would have made the Dutch a more formidable opponent. Gullit had said recently that the World Cup finals would mark the

At Inter, which purchased Berti in 1988,

Coach Giovanni Trappattoni converted his new acquisition from wing to attacking mid-fielder. In his first year with the Milan club,

Berti scored seven goals and helped the team to the first division title. His rampaging style inof the inter fans.

in October.

to his own teammates.

spired his teammates and made him the favorite

Yet the same fervor that fuels his breathtaking breakaways also propels Berti to leave his preassigned zone of action to chase the ball across the field - and across the paths of his Berti still teems with spirit. He plays each match as if it were his first - and his last. The former Fiorentina coach Aldo Agroppi, who considered Berti his prize pupil, used to call him

Cup team, and played five matches until receiving his second yellow card against Uruguay. He also played the first two matches during Sacchi's reign before Italy's new coach discarded

him. Then he tore up his knee in a league match to be here," says Berti of the national team training camp. "When I was injured, I thought even more about the national team than of getting back to Inter. I can't say that I expected to be here. But I was hoping Sacchi would call me. That gave me one more reason to heal."

It remains to be seen whether this selfavowed "loose cannon" will find a place in Sacchi's disciplined artillery. Sacchi may even choose to use him off the bench, lobbing him like a grenade into a torbid match and hoping that he does more harm to his opponents than

"You have no idea how important it is for me

Berti was a starter on the 1990 Italian World end of his international career.

The problem was Italy's attack. With AC how maintaining both his balance and control Milan's Franco Baresi and Paolo Maldini as the of the ball as he churned toward the goal.

MEN'S SINGLES Fourth Round Handrik Drockmann, Germany, dei. Aaron Krickstein. U.S., 6-4, 6-4, 6-4

Ivanisevic to serve out the third set.

Alberto Bersanegui, Spain, def. Javier Franc, Argenfina, 6-2, 6-0, ret. Goran Ivanisevic (5), Cranila, def. Andrea Gaudensi, Italy. 6-2, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3 Joine Yzoga, Peru, def. Magnus Larisan, Swaden, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Ivanisevic Leads a Lackluster Walk To Quarters in Bottom Half of Draw

By Ian Thomsen itional Herald Tribun

PARIS - The top half of the French Open draw is controlled by No. 1 Pete Sampras, the two-time champion Jim Courier, the defending champion Sergi Bruguera and the future champion Andrei Medvedev. The bottom half is being managed by a bunch of knuckleheads. The highest-ranked knucklehead was Michael Stich of Germany, the No. 2 seed who last week couldn't have won his second-round match if his opponent had been riding a donkey. The straight-set winner of that match, Aaron Krickstein, might have taken good care of this windfall path to the semifinal, But, no, he went out and blew it Mon-day in a 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 fourth-round loss to a 19-year-old German named Hendrik Dreekmann, who. it should be noted, is studying to become an industrial salesm So No. 89 Dreckmann will play No. 46 Magnus Larsson of Sweden in one quarterfinal.

In the other bottom-half quarterfinal, No. 23 Alberto Berasategui of Spain figures to make things difficult for No. 5 seed Goran Ivanisevic of Croatia,

These will be the big matches on Wednesday, which means, for those holding tickets to Roland Garros, that Wednesday is looking like a good day to tackle all of that laundry that has been building up. Anyone who was here Monday will understand.

Larsson beat Jaime Yzaga of Peru, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. Berasategui advanced with an abbreviated 6-2, 6-0 victory against No. 98 Javier Frana of Argentina, who retired early with stomach problems. "Well, I guess I am lucky because this is my second match that I won by the other guy's retiring, said Berasategui, who also won his first-round match when Wayne

Ferreira of South Africa quit after losing the first set. Ivanisevic made his third French Open quarterfinal with a 6-2, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3 victory against No. 34 Andrea Gaudenzi of Italy, the only loser with enough fight Monday to win a set. The glamour match of the day, it was blighted with 134 unforced errors --- 80 from Ivanisevic. One funny thing: After Gau-denzi had double-faulted to allow chair umpire Zoltan Bognar ex-cused himself for several minutes than he stands today. Tuesday by quarterfinals involving the game's best.

Singles Results

to visit the toilet. Krickstein, the 26-year-old "Where did he go?" Ivanisevic said, frowning. He looked up and saw Gaudenzi climbing the ladder, American who 11 years ago became the youngest man to win an ATP Tour event, might have wasted his sitting in the umpire's high chair last, best chance of reaching a and announcing into the micro-phone: "Third set and match, Gau-Grand Slam final, Dreckman has surpassed his denzi." Of course, it didn't happen countrymen, Stich and Boris that way, and a few minutes later ity warning from the umpire.

ists in his half have won just six

Becker (who withdrew before his Gaudenzi was receiving an obscenopening match), but doesn't seem Gaudenzi predicted that Berasalikely to replace them. He didn't seem to remember watching Becker win his first title at Wimbledon tegui, a clay-court specialist, would the seminal moment in German nervous. "It's the French Open and tennis - and he promised to dog-I'm the only seed in my half," he gedly pursue his salesman's diplosaid. "You don't think it's scary?" ma in spite of any success in tennis, which is admirable, but not quite so Ivanisevic has won nine singles titles and was the 1992 finalist charismatic as Sampras's pursuit of against Andre Agassi at Wimble-don; the other three quarterfinalthe Grand Slam.

As dreadful as the play was on Monday, it will be payed over

First of all, No. 1 Steffi Graf and Mary Pierce will each be playing a last preliminary before their likely semifinal meeting on Thursday. Pierce, who this week became the first the first French woman in the Top 10 since Françoise Durt in 1976, has lost only four games in four matches, a Grand Slam record.

Either of the men's quarterfinals Tuesday would be worthy of a French Open final: No. 4 Medvedev vs. his good friend, No. 6 Bruguera, who claims to be lacking the confidence of his title run last year: and Sampras vs. his greatest rival. No. 7 Courier.

Sampras has won 25 consecutive Grand Slam matches and is three away from becoming the first man since Rod Laver in 1969 to hold all four Grand Slam titles.

Hendrik Dreekmann of Germany overpowered Aaron Krickstein of the United States, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Price Wins Colonial Golf

The Associated Press

Nick Price birdied the first hole of a sudden-death playoff with Scott Simpson and won the rain-delayed Southwestern Bell Colonial on Monday in Fort Worth, Texas, Simpson missed a long birdie putt and Price rolled in his putt of about 8 feet on the par-4 18th, completing a seven-stroke comeback spread over two days because of a weather suspension.

Picking up where he left off Sunday. Price birdied Nos. 14 and 15 to close out a 64, while Simpson played his final seven holes in even par for a 71. They completed the 72-hole ordeal with 14-under-par 266s.

Hale Irwin parred his remaining five holes and finished third. U.S. Masters champion José-María Olazábal made up a three-stroke final round deficit with a blistering back nine Monday to win the European PGA Championship in Virginia Water, England.

Olazábal birdied three of the final four holes — just missing an eagle on the 18th — to overtake Ernie Els of South Africa. The Spaniard shot a 7-under-par 65 on Wentworth's West Course to finish on 271. 17-under-par. Els. getting his only bogey when he three-putted the 14th, carded a 69 to finish at 272.

SIDELINES

For the Record

Jan Svorada of the Czech Republic escaped a spill 250 meters (800 feet) from the finish line in Pontedera, Italy, and sprinted to victory in Monday's ninth stage of the Tour of Italy cycling race. Argentina beat the United States, 28-22, in a 1995 Rugby World Cup qualifier in Long Beach, California. Akebono, Sumo's grand champion, 25, said Monday he would undergo surgery in the United States to repair torn cartilage in his left knee and a dislocation in his right knee. An Australian climber died after reaching the summit of Mount Everest, the Australia's Foreign Affairs Department said Monday. It was unclear when Michael Rheinberger died, but the American-organized expedition had been on its descent from the summit. Julius Boros, who won 18 PGA Tour tournaments, including two U.S.

Opens and the PGA in a 40-year career, died Saturday. He was 74. (AP) The average player in Japan's two professional baseball leagues is being paid 42.2 million yen ($400,000) this season, up 26.8 percent from last year, the Japanese Professional Baseball Players Association said. (AP)

SCOREBOARD

BASEBALL Major League Standings AMERICAN LEAGUE New York Boston Baitimore Teronto Detroit .676 .617 24 18 25 21 24 23 24 23 24 23 24 23 511 511 417 7 2 7 2 7 2 Cincinnoti Les Angeles Sen Proncisco

Sunday's Line Scores AMERICAN LEAGUE

Jimenet: Acre (6), Horsmon (6), Welch (7) and Steinboch: Morris, Plank (6), Mess (8), Stupy (7) and Aparagr, W.-Morris, 44. L.-Jimener, 1-3, 3--5kupy (2), Hrs-Civind, Laiton (7), Sortuno (6), Thome (6), Salomor (5), California 270 100 121-5 5 0 Turente 210 800 UZD-5 5 0 Finity and Pabragas; Stottlemyre and Berders. W-Sinitiemyre. 42. L-Finity; 44.
NRS-Torunto, Alonar (4), Barders (1).
New York 100 101 101-10 17
Keessas City 100 100 120-10 17
Autholiand, Polf (8), P.Gibson (8) and Sterley; Gubicto. Mesmante (6), Mescalam (A), Pichardo (7), Brewer (7), W-Gubicto. 34. L—Mulholiond, 54. Sv—Brower (2). HRs—NY, Velorde (3). KC, D.Herderson (4), relande (3), KC, D.Hersterson (17), G19, 909, 819—8, 9, 1 1, 949, 541, Herster (3), History (4), History (4),

Sext (2), Persy (a), Scange to lar and Misson,
W-Heary, J-T, L-T, Dovis, 6-1, 54-Sconlen
(2), HR-Milwaukee, G.Vaustin (?).
Besten $30 125 666-6 8 9
Texas 126 665 665-4 6 9
Dorwin, Quantrill (5), Howard (6), Frohwirth (7) and Berrynill; Ropers and L.Rodri-Name (7) cits serrynni; rogers and Accur-pute: W-Rogers, 6-3. L-Dorwin, 7-3. MRs-Texes, Poimer (5), LRadriguez (5). Baltimers 900 e21 e22-8 14 5 Chicase 900 100 E21-4 6 1 S.Fernandez, Mills (8), Poole (9), Le.Smith (9) and Wolfes; J.McDowell, McCostill (8), cher (8), Schwarz (9) and Karko S.Fernandez 3-2, L.—J.McDowell, 3 (7), Thomas (20).

Defreib at 984 994 995 5 9
Allameachd 990 100 988—1 9 0
Guillicison, Gordiner (5) and Krauter; Mohormes, Casion (4) and Welberk, W.—Gellicison, 3-4, L.—Mahamas, 4-2, HR9—Defreit, Felist (3), Minnesola, Mack (5). NATIONAL LEAGUE

300 500 100-4 4 6 600 600 101-2 7 9 Buttinger, Otto (7), Crim (7), Mivers (8) and Houston Isada series 3-1 Wilklea: Glavine, Stanton (7), Wohlers (9) Houston: Horry 5-12 1-2 11, Thorpe 2-4 1-4 5, and O'Esten. Williams; 3-0. E-Glavine, 5-5 5, N—Myers (11). RP—Chicago. Sess (11). 157-725, Cureton-0-0-0. Lent-0-1-0-0. Cassell-3-

Neg. Heimes (7) Munic (7), Need (8), Need (10) and Glandi; Fasser, Heredio (8), Solid (10) and Fielcher, Webster (7), W—Solid, 2-2 L—Ruffin, 2-2 HR—Mactrod, Webster (5), Pleaston Philadelphia 620 100 61x—4 7 6 Drubek, Mitch Williams (1) and Servels, Essecte (8); West, Slocumb (7), Jones (9) and Daulton, Yi—West, 1-1, 1,—Drobek, 7-2. Sv.—Jones (10), HRS—Philodelphia, Battate

(1), Quinten (1).
Clackwed! 408 62e-118—5 17 9
New York 222 209 69x—6 13 1
Horson, Serudiin (3), Fertugne (5), McElroy (8) and Touberser Jones, France (7) and Hundley, Wi-Jones, 6-4 L—Honson 2-5.
Sv—France (12).
Floride 809 609 105—1 11 2
Japa Francisco 986 109 102—3 7 9
Nough, R.Lewis (7), J.Hernondez (8) and Tingley; Hickerson, M.Jockson (1), Beck (7),
M. M. Lackson, 3-1, L.-R. Larek, 1-2, Sv—Beck

W_M_lackson_3-1. L-R_Lowis_1-2.5v-Beck 075 006 070-2 7 2 073 006 12x-7 14 0 Urbani, Everspard (3), Hebyan (5), Murphy Tem Lehman, U.S., 56-66-570-271 (7), R.Rodriguez (8) and T.McGriff; Hamilton, Gary Haliberg, U.S., 67-65-72-27 Z.Smith, A.Peng (7) and Slaught: Ke.Gre Osung (7), Golf (8), Tc: Worrell (9), Dreito (9) and Co.Hernandez, W.-Ka Grees, 4

The Michael Jordan Watch

SUNDAY'S GAME: Jordon went 0-for-3 with enegroundout, one fiyout and one strikeout in a 5-4 win over Hestryllie. He also had a socrifice bunt. He cought one fly ball in right field. SEASON TO DATE: Jerden is betting 20' 135-for-189) in 46 gennes, He has 28 singles and 7 doubles. He has driven in 21 runs, stolen 14 bases in 21 cuttermissand struckout 48 times. He has walked 14 times and solved 17 runs, Defensively, he has 88 purouts, 7 assist and 5 errors.

BASKETBACL Sunday's NBA Result

WESTERN CONFERENCE FINAL

25 13 22 29—30 80 909 909 8-3 9 1 644 10 Elle 27 0-8 7. Footis 29:73 17:21 80, 190 190 190 190 1-4 11 2 Utah: Benott 5-11 1-311, Molone 9-237-11 21 6 44 10, 210 PF 09 7. 10000 PT 11. Utals: Benoit 5-11 1-3 11, Molone 9:237-11 25, Spencer 6-5 1-2 1, Stocklan 6-12 4-5 17, Horno-Rendrepi 199 the war (18 inniest)

(18 inniest)

Nied, Holmes (7), Municat (7), Reed (8), Ruffin cit 6-12-5-18, Hamehries 2-6-1-2-6, Chembers (19) and Girontil; Passere, Heredia (8), Scott 9-2-0-8, Corbin 0-2-0-0, Totals 28-74 19-29 78, 1901 and Finisher, Webster (9), W.-Scott, 2-2

- Parties 2-2 HR.-Mortirol, Webster (5), Scott 19, Finish 2-1, Hornspeck 1-3, Humphries 1-4, Finish 2-1, Hornspeck 1-3, Humphries 1-4, Humphri Benefit (-1, Majone (-1)). Fouled out—Thorpe, Rebounds—Houston 51 (Horry 10). Utah 53 (Majone 14). Assists—Houston 14 (Horry 5), (Maione 14), Assists—Houston 14 (Horry 5) Litch 17 (Stockton 6), Total Hole—Houston 29 Litch 22, Technicols—Maione, Macrostl, Utoh

GOLF STATES THE COLONIAL

Flood scores Membry in the SLA million Southwestern Self Colonial, played on the 7,440-years, per-78 Colonial Country Clab course in Fort Worth Texas:
Nick Price, Zimbolowe, 65-76-7-44-226
Scott Simpson, U.S., 66-66-44-71-266
Hate Irwin, U.S., 48-70-68-65-267
Parts, 10-76-76, 11-76-770

EUROPEAN PGA CHAMPIONSHIP Plusi scores Monday of the 80,000-pound (51.2 million) tournament from the 4,937-yard (4,361 million), par-72 West Course at West-Jose World Organica, Spoin, 67-68-71-65-Erribe Ets. South Africa, 66-67-168-272 Bernhard Lanser, Germany, 69-70-67-68-Miguel Arised Jimenez, Spoin, 68-67-72-73-Joedian Hongarian, Sweden, 69-678-68-277 Seve Ballesteras. Spoin, 73-66-70-68-277 den, (J-(J-70-48-276 Mark James, England, 68-72-71-67-778 Adom Hunter, Scotland, 71-65-72-71-229 Scody Lyfe, Scotland, 68-71-70-71-280

Frank Nabila, New Zealand, 72-44-07-73-Peter Hecklorn, Sweden, 67-67-77-281 Kevin Stables, Scattand, 71-71-71-68-281

CYCLING Tour of Italy

Results Monday of the ninth stage, 153 kilo-meters (94.1 miles) from Castigliane della Pescala to Pentedera: 1, Jan Svorada, Slove-kla, Lampre, 3 hours 25 minutes 7 seconds; 2. Endr'o Leon, Itoly, Jolly Composibili, some lime; 3. Glovansi Fidanza, Italy, Politi, st.; Jan Schur, Germany, Molocola, st.; 5. Uwa Jan Jouer, Sermany, Monroto, S.I.; J. Uver Routh Germany, Telejann, S.J.; A, Stetzno Zonici, Hoty, Novigina, S.I.; 7, Max Sciendi, Hoty, Ge MG, S.I.; & Febbe Bottoto, Hely, Mercepton, S.I.; 9, Maurizia Mollanti, Hoty, Amey and Vita, S.I.; 10, Milanet Indurain, Spain, Bonesia, S.I.

n. Meuter Mourain, Socir, Bonasto, s.t.
Overall streetings; 1, Evpeny Berzin, Russia. Gewiss Bollon. 34 hours 57 minutes 18 seconds; 2. Armand de les Cuevas, France.
Castoroma 2 minutes 16 seconds behind; 3.
Glooni Bugno, Holy, Polit, 2:35; 4. Mispoel indurain. Spoin. Bonesto, 3:39; 5. Marco Glovonetti, Itoly, Mopel Clos, 4:20; 6. Francesco Casperande, Huly, Mercolone, 5:02; 7, Wiedimin skill Holy L. Germanne. mir Belli, Iloiv, Lompre, 5:24; ß. Povel Ton-lev, Russia, Lompre, 6:09; 9, Strimo della Santa, Itoty, Manel Clas, 6:19; 10, Mossimo

TRANSACTIONS BASEBALL American Leopus
CHICAGO WHITE SOX—Puf Crais Greback, infleider, on 15-day disabled list, retroactive May 21. Bayaht contract of Olmedo lahnson, pitcher, from Noshville. TEXAS—Assigned Dan Smith, pitcher, to TEXAS—Assigned Dan Smith, bilcher, 19

Part Charlotte, FSL on an injury rehabilition Plan assignment, Activated Oddibe Mcdowell, outflielder, from 15-day disabled list. Puf Chris James, outflielder, on 15-day disabled list. retroactive May 2s.

10R0NTO—Puf Mike Timilia, pitcher, on Salan disabled list outmandibe. May 26

15-day disabled list, retroactive May 25, Bought contract of Rangy St. Claire, pitcher, from Syrocuse, IL. Alex Genzalez, shortstep, completed 20-day rehabilitation assignment at Syrocuse, IL and was aptioned to Syrocuse. National League ATLANTA-Traded Delon Sanders out-

BELGRAVIA ORCHIDS

ESCORTS & GUIDES

LONGION PARIS ESCORT AGENCY CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED UK 071 589 5237

TABITHA'S LONDON - PARIS ESCORT SERVICE 071 266 0586

FACES UK

PEACHES LONDON ESCORT SERVICE 071 938 2641 INTERNATIONAL ESCORTS

Service - Worldwele Tel: 212-765-7896 New York, USA Major Credit Cords Accepted

auffielder, and Roper Etherlidge, pilicher. Ac-livated Greag Olson, pitcher, from rehobilita-iton assignment with Richmond, IL- Designat-ed Allif Hill, plicher, for assignment. CINCINNATI-Opt PCL.

LA DODGERS—Put Deline DeShleids, 2d boseman, on 15-day disabled list, retrouctive to May 26. Activated Dave Honsen, Infletder, from 15-day disabled list.

PITTSBURGH—Put Jeff King, 3d baseman, on 15-day disabled list. Recalled Dan Micell, phicher, from Buffate, AA, SAN FRANCISCO—Buffatby Thompson,2d bosenian, and Bill Swift, phicher, on 15-day dis-

FOOTBALL,
Marional Football League
ATLANTA—Re-signed League
Stinson, cornerbock, and David Alims, wide receiver, to I-vear contracts, Signed Dorryl Ford, Nike Noga and Cedric Figure, linebockers; Bret Jahnson, quarterbock; and Leanle Turner,

FOOTBALL

CAROLINA--Named Boyd Dowler scoul

CINCINNATI—Waived Tom Rayam, offen-sive lineman; John Brantley, linebacker; Lee Harris, wide receiver; and Dan Stow

DETROIT—Signed Pout Jetton, o Inamon, and Josh Bytiand, punter.

GREEN BAY—Re-signed Mike Marriweether, linebacker, Signed Ron Lewis,

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED (Continued From Page 12)

LONDON ESCORT SERVICE

* VICLET * Excert Service ZURICH * PARIS Credit curds accepted For Zurich call (27 / 43 83 32 Other chy: diol INTL + 35 2-49 42 97 London/Heathrow Telephone 0850 623/34 TOKYO (83) 3388 - 1590. MISS GENEVA & PARIS MILAN - JELIA ESCORT & GUIDE SERVICE 865439 OR 0330 234392

EXONY ANGELS OF LONDON EXCORT SERVICE (071-233-7047 credit cords occupied LONDON BRAZILIAN Escori "ELEGANCE" Escort Service London (71) 394 5145 Escort Service Tel: 077/88 06 60, 677/88 06 76 EXQUISITE ESCORTS SBRVICE - LONDON (07) 935 4533

LONDON  CARBREAN **
London & Heathrow Escort Service
171 794 9077 Credit Cards Accepted TAJ MAHAL ESCORT SERVICE. MAJOR CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED LONDON EPI 286 4105 PARIS BRUSSES VP Econt Serveo. Int 3 2 2 2801860 credit cards

TOKYO  ESCORT SERVICE

Major credit conds accepted, Tel: (03) 3436-4598.

MUNICH . METCOWE

ESCORT & GURDE AGENCY. Please Call (889 - 91 23 14.

Service, 5., Recht 0222/56 86 84.

TO OUR READERS IN BELGIUM

It's never been easier to subscribe and save. Just call toll-free: 0 800 1 7538

GENEVA" PARIS
PRETTY WOMAN ESCORT SERVICE
Please call Geneva 022 321 99 61 ZURICH * BERN * LUZERN NATHALIE Escort Service Tel: 01 / 461 76 39 RANKFURT KOUN DUSGELDORF MADEID  CHRISTIE Guide Service in Spain. Tel: 908-710351 or 34-08-710351 MORRISON CLUB - VENNA ESCORT Service 5, Rechts Wienzale 20. " GENEVA INTERNATIONAL  Escort Service Tel: 1022 / 731 63 52 - 077/297280 AMSTERDAM BUTTERRY Scott Service, Tel: (0)20-6-(7)-570 Credit Cord: Accepted. * Card: 1- CARCUME * Escott Service Tel: (0)7 / 69-80-49 VIENNA "PARES" CANINES "ZURICH Birocontoct Escort + Travel-Si Call Vierna +43-1-310 63 19. Escori Service Tel: 01 / 381 99 48 "LONDON "SCORT " SERVICE "
"TEL:071.499.2899" MEAN - BITE ESCORT & TRAVEL SERVICE Tel: 39-2 407 78 72 Mora's Escort Agency. Please Call 069 - 597 66 66. VIENNA*PRAG*ZUBECH*
SUPERAE ESCORT SERVICE INT\
Col Vienna +43 | 5271132

ITALY  PARIS  COPE D'AZUR
French Ewere Escort Agency
Diol (Int') +39 | 184 | 348 | 87

ART BUCHWALD

The Purloined Papers

WASHINGTON — Here is a ington Post for using tainted material in their stories. bacco company carried out some research on the effects of smoking.

When the results indicated that smoking could be dangerous to your health, the company buried the report in the ground, or burned it in an incineratives went into the bathroom and ate it. Unfortunately, one copy survived.

The years went by and the suspicion about bad health from Buchwald smoking increased. There was even talk that it was addictive. The tobacco moguls denied any knowledge of this or any supposed research Then someone leaked the damaging report to the press and the tobacco company went ballistic. A meeting was called in an empty Virginia Slims locker room.

The first question asked by the CEO was, "How do we deal with

This was the moment for the PR man to shine. "We should raise the real issue of the report which is not that smok-ing kills people but who stole our data? Secondly, we must sue The New York Times and The Wash-

Summer Garland Across the Seine

Agence France-Presse

ARIS — The Japanese designer Kenzo will celebrate the first day of summer, on June 21. by decking the Pont Neuf across

He will cover the bridge from the Quai du Louvre across to the Quai Conti with 32,000 pots of different-colored begonias as well as various kinds of ivy — in a task expected to take three days to complete — for only one day and one night of celebrations, including a music festival.

In 1985, the artist Christo wrapped the Pont Neuf in material.

"Great idea," the VP for sales said. "If newspapers use purloined documents they should be punished. Otherwise no tobacco company in the country will be safe from hiding honest research."

The PR man said, "We go on relevision and complain that the lab work done by us was incomplete and therefore should not be distributed by the media. "Who will do it?"

"We'll get a beautiful spokeswoman. Good-looking women are more believable when you're handing out a cock and bull story." 'I know of one. She's not only beautiful but she smokes like a chimney.

The CEO said, "I want a whole scenario laid out as to why using stolen research papers can destroy the heart of the American free enterprise system."
The PR man told the meeting:

"We're going to have newspaper and magazine ads as well. We've got one that shows a man with a ski mask and a flushlight rifling through a safe. The copy says, This man is stealing a nicotine secret, one the public has no business

Then we have another one displaying a cage of mice smoking through glass tubes. The words are. 'If smoking wasn't safe mice wouldn't love it.' "

The CEO thumped the table, "I like it. Now what do we do with members of Congress when they ask us about the report?"

"We fly them to North Carolina for a golf weekend." What happened to your idea to have a bunch of cigarette girls in fishnet stockings hand out smokes in the halls of Congress?" The PR man said, "They turned us down, at least until we give them a copy of the report we deep-

This made the CEO boiling mad. "You know what we are? Victims. They're blaming us for hiding the dangers of smoking from the public and that makes us look rotten in the health community. Our defense is that coming up with a good re-port on smoking is a dirty business but somebody has to do it."

Meet One Poet Who Can Rhyme 'Yeutter'

By Sarah Lyall New York Times Service

NEW YORK — Bitting into a bulky oyster po' boy with plump pieces of oyster overflowing from the side. Calvin Trillin was trying to explain himself, in case anyone at the table was a vegetarian. "Ovsters don't believe in God," he said.

"Everybody knows that." Trillin (his friends call him Bud) sat shoulder-to-shoulder with his wife. Alice. perhaps best known to the public as the title character from "Alice, Let's Eat." the second volume in Trillin's three-part culinary and cultural tour through America.

It was an early April day with inklings of spring. They had left their sunny brownstone in Greenwich Village for a nearby restaurant called Home, where they were tucking into the oyster po' boy (Trillin) and the homemade chicken noodle soup and a salad with goat cheese (Alice, who really can't be thought of by any other name).

The Trillins made it very clear that they are not restaurant critics, no matter what impression has been created from Trillin's three food books (the other two are "American Fried" and "Third Helpings.") "I never wrote restaurant reviews — I always admitted that I don't cook, that I have no knowledge - but it was a way to write jokes about the country." Trillin said. "Or should I say, a way of writing about the country in a jocular manner."

Trillin. 58, still likes to eat. But these days he's relishing his role as a poet who churns out a bit of rhyme every week for The Nation, taking care to emphasize that his job is different from that of the people he calls "grown-up poets," who do it full time and presumably take it seriously. Poetry is just the latest phase of Trillin's long career, which has included hundreds of prose pieces for The New Yorker, hundreds of humor columns for The Nation and 17 books, of which the most recent are "Deadline Poet: My Life as a Doggerelist" a collection of his Nation verse, and "Remembering Denny."

"Remembering Denny." about the boundless promise and then increasingly troubled life of a Yale classmate of Trillin's who committed suicide in 1991, was on The New York Times best-seller list for six weeks last year.

Trillin has been writing since 1963, but his career at The Nation began more than 15 years ago on the day he and his wife. now 56, sat down to lunch with Victor S. Navasky, the editor of The Nation. It was also about that time that Trillin began calling his boss in print "the wily and parsimonious Victor S. Navasky." a description that stuck so effectively that Navasky has been known to say he should

Calvin Trillin, whose career in doggerel was inspired by the name "Sunum." receive royalties from it. Trillin insists that the adjectives were completely appropriate under the circumstances. Parsimonious? Trillin says that Navasky, who initally offered to pay a percolumn fee in the "high two figures" fore grudgingly raising it to $100, has a physical aversion to picking up a check.

"Oh, he was furnbling under the table for his wallet," said Trillin, recalling their lunch at Montana Eve.

Wily? "Here's how clever he is." Trillin said. Here's how shrewd he is. He had just taken over as editor, and he said. 'I have two possible ideas for you. They were the worst ideas. One was like a Bolshevik gardening column — it was the dumbest idea I had ever heard — and I said: 'Victor, that is really stupid. I would never write on that subject, if I wrote the column. If I wrote the column, I would write whatever was on my mind.' He sticks out his hand and says. 'Done.' The whole thing was a trap."

"I love Victor," Alice Trillin said, "We both love him."

"Alice," Trillin said. "is really soft on Old stories like this are likely to have appeared in a different form in one Trillin column or another. He writes about what he does, and talks about what he writes. Introduced 30 years ago at a party given by Navasky, they both work in their procrastination-filled home, she as a producer for children's television. (We work really fast and in spurts," Alice said, to which her husband replied. "That's a nice way of saying that we have short attention

They take each other out to lunch about three times a week. Trillin has a deadpan lugubriousness, a droopy, basset hound face, and eyes that glint slightly when he tells a joke; Alice has a quick laugh and blond hair and a luminous, wry face that evokes a sunnier Glenn Close. She serves as critic, muse, cheerleader. literary interpreter, straight person and buster-of-bub-bles. Trillin serves as ham,

"Deadline Poet" is an account of Trillin's three and a half years of writing weekly poetry for The Nation, a custom that began when he found himself on the subway one day obsessing about John H. Sununu. President George Bush's chief of staff. The name was rich with poetic possibilities. That led to Trillin's sendup of Sununu's elitist erudition; the poem's first line was, "If you knew what Sununu."

More followed, including a poem in which he spectacularly rhymed the name of Ronald Reagan's foreign trade czar, Clayton Yeutter, which few people knew how to pronounce, with "goiter," "greet-er" and "Roto-Rooter" (goiter is the correct rhyme). He also wrote a poem tweaking President George Bush for the way his predicates were often prone/to wander. nounless, off alone."

Trillin was already well known in his family — the couple have two daughters in their 20s — for coming up with festive poetry at celebratory gatherings like holidays, anniversaries and birthday parties. Many people are related to such poets, Trillin said, and they have no choice but to respond positively: "Special-occasion po-etry is always well received by the family."

Both Trillins were enjoying their food very much, particularly dessert: a piece of tangy lemon cake and a portion of chocolate pudding so creamy and so good that a spurt of quiet gluttony ensued. The chef, a friend of the Trillins, wouldn't reveal how to make it, even when Alice went to the kitchen and asked for the recipe.

Everyone at Home knows about the Trillins and food, but the couple feel a bit terrorized by the reputation Trillin's culi-nary books have given them. "People started calling in the middle of dinner and saying 'What's the best place to have coffee in the midtown area" "Mrs. Trillin

Trillin, who now claims that he would walk a mile to avoid writing about food," said that he almost didn't produce the third food book because he so dreaded the book tour, with its endless questions about the relative merits of chili establishments in Cincinnati

"I still hear you on the phone," Alice said, "trying to advise people where to eat. You're much too nice about it."

Trillin said: "In my defense I'd like to say. I've been very rude. In my defense I'd like to say, I've been victous. An ancient pregnant woman called and wanted to know where to take her sister who she hadn't seen in 40 years, and I told her to Alice said. "I did that," said her husband. "Oh, sure," his wife replied.

"You could no sooner do that . . ."

PEOPLE

A Gray-Haired Granny? Liz Taylor, You Say?

"If I ever thought about being 60, I probably envisioned myself as a very graceful, gray-haired little old lady." Elizabeth Taylor, 62, told the syndicated columnist Liz Smith. She also said she made her cameo appearance in "The Flintstones" so she could go to the premicre and because "it was a giggle" and "was just short enough not to be boring."

Rush Limbaugh, 43, the rambunctious radio and TV personality, has married Marta Fitzgerald. 34, an aerobics instructor from Florida Supreme Court Justice Chrence Thomas tied the knot. The couple met when Fitzgerald contacted the conservative Limbaugh to ask how to reply to a Reaganbashing history professor. Among the wedding guests were former Education Secretary William Ben-nett and the political advisers James Carville and Mary Maratin. The bride and groom contrary to some rumors, did not substitute "ditto" for "I do." . . Later in the weekend Matalin and Carville. who have been married six months. were talking up their book, "Love. War & the Art of Politics," set for release in the fall, when Dr. Ruth handed them a sex-advice book. Matalin, looking at Carville: "Honey, we must be projecting."

The romantic novelist Barbara Cartisad, 92, has condemned as "insulting and ghastly" a new novel about a fictional affair between her step-granddaughter, Princess Di-ana, and a Hollywood screenwriter. But the author, Peter Lefcourt, defended his book as "a rather sweet romance."

Fans in Hong Kong's Tsimshat-sui tourist district jammed a street to catch a glimpse of Sylvester Stallone, Bruce Willis, Don Johnson and the kung fu star Jackie Chan at the opening of Asia's first Planet Hollywood restaurant, co-owned by Stallone, Willis and Arnold Schwarzenegger. Stallone arrived in a rickshaw pulled by four wom-

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED Appears on Page 12

WEATHER

Europe

Forecast for Wednesday through Friday, as provided by Accu-Weather.

North America Europe lead to several thunderor Central Europe Wednes-Heavy rams are possible

Asia at the end of the week with showers. A more heavy rain-

High Low C/F C/F 2570 KF 3470 2577 KF 3571 KF 3571 KF 3571 KF 3570 KF 3470 2570 KF 3570 KF 3570

ACROSS 21 Blackmailed 22 Cold stick 1 Cremona 24 Le Sage s 6 Henri's squeeze 25 One way to run 10 Tennis units 26 Instruments to Rostropovich 15 Stadium 29 Economic protests

33 Poet T. S. 34 Trumpeter Al Nod, e.g. 17 Criticaze a (mirage) 36 Highway 19 Smail brock 20 Transgression

Solution to Puzzle of May 30

51 Word with date 54 imitator Little

58 Medicinal plant 59 Kille: whale 60 "Happy

61 Cravines 62 Shade of blue 63 Cup of the 38 Late king of

Abbr. 46 Handed-down

47 Expensive

Nobody" (20's

1 Clumsy boats 3 Ever and -

CROSSWORD 5 Imagination 6 French clergymer

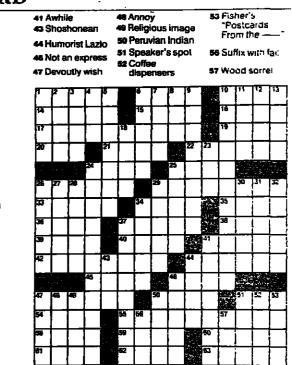

40 Mare's feed 10 How hard 42 Rings loudly 44 Bell's signal can hit? 45 ltineranes

12 Cash drawe 13 Fileted fish 18 "What a pity!" 23 Delivery letters

24 Items used in "light" boxing? 26 Actor Romer 27 "Dallas

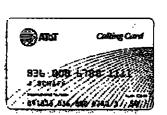

28 Detroit 29 Hues 30 Charles's

> 31 Old name in 34 Call at a coin flip 37 Winnie-the-Pooh receptacle

O New York Times Edited by Will Short.

Travel in a world without borders, time zones or language barriers.

Imagine a world where you can call country to country as easily as you can from home. And reach the U.S. directly from over 125 countries. Converse with someone who doesn't speak your language, since it's translated instantly. Call your clients at 3 a.m. knowing they'll get the message in your voice at a more polite hour. All this is now possible with AT&T!

To use these services, dial the AT&T Access Number of the country you're in and you'll get all the help you need. With these Access Numbers and your AT&T Calling Card, international calling has never been easier.

If you don't have an AT&T Calling Card or you'd like more information on AT&T global services, just call us using the convenient Access Numbers on your right.

AT&T Access Numbers How to call around the world.

To receive your free wallet card of AIRT's Access Numbers, just dial the access number of the country you're in and ask for Customer Service.

Using the chan below find the country you are calling from.

Dial the corresponding AI&T Access Number. An AT&T English-speaking Operator or voice prompt will ask for the phone number you wish to call or connect you to a mer service representative

COUNTRY	ACCESS NUMBER	COUNTRY	ACCESS NUMBI
A	SIA	Italy*	172-10
Australia	1-800-881-011	Liechtenstein*	155-00-
China, PRC	10811	Lithuania	841
Guzattu	018-872	Luxembourg	0-800-01
Hong Kong	800-1111	Macedonia, F.Y.	R. of 99-800-42
India•	000-117	Malta*	0800-890-1
Indonesia•	001-801-10	Monaco*	19₄-00
Japan*	0039-111	Netherlands*	06-022-91
Korea	009-11	Norway	800-190-
Koreana	11*	Poland + 	0±010-i80-01
Malaysia"	800-0011	Portugal*	05017-1-2
New Zeidand	000-911	Romania	01-800-42
Philippines*	105-11	Russia"(Moscow	7) 155-504
Saipan*	235-2872	Slovakia	00-120-0010
Singapore	800-0111-111	Spaine	900-99-00-
Sn Lanka	43(1-430	Sweden*	020-795-61
Taiwan'	0080-10288-0	Switzerland*	155-00-1
Thail.ind•	0019-991-1111	U.K.	0500-89-007
EU	ROPE	Ukraine*	84100-1
Armenia	8414111	MIDD	LE EAST
Austria	022-903-011	Bahrain	800-00
Belgium'	0800-100-10	Cyprus*	080-900
Bulgaria	00-1800-0010	Israel	177-100-277
Croatia*•	99-38-0011	Kuwait	8(0)-2
Czech Rep	00-420-00101	Lebanon (Beirut)) +26-80
Denmark*	8001-0010	Catar	0800-011-
Finland*	9800-100-10	Saudi Arabla	1-8u-
France	19₄-0011	Turkey*	00-800-1227
Germany	0130-0010	UAE*	800-1.
Greece*	00-800-1311	AME	RICAS
Hungary*	00a-800-01111	Argentina	001-800-200-111
(celand*a	999-001	Belizee	5:

ACCESS NUMBER 011 Brazil )-11 00A-0312 980-11-0010)111 Costa Rica* 288 Ecuador* 119 El Salvador Mexico Spriname CARIBBEAN Bermuda^a lamaica* St. Kitts, Nevis 1-9(03-872-2881 Egypt (Cairo) 510-0200 00a-001 Cambia 00111 Kenva 0800-10 Liberia 0-800-1112 South Africa

May not be available from every phon

50 1904 ATM

ا هكذاف اللط

190 165 95-1900-102-12411 77-191 156 00-9-10 84-011-120 1-800-872-2881 1-800-872-2980 1-800-872-3881 1-800-872-2881 001-800-972-3848 0-800-872-288 001-800-872-2881

0-800-99-0123